156-Day Westinghouse Strike Settled

Union Agrees To Five-Year Contract Plan

Longest 'Big' Tieup In Two Decades Had Idled About 55,000

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP)—The hotly fought Westinghouse Electric Corp. strike was settled tonight in its 156th day.

Settlement came with union acceptance of a five-year contract peace plan proposed more than two weeks ago by a government panel.

The walkout, longest major strike in at least two decades, had idled about 55,000 workers for more than five months.

Signing of a formal agreement was expected later tonight or tomorrow morning.

The striking International Union of Electrical Workers reached its decision to accept the settlement terms after nearly 26 hours of closed door conference yesterday and today by the union's negotiating committee and Westinghouse Conference Board.

IUE Issues Statement

A statement issued tonight by the IUE's officers, the Westinghouse Conference Board and the union negotiating committees said, in addition to accepting the settlement plan, that:

"Westinghouse officials must recognize most of all that their strategy of trying to starve us into submission has failed and we emerge from this strike strong, united and determined.

"Now we have an agreement that we can accept. It is our responsibility as leaders to accept it, and utilize our strength to see that its terms are carried out honorably and fairly."

Both Sides Score Victories

The Westinghouse management, however, won the five-year contract it started out to get last October to match a similar agreement given by the same union to General Electric, Westinghouse's principal competitor.

The union came out of the strike with much the same degree of wage increases as it could have gotten some months ago—from 5 to more than 17-cents per hour. The average wage before the strike was $2.10 an hour.

However, the IUE won some bitterly contested guarantees against job changes proposed by the company.

Jump From Record Height Planned

Lt. Henry P. Nielsen (left), who plans to parachute from a balloon 17 or more miles above the earth, and Col. Arthur Henderson, assistant chief of the Air Force Aero Medical Laboratory at Dayton, Ohio, pose in Washington. The unprecedented bailout would take place over the New Mexico desert late next fall. Nielsen, co-holder of the unofficial record of 45,200 feet for high altitude parachute jumps, and one other airman would make a series of jumps. Henderson said the purpose is to develop safe equipment and procedures for bailouts at altitudes up to 90,000 feet. (AP Photofax)

India's Nehru Will Visit U.S. This Summer

Prime Minister, Ike To Discuss World Problems In July

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru of India, a leader of cold war "neutralists," will come to this country in July for wide-ranging talks with President Eisenhower.

The visit, announced today in Washington and New Delhi, will give Eisenhower a personal opportunity to relieve the Indian leader of any doubts he may harbor of the United States' deeply rooted desire for peace.

It also will allow Nehru to discuss his own government's position, which has inspired complaints from some members of Congress that failure to take sides with the free world has in effect been a boon to the Communists.

Second Visit To U.S.

American efforts have been pointed toward bringing India closer to the West.

This will be Nehru's second visit to the United States. In 1949, while a guest of former President Truman, he restated the neutralist policy that still guides India.

The White House said Nehru will arrive July 6 or 7 and remain about four days. His visit will be "informal," the White House said, and include talks with the President covering "matters of mutual interest between the two countries."

Nehru Attacks SEATO

Nehru will come here from a British Commonwealth prime ministers conference in London. Eisenhower has offered the presidential plane, Columbine III, for the trip.

The Prime Minister only today, in a report to India's Parliament, attacked the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization, to which the United States belongs. He also denounced the Middle Eastern Baghdad Pact, which this country supports as a nonmember.

The two governments have their differences. India recognizes the Communist regime in China and supports it for membership in the United Nations. India also has expressed alarm over U. S. arms aid to Pakistan.

Ike Thinks Sections Of Senate Farm Bill Are "Unworkable"

SE[illegible] OFFICES—Edmund F. Makowski (above), East Chicago, Ind., oil company employe, has filed as candidate for Democratic primary nominations for 11 offices, from congressman to coroner of Lake County. Indiana Atty. Gen. Edwin K. Steers said there is no law to prevent Makowski from making a mass assault on the May 8 primary, but he'd have to settle for one office in the Nov. 6 election. President Voices Hope Conference Improves Measure

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP)—Sen. Bridges (R-NH) reported today President Eisenhower thinks some sections of the Senate farm bill are "unworkable" and others "unsound."

Bridges, chairman of the Republican Policy Committee in the Senate, added that at a long White House conference Eisenhower clearly indicated he was "not enthusiastic" about the legislation passed by the Senate last night.

Bridges told reporters that GOP leaders spent more than an hour going over the patchwork bill with the President. While Eisenhower expressed dissatisfaction with it, and a hope that it could be improved in conference with the House, he did not discuss the possibility of a veto, the senator said.

The Senate's majority leader, Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, was in a more cheerful frame of mind about the job the Senate did for the farmers.

House Group To Call Benson

"The Senate ignored the threats of a veto and the intimidation of Benson (secretary of agriculture) and voted to give the farmer more income," Johnson said. "I believe the conference can improve the bill as it was passed by the Senate.

"We will do everything we can to give the farmers more income this year."

In an unusual move, Rep. Cooley (D-NC), chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, plans to call Benson before his committee for questioning before appointing the House conferees.

"Some of Mr. Benson's chickens are coming home to roost," Cooley said without elaboration.

"Complex" Measure

He said he was trying to move as quickly as possible, "but this is a complex and controversial bill." Benson will be asked to sit down with the committee Thursday, if he is free, or next Tuesday.

Cooley said he hoped to appoint the conferees next week. He will head the delegation, and other members are expected to be Reps. Hope (R-Kan), Andersen (R-Minn), Poage (D-Tex) and Grant (D-Ala).

The Senate bill would give the farmers billions of dollars in additional benefits this year without a return to the 90 per cent of parity system the administration opposes. But it contains several key programs the Republicans dislike.

Adlai Facing Major Defeat In Vote Test

Underdog Senator Seen Winning All Delegates At Large

MINNEAPOLIS, March 20 (AP)—Republicans and disgruntled Democrats propelled Sen. Estes Kefauver tonight in the direction of an upset victory over Adlai E. Stevenson in the Minnesota Democratic presidential primary.

The underdog Tennessee senator shot out in front in first returns, held his lead, then built it up as the tally rolled in.

A Stevenson backer, Democratic National Committeeman Gerald Heaney, said Kefauver seemed to be taking the state as a whole.

"It appears to me," he said in a statement, "that Sen. Kefauver will win all the delegates at large."

No Real GOP Contest

Throughout the state, generally, the Democratic vote total was topping that of the GOP. Of course the Republicans had no real contest with President Eisenhower on the ballot. So was Sen. William F. Knowland of California, but not as an all-out competitor.

Returns from 2,292 of 3,868 precincts showed:

DEMOCRATIC — Kefauver 168,880; Stevenson 118,811 for 12 at-large delegate votes.

Kefauver leading in 7 districts for 14 delegate votes. Stevenson leading in 2 districts for 4 delegate votes.

REPUBLICAN — Eisenhower 131,698; Knowland 2,176 for 10-at-large delegate votes.

Eisenhower leading in 9 districts for 18 delegate votes.

50,000-Vote Lead

Kefauver was heading toward raking in 14 of the 18 votes from congressional district delegates at the Democratic National Convention next summer as well as all 12 votes at large.

He had boosted his lead from 21,000 with 1,124 precincts reported, to 33,000 from 1,629 precincts, and on up to a towering 50,000 that represented approximately a 7-5 edge.

Heaney found comfort in the big turnout of votes on the Democratic side.

"It indicates," he said, "one of two things: that the people of the state are completely dissatisfied with the Eisenhower administration or that the Republicans crossed over into the Democratic party in wholesale lots to defeat the candidate they thought would be the strongest in November.

"Irrespective of how or why he got the votes, it will certainly give Sen. Kefauver a good shot in the arm."

U.S. Asks Early U.N. Meeting On Mideast Crisis

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., March 20 (AP)—The United States brought to the U. N. tonight President Eisenhower's request for urgent and early action on Palestine.

The U. S. delegation asked that the Security Council meet here as soon as possible and consider the border crises involving Israel and the Arab states of Egypt, Jordan, Syria and Lebanon.

The 11-nation Council was expected to meet late this week or early next week.

Hammarskjold Mission?

A possibility, was seen that the Council might ask Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold to fly back to the Middle East on a peace mission.

Hammarskjold recently returned from a trip there encouraged by talks with Arab and Israeli leaders. But Israel, Syria, Egypt and Jordan have all been involved in an increasing number of border incidents since then.

President Eisenhower was asked about the situation at his March 7 news conference. He spoke of a need for urgent and early action in the U. N. Britain, France and the United States have been conferring regularly here in recent weeks on what the U. N. should do.

Lodge Requests Meeting

U. S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. requested the Council meeting in a letter that reported evidence of a buildup of armed forces on Arab-Israeli borders and said shooting incidents were "recurring at a dangerous rate."

He addressed the letter to Sir Pierson Dixon of Britain, president of the Council this month.

Judge, Ex-Boxer, Chases Speeder But Gets Floored

DETROIT, March 20 (AP)—Municipal Judge Arthur S. Decker of suburban Wyandotte, a former professional boxer, was floored today by a speeding motorist he had chased.

Decker, 49, claimed he could have won if it had been a "fair fight."

But the judge, at 5-5 and 148 pounds, lost the bout to Dale G. McElhinney, 24, who stands 6 feet and weighs 175.

Decker said McElhinney passed him going 60 and the judge chased him to a post office where he attempted to make an arrest. But, said Decker, McElhinney swore, knocked him down and kicked him in the face.

But Decker did get the license number and McElhinney was nabbed several blocks away. He faces assault and battery charges.

Anti-Boycotters Tell Of Threats At Minister Trial

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 20 (AP)—State's attorneys sought to show today that Negroes have been threatened for riding buses during the segregation boycott in Montgomery, but only part of the testimony along that line was allowed.

Circuit Judge Eugene Carter, presiding at the trial of Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., one of 90 Negroes indicted on boycotting charges, threw out the entire testimony of one Negro witness who said his life had been threatened.

But the judge permitted two other Negroes to testify about threats they said they received.

State Nears End Of Case

At the same time, defense attorneys brought from one prosecution witness a statement that Negro ministers he had heard speak at mass meetings during the boycott had made a point of appealing to their race to shun violence. That witness was Joe Azbell, city editor of the Montgomery Advertiser.

The hearing recessed until 9 a.m. tomorrow. The state indicated it may finish presenting its case then.

Azbell told the court that a decision was made at a mass meeting the night of Dec. 5 to continue the bus boycott which originally had been scheduled for that one day.

He quoted King as telling the mass meeting that the Negro race wouldn't "retreat one inch in our campaign to win our democratic rights."

Bus Drivers Testify

The state in two days of testimony has attempted to link King to what the prosecution calls a conspiracy to boycott the racially segregated Montgomery City Lines buses.

Despite defense objections, prosecution also got into the record testimony today from seven bus drivers about incidents of violence against the bus line early in the boycott. Five buses were fired on in Negro sections of Montgomery and two others were struck by bricks or similar missiles.

Flareup Marks Electoral Debate

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP)—A flareup between Sens. Douglas (D-Ill) and Daniel (D-Tex) marked Senate debate today on a proposed constitutional amendment to change the electoral college system for the election of presidents and vice presidents.

The flurry ended after Douglas challenged Daniel to work for "universal suffrage" in Texas and the Senate's presiding officer intervened to get the debate back on the original subject.

Douglas opposed a change from the present system under which each state has an elector for each of its Senate and House members. A presidential ticket which carries a state gets all of that state's electoral votes.

Daniel argued for a proposed amendment which would give the states two choices in casting their votes for president and vice president.

Under one, a state would use the proportionate - to - popular - vote method of dividing its electoral votes for rival candidates. Under the second choice, the states could provide for a vote on electors just as they do on senators and representatives, electing two electors by statewide vote, the others by congressional districts.

House Endorses Money Measure

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP)—The House today tentatively approved a $795,768,823 catch-all appropriation bill including new funds for polio vaccinations and financing of a man-made earth satellite.

The lawmakers shouted approval of the supplemental measure but deferred a formal roll-call vote on passage until tomorrow.

The action at least tacitly endorsed the recommendation of the House Appropriations Committee that the Tennessee Valley Authority be allowed to use 3½ million dollars of its own funds to start building a new generating unit at the John Sevier steam plant.

No funds were included for the TVA. The committee, in rejecting a request for new cash, stipulated that the agency use its own revenues for the project. Republican committee members had opposed the stipulation on the ground that the law prohibits use of TVA revenues for new projects.

Slide Buries House

ORTONA, Italy, March 20 (AP)—A great landslide of clay, after a spring thaw, buried a farmhouse today and blocked a main east-west highway. No one was injured.

Last Rites Held For Fred Allen

NEW YORK, March 20 (AP)—Twelve hundred persons crowded the "Actor's Chapel" today and 700 more stood outside in the snow as last rites were held for humorist Fred Allen.

Notables from many sections of the entertainment world were among the mourners.

A high requiem Mass was sung by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. James B. O'Reilly, pastor of St. Malachy's Roman Catholic Church. Allen died of a heart attack Saturday midnight at the age of 61.

Seated in the sanctuary were Msgr. Vincent Brosnan, chaplain of the Catholic Actors' Guild, and the Rev. Patrick Gallagher, pastor of a Staten Island church. There were no eulogies, but there was a prayer that Allen would "attain eternal rest and happiness."

Allen's widow, Portland Hoffa, who appeared with him in radio for many years, was escorted at the funeral by Jack Haley, comedian.

Because of yesterday's snow storm, Allen's burial had to be postponed. He will be buried later in the Gate of Heaven Cemetery in Westchester County.

Gov. Knight Refuses To Endorse Nixon

SACRAMENTO, Calif., March 20 (AP)—Gov. Goodwin J. Knight refused point blank today to endorse Vice President Nixon for re-election.

The Republican governor, maintaining his consistent reserve against Nixon, was asked at a news conference whether he would endorse the vice president for the 1956 ticket.

"No," he replied, "not until the President does."

Did he consider the California delegation to the Republican national convention an Eisenhower-Nixon slate?

"No, it's not," he said. "It's an Eisenhower slate."

Bright Sun Aids Northeast's Vast "Operation Dig"

[By The Associated Press]

The new season came a day earlier than usual, on the 20th, because of the Leap Year. But it was not early enough to forestall winter's last legacy, a double-barrelled weekend blizzard.

The price of the storms that smashed across the country from Ohio to Maine on Friday and on Sunday-Monday was 162 lives and hundreds of millions in lost business, interrupted payrolls and other costs.

The New York City business loss alone was estimated at 150 millions, and the cost of snow removal was put at 2½ million dollars more.

In little Rhode Island workers stood to lose three to four million dollars on their payroll.

Heavy equipment attacked mountainous drifts. And slowly life resumed its everyday routines.

Traffic moved again as driveways, side streets, country roads and main arteries emerged from their white blanket.

Trains and airplanes shook off blizzard-inspired inertia.

Here and there localities that had imposed states of emergency lifted them. Schools prepared to reopen today.

And there was a vague threat that thaws would bring floods.

Senate Bill "Bad," Farm Leader Says

CHICAGO, March 20 (AP)—Charles B. Shuman, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, said today the omnibus farm measure adopted Monday by the Senate is "a bad bill."

"This bill abandons any semblance of sound, economic principles for the illusion of political gain," Shuman said. His statement termed the bill a "product of political log-rolling at the expense of the American farmer and the general public."

Bad features of the bill, he said, included the set-aside provisions which would force higher support levels for corn, wheat and cotton, and adoption of the dual parity basis for fixing support prices.

Cypriot Turks Stone And Loot Greeks' Shops

NICOSIA, Cyprus, March 20 (AP)—Hundreds of young Turkish Cypriots stoned and looted Greek Cypriot shops here today in reprisal for anti-Turkish rioting at the village of Vasilia.

They battled police and troops who tried to intervene and shook off the effects of round after round of tear gas fired at them during a three-hour demonstration. They finally heeded an appeal of Dr. Fazil Kucuk, leader of the island's Turkish minority, and dispersed.

The fighting centered in Ataturk Square, named after Kamal Ataturk, founder of modern Turkey. The neighborhood is predominately Turkish. The narrow streets were littered with broken glass, wrecked furniture, scattered books and papers and telephones and fans torn from their fittings.

Despite the fierceness of the attacks, the only known serious casualty was a Greek Cypriot news photographer. He was beaten when he tried to take pictures.

Finless Rocket To Deliver Earth Satellite Into Space

BALTIMORE, March 20 (AP)—The public got its first description today of the rocket expected to roar into space and give the earth its first man-made moon. It's a skinny missile—without fins—and appears no more imposing than a huge rifle cartridge.

The Martin Co. said its history-making Vanguard will be the "first liquid fuel rocket designed to be controlled without the use of fins." The joint Martin--U.S. Navy announcement termed the innovation "a scientific break - through by Martin engineers."

The absence of fins provides for further weight saving—a highly important factor in rocketry at its present stage of development, Martin engineers said. The lighter the rocket vehicle, the more weight they can assign to precious instruments and other equipment in the payload—the satellite, itself.

The weight of the tiny moon to be delivered into space by the Vanguard has not yet been fixed. Estimates have ranged from 20 to 50 pounds.

Martin Co.'s finless rocket will be guided by the power plant which is to be installed on a gimbal or semi-pivot, making possible directional changes in the stream of power surging from the rocket's stern.

Through controlled tilting of the engine, stability and direction guidance will be achieved.

The first stage of the Vanguard will be about 45 feet in length. Both the first and second stages will use liquid propellants.

The second stage fits just above the bottom—or first—and encases completely the third stage. The third will use a solid propellant because of the simplicity of its design.

Six Killed In Crash Of Train And Auto

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 20 (AP)—All six occupants of an auto were killed today when the car and a Seaboard Airline freight train collided.

The dead: James Ruben Moore, 20, the driver; his wife, Reba Jean, 18; his mother, Mrs. Jessie M. Moore, 55; Rachel Elizabeth Pelham, 46; Mattie Shirey, 64; and her daughter-in-law, Sarah Shirey, 18.

All were Auburndale residents on the way to work at a citrus canning plant.

Italy Could Rejoice If 28th Oscar Race True To Form

HOLLYWOOD, March 20 (AP)—There could be rejoicing in Italy tomorrow night if the 28th annual Oscar race runs true to form. Here are the favorites:

Ernest Borgnine is an American born son of Italian parents.

"Marty," a film of life among Italian-Americans in New York.

To make it a clean sweep, the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences could vote as supporting players winners Marisa Pavan, born and reared in Italy, and Sal Mineo, whose parents were Italian. However, these youngsters are not considered favorites.

It's still a wide-open race for Hollywood's top prize, despite the threat of an Italian sweep. Miss Magnani, the fiery widow of "The Rose Tattoo," is by no means a cinch. Susan Hayward has strong support for her role as Lillian Roth in "I'll Cry Tomorrow."

There are also those plugging for the other female star contenders: Katharine Hepburn ("Summertime"), Eleanor Parker ("Interrupted Melody") and Jennifer Jones ("Love Is A Many-Splendored Thing.")

Nor is Borgnine a shoo-in. His "Marty" faces a sentimental vote for the late James Dean of "East of Eden." And there is a lot of feeling here for the masterful work of James Cagney in "Love Me Or Leave Me." Also nominated are another Italiano, Frank Sinatra ("The Man With The Golden Arm"), and Spencer Tracy ("Bad Day At Black Rock.")

Pictures nominated besides "Marty" are "Mister Roberts," "The Rose Tattoo," "Love Is A Many-Splendored Thing" and "Picnic."

Fire Levels Japanese City; 6,000 Homeless

TOKYO, Wednesday, March 21 (AP)—Wind-fanned flames today destroyed the city of Noshiro, in northern Honshu. The fire started in a restaurant in the heart of the city and wiped out 1,480 houses and left 6,000 persons homeless. No casualties were reported.

Today's Chuckle

Did you hear about the ram who committed suicide? He heard Frank Sinatra sing "There'll Never Be Another You."

Heaney found comfort in the big turnout of votes on the Democratic side.

"It indicates," he said, "one of two things: that the people of the state are completely dissatisfied with the Eisenhower administration or that the Republicans crossed over into the Democratic party in wholesale lots to defeat the candidate they thought would be the strongest in November.

"Irrespective of how or why he got the votes, it will certainly give Sen. Kefauver a good shot in the arm."

U.S. Asks Early U.N. Meeting On Mideast Crisis

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., March 20 (AP)—The United States brought to the U. N. tonight President Eisenhower's request for urgent and early action on Palestine.

The U. S. delegation asked that the Security Council meet here as soon as possible and consider the border crises involving Israel and the Arab states of Egypt, Jordan, Syria and Lebanon.

The 11-nation Council was expected to meet late this week or early next week.

Hammarskjold Mission?

A possibility was seen that the Council might ask Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold to fly back to the Middle East on a peace mission.

Hammarskjold recently returned from a trip there encouraged by talks with Arab and Israeli leaders. But Israel, Syria, Egypt and Jordan have all been involved in an increasing number of border incidents since then.

President Eisenhower was asked about the situation at his March 7 news conference. He spoke of a need for urgent and early action in the U. N. Britain, France and the United States have been conferring regularly here in recent weeks on what the U. N. should do.

Lodge Requests Meeting

U. S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. requested the Council meeting in a letter that reported evidence of a buildup of armed forces on Arab-Israeli borders and said shooting incidents were "recurring at a dangerous rate."

He addressed the letter to Sir Pierson Dixon of Britain, president of the Council this month.

Judge, Ex-Boxer, Chases Speeder But Gets Floored

DETROIT, March 20 (AP)—Municipal Judge Arthur S. Decker of suburban Wyandotte, a former professional boxer, was floored today by a speeding motorist he had chased.

Decker, 49, claimed he could have won if it had been a "fair fight."

But the judge, at 5-5 and 148 pounds, lost the bout to Dale G. McElhinney, 24, who stands 6 feet and weighs 175.

Decker said McElhinney passed him going 60 and the judge chased him to a post office where he attempted to make an arrest. But, said Decker, McElhinney swore, knocked him down and kicked him in the face.

But Decker did get the license number and McElhinney was nabbed several blocks away. He faces assault and battery charges.

Anti-Boycotters Tell Of Threats At Minister Trial

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 20 (AP)—State's attorneys sought to show today that Negroes have been threatened for riding buses during the segregation boycott in Montgomery, but only part of the testimony along that line was allowed.

Circuit Judge Eugene Carter, presiding at the trial of Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., one of 90 Negroes indicted on boycotting charges, threw out the entire testimony of one Negro witness who said his life had been threatened.

But the judge permitted two other Negroes to testify about threats they said they received.

State Nears End Of Case

At the same time, defense attorneys brought from one prosecution witness a statement that Negro ministers he had heard speak at mass meetings during the boycott had made a point of appealing to their race to shun violence. That witness was Joe Azbell, city editor of the Montgomery Advertiser.

The hearing recessed until 9 a.m. tomorrow. The state indicated it may finish presenting its case then.

Azbell told the court that a decision was made at a mass meeting the night of Dec. 5 to continue the bus boycott which originally had been scheduled for that one day.

He quoted King as telling the mass meeting that the Negro race wouldn't "retreat one inch in our campaign to win our democratic rights."

Bus Drivers Testify

The state in two days of testimony has attempted to link King to what the prosecution calls a conspiracy to boycott the racially segregated Montgomery City Lines buses.

Despite defense objections, prosecution also got into the record testimony today from seven bus drivers about incidents of violence against the bus line early in the boycott. Five buses were fired on in Negro sections of Montgomery and two others were struck by bricks or similar missiles.

House Endorses Money Measure

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP) — The House today tentatively approved a $795,768,823 catch-all appropriation bill including new funds for polio vaccinations and financing of a man-made earth satellite.

The lawmakers shouted approval of the supplemental measure but deferred a formal roll-call vote on passage until tomorrow.

The action at least tacitly endorsed the recommendation of the House Appropriations Committee that the Tennessee Valley Authority be allowed to use 3½ million dollars of its own funds to start building a new generating unit at the John Sevier steam plant.

No funds were included for the TVA. The committee, in rejecting a request for new cash, stipulated that the agency use its own revenues for the project. Republican committee members had opposed the stipulation on the ground that the law prohibits use of TVA revenues for new projects.

Last Rites Held For Fred Allen

NEW YORK, March 20 (AP) — Twelve hundred persons crowded the "Actor's Chapel" today and 700 more stood outside in the snow as last rites were held for humorist Fred Allen.

Notables from many sections of the entertainment world were among the mourners.

A high requiem Mass was sung by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. James B. O'Reilly, pastor of St. Malachy's Roman Catholic Church. Allen died of a heart attack Saturday midnight at the age of 61.

Seated in the sanctuary were Msgr. Vincent Brosnan, chaplain of the Catholic Actors' Guild, and the Rev. Patrick Gallagher, pastor of a Staten Island church. There were no eulogies, but there was a prayer that Allen would "attain eternal rest and happiness."

Allen's widow, Portland Hoffa, who appeared with him in radio for many years, was escorted at the funeral by Jack Haley, comedian.

Because of yesterday's snow storm, Allen's burial had to be postponed. He will be buried later in the Gate of Heaven Cemetery in Westchester County.

Gov. Knight Refuses To Endorse Nixon

SACRAMENTO, Calif., March 20 (AP)—Gov. Goodwin J. Knight refused point blank today to endorse Vice President Nixon for re-election.

The Republican governor, maintaining his consistent reserve against Nixon, was asked at a news conference whether he would endorse the vice president for the 1956 ticket.

"No," he replied, "not until the President does."

Did he consider the California delegation to the Republican national convention an Eisenhower-Nixon slate?

"No, it's not," he said. "It's an Eisenhower slate."

Bright Sun Aids Northeast's Vast "Operation Dig"

[By The Associated Press]

The new season came a day earlier than usual, on the 20th, because of the Leap Year. But it was not early enough to forestall winter's last legacy, a double-barrelled weekend blizzard.

The price of the storms that smashed across the country from Ohio to Maine on Friday and on Sunday-Monday was 162 lives and hundreds of millions in lost business, interrupted payrolls and other costs.

The New York City business loss alone was estimated at 150 millions, and the cost of snow removal was put at 2½ million dollars more.

In little Rhode Island workers stood to lose three to four million dollars on their payroll.

Heavy equipment attacked mountainous drifts. And slowly life resumed its everyday routines.

Trains and airplanes shook off blizzard-inspired inertia.

Here and there localities that had imposed states of emergency lifted them. Schools prepared to reopen today.

And there was a vague threat that thaws would bring floods.

Senate Bill "Bad," Farm Leader Says

CHICAGO, March 20 (AP)—Charles B. Shuman, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, said today the omnibus farm measure adopted Monday by the Senate is "a bad bill."

"This bill abandons any semblance of sound, economic principles for the illusion of political gain," Shuman said. His statement termed the bill a "product of political log-rolling at the expense of the American farmer and the general public."

Bad features of the bill, he said, included the set-aside provisions which would force higher support levels for corn, wheat and cotton, and adoption of the dual parity basis for fixing support prices.

Flareup Marks Electoral Debate

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP)—A flareup between Sens. Douglas (D-Ill) and Daniel (D-Tex) marked Senate debate today on a proposed constitutional amendment to change the electoral college system for the election of presidents and vice presidents.

The flurry ended after Douglas challenged Daniel to work for "universal suffrage" in Texas and the Senate's presiding officer intervened to get the debate back on the original subject.

Douglas opposed a change from the present system under which each state has an elector for each of its Senate and House members. A presidential ticket which carries a state gets all of that state's electoral votes.

Daniel argued for a proposed amendment which would give the states two choices in casting their votes for president and vice president.

Under one, a state would use the proportionate - to - popular - vote method of dividing its electoral votes for rival candidates. Under the second choice, the states could provide for a vote on electors just as they do on senators and representatives, electing two electors by statewide vote, the others by congressional districts.

Slide Buries House

Finless Rocket To Deliver Earth Satellite Into Space

BALTIMORE, March 20 (AP)—The public got its first description today of the rocket expected to roar into space and give the earth its first man-made moon. It's a skinny missile—without fins—and appears no more imposing than a huge rifle cartridge.

The Martin Co. said its history-making Vanguard will be the "first liquid fuel rocket designed to be controlled without the use of fins." The joint Martin--U.S. Navy announcement termed the innovation "a scientific break - through by Martin engineers."

The absence of fins provides for further weight saving—a highly important factor in rocketry at its present stage of development, Martin engineers said. The lighter the rocket vehicle, the more weight they can assign to precious instruments and other equipment in the payload—the satellite, itself.

The weight of the tiny moon to be delivered into space by the Vanguard has not yet been fixed. Estimates have ranged from 20 to 50 pounds.

Martin Co.'s finless rocket will be guided by the power plant which is to be installed on a gimbal or semi-pivot, making possible directional changes in the stream of power surging from the rocket's stern.

Through controlled tilting of the engine, stability and direction guidance will be achieved.

The first stage of the Vanguard will be about 45 feet in length. Both the first and second stages will use liquid propellants.

The second stage fits just above the bottom—or first—and encases completely the third stage. The third will use a solid propellant because of the simplicity of its design.

Six Killed In Crash Of Train And Auto

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 20 (AP)—All six occupants of an auto were killed today when the car and a Seaboard Airline freight train collided.

The dead: James Ruben Moore, 20, the driver; his wife, Reba Jean, 18; his mother, Mrs. Jessie M. Moore, 55; Rachel Elizabeth Pelham, 46; Mattie Shirey, 64; and her daughter-in-law, Sarah Shirey, 18.

Italy Could Rejoice If 28th Oscar Race True To Form

HOLLYWOOD, March 20 (AP) — There could be rejoicing in Italy tomorrow night if the 28th annual Oscar race runs true to form. Here are the favorites:

Anna Magnani, the volcanic Italian film actress.

Ernest Borgnine is an American born son of Italian parents.

"Marty," a film of life among Italian-Americans in New York.

To make it a clean sweep, the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences could vote as supporting players winners Marisa Pavan, born and reared in Italy, and Sal Mineo, whose parents were Italian. However, these youngsters are not considered favorites.

It's still a wide-open race for Hollywood's top prize, despite the threat of an Italian sweep. Miss Magnani, the fiery widow of "The Rose Tattoo," is by no means a cinch. Susan Hayward has strong support for her role as Lillian Roth in "I'll Cry Tomorrow."

There are also those plugging for the other female star contenders: Katharine Hepburn ("Summertime"), Eleanor Parker ("Interrupted Melody") and Jennifer Jones ("Love Is A Many-Splendored Thing.")

Nor is Borgnine a shoo-in. His "Marty" faces a sentimental vote for the late James Dean of "East of Eden." And there is a lot of feeling here for the masterful work of James Cagney in "Love Me Or Leave Me." Also nominated are another Italiano, Frank Sinatra ("The Man With The Golden Arm"), and Spencer Tracy ("Bad Day At Black Rock.")

Pictures nominated besides "Marty" are "Mister Roberts," "The Rose Tattoo," "Love Is A Many-Splendored Thing" and "Picnic."

Cypriot Turks Stone And Loot Greeks' Shops

NICOSIA, Cyprus, March 20 (AP)—Hundreds of young Turkish Cypriots stoned and looted Greek Cypriot shops here today in reprisal for anti-Turkish rioting at the village of Vasilia.

They battled police and troops who tried to intervene and shook off the effects of round after round of tear gas fired at them during a three-hour demonstration. They finally heeded an appeal of Dr. Fazil Kucuk, leader of the island's Turkish minority, and dispersed.

The fighting centered in Ataturk Square, named after Kamal Ataturk, founder of modern Turkey. The neighborhood is predominately Turkish. The narrow streets were littered with broken glass, wrecked furniture, scattered books and papers and telephones and fans torn from their fittings.

Despite the fierceness of the attacks, the only known serious casualty was a Greek Cypriot news photographer. He was beaten when he tried to take pictures.

Fire Levels Japanese City; 6,000 Homeless

TOKYO, Wednesday, March 21 (AP)—Wind-fanned flames today destroyed the city of Noshiro, in northern Honshu. The fire started in a restaurant in the heart of the city and wiped out 1,480 houses and left 6,000 persons homeless. No casualties were reported.

Hoover, ICA Chief Term Ike's Aid Plan "Vital" To Security

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP) — High administration officials went to Congress today to declare that President Eisenhower's embattled foreign aid program is "vital" to free world security.

They said underdeveloped countries are in danger of succumbing to Soviet offers of economic assistance. They called the President's program "the best answer" to Russia's new tactics of enticement.

Acting Secretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr. and John B. Hollister, head of the International Cooperation Administration, argued before the House Foreign Affairs committee in behalf of the program Eisenhower outlined in a special message yesterday.

The President asked Congress to appropriate nearly $4,900,000,000 for military and economic aid abroad. This would be some $2,200,000,000 more than was allotted last year.

Hoover emphasized that the administration intends to continue about the same rate of spending, while putting about two billions into a fiscal pipeline to provide needed military items in the future.

Secretary of State Dulles will be called for testimony some time after he returns tomorrow from a tour of the Middle and Far East. Meanwhile, Hoover and Hollister attempted to answer objections from many in Congress to the sharp increase sought in funds and the administration's request for authority to make long-range commitments.

Eisenhower asked for power to spend up to a billion dollars over the next 10 years to help underdeveloped countries with long-range economic projects.

A new protest came today from Rep. Passman (D-La), who heads an appropriations committee handling foreign aid requests. He said the aid program could continue for more than three years at its present rate without another dollar from Congress. He said the proposed authority to make commitments 10 years in advance "approached the fantastic."

Envoy Says U.S. Backing France In North Africa

PARIS, March 20 (AP) — The United States today gave its full support to France in her search for a "liberal and equitable" solution of the Alberian rebellion and other North African problems.

Ambassador C. Douglas Dillon, breaking a long American silence in the face of widespread French criticism, announced Washington's position in a speech to the French Diplomatic Press Assn. He made clear he was speaking for the entire Eisenhower administration.

Obviously to impress the Arab world, Dillon repeatedly confined American support to "liberal" French policies. He employed this adjective several times in describing the kind of policy the U.S. supports in Algeria, Tunisia and Morocco.

In Washington, U.S. State Department spokesman Lincoln White said the purpose of Dillon's speech was "to clarify any misconceptions regarding U.S. policy toward France's presence in North Africa. It does not represent a new U.S. policy."

While Dillon was speaking, Algiers was patrolled by armed vehicles and riot police guarded its port as fresh troops disembarked. More troops pulled out of Germany to reinforce the battle against nationalist rebels were being flown in. There were signs that Resident Minister Robert Lacoste had opened his all-out drive to suppress armed revolt against French rule.

In his speech, Dillon declared the elections in Algeria which Mollet has promised cannot be held while disorders continue there.

China Red Warships Shell Matsu Isles

TAIPEI, Formosa, Wednesday, March 21 (AP)—Chinese Communist warships made their first attack on the offshore Matsus Islands last night, but apparently were not intending an invasion, the official Chinese Nationalist Central News Agency said today.

The attack by five large gunboats on the Nationalist-held islands, in which the warships fired 114 shells, seemed to be a test of their defenses, the report said. Red artillery on the mainland of China fired 13 shells at Kaoteng, most vulnerable of the islands, during the naval attack, it added. Kaoteng, only 4½ miles from the coast, is considered most likely to be the first target of Communist invasion of the offshore islands.

The gunboats fled when the Nationalist defense positions returned their fire, the dispatch said.

Grace Kelly Film Cancelled In Nice

NICE, France, March 20 (AP)—The weight of Prince Rainier's displeasure spread outside the boundaries of his Monaco realm today. A Nice showing of the movie "High Society" starring his fiancee, Grace Kelly, was cancelled for fear of offending him.

Miss Kelly's pictures have not been screened in Monaco—10 miles from this Riviera resort city—since the Prince's household hinted strongly he would not like it.

Word leaked out earlier today that the new movie would open in Nice with a gala performance costing 5,000 francs ($14) a ticket. But a movie company representative tonight said the project had been cancelled.

"Arms Broker" Is Fined $600

BALTIMORE, March 20 (AP)—A self-styled arms broker whose advertising slogan was "Implements of War Our Specialty," admitted in Federal Court today he never has made a big deal and is broke.

William Henry Evans Jr. of Edgewater, 32-year-old president of the Phoenix International Co. of College Park, was fined $600 and costs after pleading guilty to possessing two machine guns which had not been registered with the government.

Evans said he was embarrassed at having to tell the judge how the guns, a .30-caliber Browning machine gun and a German machine pistol was discovered in the basement of his Silver Spring apartment last November.

He said he was too broke to pay the rent and the sheriff discovered the weapons when he came to evict him.

A graduate of the Naval Academy, Evans told the judge a long story of why he did not have the $400 needed to register the two guns which he said he used as demonstration models.

He found it hard to find a job after the Korean War because, he said, he had been discharged from the Navy for "intemperate criticism" of the conduct of the war while serving in the Navy in Korea.

After his discharge, Evans said he got into the arms-selling business, but a big deal with the Arabs or the Jews never came through.

ODM Plans Machine Tool "Ghost Orders"

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP) — The Office of Defense Mobilization (ODM) announced today it will place 21 million dollars worth of "ghost orders" with machine tool builders, the orders to become effective only in event of mobilization.

The earmarked money will finance the production of general purpose tools in the first six months following a future M-day.

The purpose, ODM said, is to assure that plant capacity would be used immediately. A list of tools to be included in the program is being developed by the Commerce Department, ODM said.

Ike May Vacation In Wisconsin, Not Denver

DENVER, March 20 (AP)—Denver friends of President Eisenhower discussed today a report that he might spend his summer vacation this year in Wisconsin, rather than return to Denver.

The President has vacationed here for the past four summers and had been here more than a month when he suffered his heart attack last Sept. 24.

Maj. Gen. John T. Sprague, commander of Lowry Air Force Base, site of the summer White House, said "I am certainly planning on it," in referring to the possibility the President will come back here.

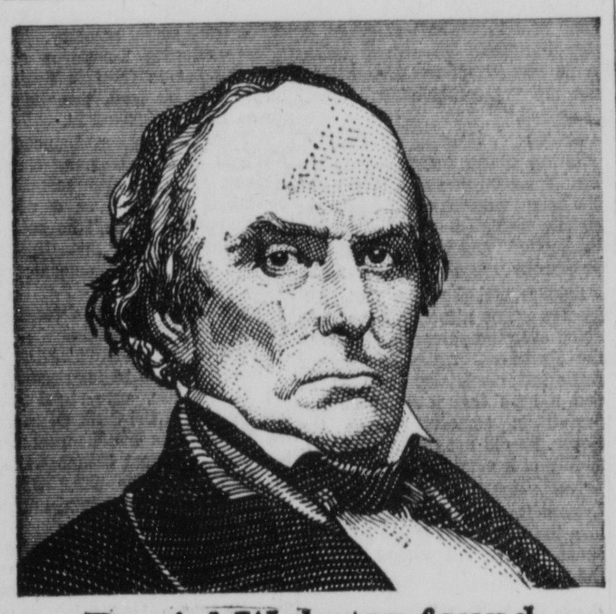

"There is no reason to believe the President won't come here this year," Sprague told a reporter. "I know he will if he can, because he loves it so."

The report that the President might vacation in Wisconsin, where he and his brothers did some fishing several years ago, came from an unnamed Washington source, the Denver Post said.

ODM Plans Machine Tool "Ghost Orders"

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP) — The Office of Defense Mobilization (ODM) announced today it will place 21 million dollars worth of "ghost orders" with machine tool builders, the orders to become effective only in event of mobilization.

The earmarked money will finance the production of general purpose tools in the first six months following a future M-day.

The purpose, ODM said, is to assure that plant capacity would be used immediately. A list of tools to be included in the program is being developed by the Commerce Department, ODM said.

Ike May Vacation In Wisconsin, Not Denver

DENVER, March 20 (AP)—Denver friends of President Eisenhower discussed today a report that he might spend his summer vacation this year in Wisconsin, rather than return to Denver.

The President has vacationed here for the past four summers and had been here more than a month when he suffered his heart attack last Sept. 24.

Maj. Gen. John T. Sprague, commander of Lowry Air Force Base, site of the summer White House, said "I am certainly planning on it," in referring to the possibility the President will come back here.

"There is no reason to believe the President won't come here this year," Sprague told a reporter. "I know he will if he can, because he loves it so."

The report that the President might vacation in Wisconsin, where he and his brothers did some fishing several years ago, came from an unnamed Washington source, the Denver Post said.

Ohio Betting On By How Much - Not If - Ike Carries State

By JACK BELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio, March 20 (AP) Pivotal Ohio is warming up these early spring days to a presidential campaign in which the betting centers on how emphatically—not whether — President Eisenhower carries the state in November.

A presidential health setback could reverse the trend sharply. But there are clear surface indications now that an Eisenhower-headed GOP ticket will surmount current farm dissatisfaction and traditional labor union support for the Democrats to sweep the state's 25 electoral votes into the Republican column.

Whether the GOP can re-elect Sen. George Bender in a contest that might decide party control of the Senate next year appears to depend largely on how deeply the magic of Ike's name penetrates down the ballot.

Eisenhower carried Ohio by 500,000 out of 3,700,000 votes in 1952. At the same time, Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche, now running against Bender, rolled up a 425,000 margin over Charles P. Taft for the governorship.

Lausche, who won a fifth term by a 212,000 margin out of 2,663,000 votes in 1954, is sailing on a new political sea. Whether he can ride out an expected Eisenhower tide remains to be seen.

Meanwhile, the politically canny governor has lined up most of Ohio's 58-vote delegation to the Democratic National Convention under his banner as a "favorite son."

Adopting a wait-and-see attitude, Lausche says he is keeping strictly neutral as between such aspirants for the nomination as Adlai E. Stevenson, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and Gov Averell Harriman of New York.

None of these three currently is given more than a remote chance to carry Ohio against Eisenhower. But any withdrawal of Eisenhower as a candidate would alter the picture overnight.

In this period more than seven months before the election few Ohio politicians would give any other Republican more than a barely even chance to win the state. And that includes Vice President Nixon, whose Republican stock has been boosted by recent Eisenhower statements.

A cross-section check of the man on the street and the politicians discloses that the average voter accepts the verdict of the President and his doctors that Eisenhower is good for another five years in the White House despite his Sept. 24 heart attack.

There is some dissent. For instance C. V. Sells, a Henrysburg funeral director who is a Democrat but said he never voted a straight ticket, avowed that "Ike has no business running again."

"He ought to go back to Gettysburg and raise violets," Sells said. "He will live longer if he does. Of course, it depends on who the Democrats nominate whether I vote for him again. I might do it."

A cross section of other comment:

Perry Philpot, coal mine core drilling tester: "Eisenhower is as good a man as you can find. I'm a Democrat but I usually vote for the man and I'm doing as well I ever did under the Democrats."

Paul Harpold, tool and die manufacturer: "As far as Eisenhower's health is concerned, I think it's just like Al Smith said about Roosevelt: 'You don't have to be an acrobat to be President.'"

Volcano Eruption Costs U.S. $3,841 For Painting

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP) — Because Mt. Spur, Alaska, erupted July 9, 1953, the government may pay an extra $3,841 for painting 13 frame buildings at the Elmendorf Air Force Base, Anchorage.

The Senate yesterday passed and sent to President Eisenhower a bill authorizing the payment to P. F. Claveau, who with Rodger G. Ritchie had contracted to do the job for $7,228.

The day after they started painting came the eruption, spreading ash and smoke over the area. The Air Force made them scrape the buildings down with steel wool and start over.

McKay's Rival Wins Senate Endorsement

PORTLAND, Ore., March 20 (AP) —The executive board of the Oregon College League of Young Republicans has endorsed Philip Hitchcock for Republican nomination to the Senate over Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay.

It was the first primary election endorsement by the league and reversed an earlier decision—reached before candidates filed—to stay out of the primaries.

Hitchcock, a member of Portland's Lewis and Clark College development staff, is opposed for the nomination by McKay and two other lesser known candidates.

Sen. Wayne Morse is expected to be the Democratic candidate.

The board, whose endorsement now goes to the 11 college chapters in the state, gave no explanation of its decision to choose sides in the primary. The league is a separate organization within the State Young Republican Federation.

Interceptor Sewer Will Be Needed Along Side Of Wills Creek Channel

One of the proposals which will be discussed by U. S. Corps of Engineers and city officials today in Washington is a proposed engineers' plan to build an interceptor sewer between the new and old flood walls on both sides of Wills Creek in connection with the flood protection project.

Of major consideration is the added cost which the city is expected to bear.

City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum said today that approximately 200 pipes, carrying storm water and drainage water from cellars, roofs and yards, go through the old masonry flood wall along Mechanic Street.

The Engineers propose, he said, to plan an interceptor sewer between the old and new flood walls to pick up all these drains, carry it along to a manhole and connect with a flood control pressure conduit. From there water will be carried to a pumping station at the B&O viaduct and other pumping stations (one at Howard Street) and thence into the Potomac River.

Engineers claim it is not advisable to have pipes through the flood wall since it would be necessary to have flap gates on the pipes. In event of damage to the gates through rust, or because people might prop them open, it is feared the outflow of water would damage the new flood wall.

The same condition will prevail on the westerly side of the creek, Nuzum said.

The city engineer emphasized that this does not involve sanitary sewage but only storm water and drainage.

A large cast iron sanitary sewer runs along the bank of Wills Creek and is not affected.

The local delegation, headed by Mayor Roy W. Eves, will leave early today for Washington by train.

The meeting is scheduled for 10 a. m. in the office of Sen. J. Glenn Beall.

Cantata Is Planned By Church Choir

The Sanctuary Choir of Centre Street Methodist Church under the direction of Charles I. Sager, will present a sacred cantata Thursday at 8 p.m., in the sanctuary of the church.

The cantata is J. H. Maunder's "Olivet to Calvary" which is a recalling of some of the incidents in the last days of the Saviour's life on earth, and some of the reflections suggested thereby.

Part II opens with the Supper of the Passover, at which Jesus washes His disciples' feet, and gives to His friends the new commandment of love for one another as the sign of true discipleship.

The selections of the cantata are: "On the Way to Jerusalem," "Before Jerusalem," "In the Temple," "The Mount of Olives," "A New Commandment," "Gethsemane," "Betrayed and Forsaken," "Before Pilate," "The March to Calvary," and "Calvary."

The soloists will be: James R. Hager, tenor, and W. Cletus Hartsock, baritone. Mrs. Kenneth F. Beck is the organ accompanist.

Amcelle Employe Injured In Fall

An employe of the Amcelle plant injured her right hip Sunday night when she slipped on the icy walkway at the local plant when she was reporting for the 11 p. m. shift.

Admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital was Miss Daisy Burkhart of 414 Race Street.

Many Deeds Are Filed For Record

The land records office at the Court House had its biggest rush of business in some weeks yesterday with no less than 14 property transactions being filed between 9 and 11 a. m.

Among the transactions were property purchases by Kenneth W. Koser and his wife, Sadie E. Koser of a property on Bedford Road from J. Forrest Milleson. Harold Francis Stephens and his wife, Lena Eva Stephens bought a property in Green's Highland Park Addition at Westernport from Ernest S. Brummage.

William T. Buckalew, et al, sold property at Borden Shaft to Grace Buckalew. Ernest W. Kaylor and his wife, Mary V. Kaylor, sold property on Sheridan Place to the Mayor and Council of Cumberland. Lucille H. Meaders sold property on Riverview Avenue to the Mayor and Council.

Eston J. Presnell and his wife, Rozella M. Presnell sold property on Montreal Avenue to the Mayor and Council. James R. Hatfield and his wife, Candace, sold property on North Mechanic Street, to the Mayor and Council. Susan L. Yeager granted an easement to the Mayor and Council on Kelly Boulevard.

Sallie C. Moates, et al, sold property on Pear Street to Fletcher Lewis Thompson. Mary L. Shaw sold property at Pekin to Earl Humbertson. Walter F. Files and his wife, Ida, sold property on Race Street to David M. and Onolee L. Watson. Lorenza Spencer Jr., and his wife, Wanda Lee, sold property on Forest Avenue in Bowmans' Addition to G. Glenn Watson.

J. Forrest Milleson and his wife, Louenna, sold property on Bedford Road to Christine and George E. Hess. Lewis Dewey Shepherd and his wife, Margaret I. Shepherd, sold property on Warrior Run near Cresaptown to Allen M. and Reatha L. Bridges. Fletcher L. Thompson et ux., sold property on Pear Street to Orlando T. Lynch.

Sheriff's Office To Get New Car

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday accepted the low bid of the St. George Motor Company to furnish an eight cylinder car for the sheriff's office.

The St. George bid a net price of $445.40 for a new Ford car. Other bidders and the net price offered were Eiler Chevrolet Company, $502.25 and Gurley's Garage, $622.55 for a Plymouth. All three auto dealers made a trade in offer for the 1955 car now in use by the sheriff's office.

The commissioners also decided to ask for bids for a car for use by the Health Department. A trade in offer on a 1953 car now in use is included in the bidding. Specifications may be obtained from the clerk to the board.

Vernon R. Cost Joins Insurance Firm Here

Vernon R. Cost, Woodlawn, La-Vale, has been appointed as a sales representative for the People's Life Insurance Company it was announced yesterday.

A native of Cumberland, Cost was employed in the dying and finishing department of the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation from 1933 until 1949. In 1949 he was transferred by Celanese to its Hopewell, Va.

In 1951 he left Celanese to join the Lee Dying Company, Durham, N. C., as plant manager.

Mrs. Cost is employed as a music instructor by the Allegany County school system.

Historical Committee Is Appointed For Cumberland

Attorney Harry I. Stegmaier has agreed to serve as coordinator of the "Cumberland Historical Committee," Mayor Roy W. Eves announced yesterday.

The committee, Eves said, will be charged with the responsibility of exploring the possibility and deciding whether to hold a week-long celebration to emphasize some significant event from the historical past of the Cumberland area.

Eves also said he plans to ask a number of others to serve as chairmen of sub-committees for the proposed event.

They include C. William Gilchrist, president of Cumberland Chamber of Commerce; Nelson W. Russler, president of the South Cumberland Business Men's Association; T. J. Klauenberg, Cumberland Division superintendent of the B&O Railroad, transportation; A. Trago Brust, managing editor of The Cumberland News, publicity; Charles E. Bramble, labor; City Attorney Thomas B. Finan, City of Cumberland; Harold D. Barber, industry; Mrs. Esther Rosenbaum, mercantile; and J. William Hunt, editor of The Sunday Times, historical.

Several weeks ago, the Mayor and Council approved a resolution in which Eves was authorized to appoint a committee. It pointed out the move was the result of interest shown in last year's Bicentennial celebration and the fact that numerous inquiries had been made and the city had been urged to take official action to insure continued interest in the city's history.

The committee's function will be to select as a theme some event from the past and to organize and promote a celebration preferably limited to one week.

Should this prove successful, it is urged that plans be made to have the observances annually.

Deceased Man Identified

The identity of the man who died Sunday en route to a hospital here has been clarified by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher announced yesterday.

Fingerprints of the man which were sent to the FBI show he was Wilmer Clifton Morris, and that he had been inducted in the Navy October 21, 1942.

At that time, the records revealed, Morris had no known relatives, Fletcher declared.

Morris, according to authorities, had been with others, visiting with Theodore Bennett of the Chaneysville Road near Flintstone, when he became ill.

He died en route to a local hospital and an autopsy showed that death was due to a perforated ulcer.

Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator, said a check with Maryland Penitentiary officials showed Morris had served time there for armed robbery.

Widow Wins Right To Use Stock Option

An order has been signed by Chief Judge George Henderson in Circuit Court authorizing the administratix of an estate to borrow $41,080 in order to exercise a stock purchase option with the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

The petition, filed in court by Horace P. Whitworth Jr., attorney for Mrs. Mary Margaret (McGreevy) Haywood, states that Dr. Gerald Haywood, a research chemist for the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company had an agreement with the firm to exercise an option to purchase 1,600 shares of stock in the firm.

Dr. Haywood, the husband of the petitioner, died January 8 without exercising the stock purchase options. Judge Henderson in his court order assumed jurisdiction in administering the estate and authorized Mrs. Haywood to borrow the money to buy the stock. She was placed under $60,000 bond to carry out the court's provisions.

After the sale of the stock she is empowered to sell the stock at the current market price. This can be done anytime within a year. At the current market price of the stock the estate would realize a potential profit of $38,920, less capital gains taxes.

The Haywood will had gone through the usual Orphans Court procedure prior to the Circuit Court's assuming jurisdiction under Judge Henderson's order.

Meanwhile, the Orphans Court probated three wills yesterday.

The will of Mrs. Rose B. Callan, 79, of Little Orleans, who died March 4 named a nephew, James E. Van, a detective lieutenant with the Cumberland Police Department, as executor. He posted bond of $8,000.

The will left cash bequests to Annie R. Van, a sister; Elizabeth H. Van, a niece, and to three nephews, Edward D. Larkin, James Joseph Van and James E. Van. St. Patrick's Catholic Church at Little Orleans was left $500 for improvements and $200 for masses to be said for the members of the family.

The will of William H. Trail, 115 North Cedar Street, who died February 2, named his daughter, Marie T. Cole, as executrix and beneficiary.

The will of Mary A. Jamesson, Westernport, named Nellie Castle, a niece, and Estel C. Kelley, local attorney, as executors of the estate. They posted $1,000 bond. St. James Episcopal Church in Westernport was left $500 and the rest of the estate to the niece.

Liquor Board Asks $19,000 Budget For Coming Year

The Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverage License Commissioners yesterday submitted its budget for the year beginning May 31 to James W. Bishop, county treasurer.

The board is operated on funds derived from license fees and the balance goes into the county's general fund. The budget for the coming year will be $19,000, which is $400 less than the budget ending May 31, according to Walter C. Capper, board chairman.

The budget lists $7,200 for the salaries of the three board members, Stanley O. Hamilton, Howard Vandegrift and Capper; $6,000 for the two inspectors, Edward Willison and Angus Turnbull; $2,000 for the salary of Mrs. Esther Robinson, clerk; $1,500 for the employes retirement system; $300 for Social Security, $500 for attorneys' fees, $500 for records and transcripts, $500 for office supplies, $150 for telephone service, and $350 in the contingent fund.

The board issued a beer license to Fred H. Shockey for premises at 14 Broadway, Frostburg. The place formerly was operated as the Golden Nugget by Charles A. Morgan, who surrendered his permit some time ago.

Historical Committee Is Appointed For Cumberland

Attorney Harry I. Stegmaier has agreed to serve as coordinator of the "Cumberland Historical Committee," Mayor Roy W. Eves announced yesterday.

The committee, Eves said, will be charged with the responsibility of exploring the possibility and deciding whether to hold a week-long celebration to emphasize some significant event from the historical past of the Cumberland area.

Eves also said he plans to ask a number of others to serve as chairmen of sub-committees for the proposed event.

They include C. William Gilchrist, president of Cumberland Chamber of Commerce; Nelson W. Russler, president of the South Cumberland Business Men's Association; T. J. Klauenberg, Cumberland Division superintendent of the B&O Railroad, transportation; A. Trago Brust, managing editor of The Cumberland News, publicity; Charles E. Bramble, labor; City Attorney Thomas B. Finan, City of Cumberland; Harold D. Barber, industry; Mrs. Esther Rosenbaum, mercantile; and J. William Hunt, editor of The Sunday Times, historical.

Several weeks ago, the Mayor and Council approved a resolution in which Eves was authorized to appoint a committee. It pointed out the move was the result of interest shown in last year's Bicentennial celebration and the fact that numerous inquiries had been made and the city had been urged to take official action to insure continued interest in the city's history.

The committee's function will be to select as a theme some event from the past and to organize and promote a celebration preferably limited to one week.

Should this prove successful, it is urged that plans be made to have the observances annually.

Deceased Man Identified

The identity of the man who died Sunday en route to a hospital here has been clarified by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher announced yesterday.

Fingerprints of the man which were sent to the FBI show he was Wilmer Clifton Morris, and that he had been inducted in the Navy October 21, 1942.

At that time, the records revealed, Morris had no known relatives, Fletcher declared.

Morris, according to authorities, had been with others, visiting with Theodore Bennett of the Chaneysville Road near Flintstone, when he became ill.

He died en route to a local hospital and an autopsy showed that death was due to a perforated ulcer.

Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator, said a check with Maryland Penitentiary officials showed Morris had served time there for armed robbery.

Widow Wins Right To Use Stock Option

An order has been signed by Chief Judge George Henderson in Circuit Court authorizing the administratix of an estate to borrow $41,080 in order to exercise a stock purchase option with the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

The petition, filed in court by Horace P. Whitworth Jr., attorney for Mrs. Mary Margaret (McGreevy) Haywood, states that Dr. Gerald Haywood, a research chemist for the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company had an agreement with the firm to exercise an option to purchase 1,600 shares of stock in the firm.

Dr. Haywood, the husband of the petitioner, died January 8 without exercising the stock purchase options. Judge Henderson in his court order assumed jurisdiction in administering the estate and authorized Mrs. Haywood to borrow the money to buy the stock. She was placed under $60,000 bond to carry out the court's provisions.

After the sale of the stock she is empowered to sell the stock at the current market price. This can be done anytime within a year. At the current market price of the stock the estate would realize a potential profit of $38,920, less capital gains taxes.

The Haywood will had gone through the usual Orphans Court procedure prior to the Circuit Court's assuming jurisdiction under Judge Henderson's order.

Meanwhile, the Orphans Court probated three wills yesterday.

The will of Mrs. Rose B. Callan, 79, of Little Orleans, who died March 4 named a nephew, James E. Van, a detective lieutenant with the Cumberland Police Department, as executor. He posted bond of $8,000.

The will left cash bequests to Annie R. Van, a sister; Elizabeth H. Van, a niece, and to three nephews, Edward D. Larkin, James Joseph Van and James E. Van. St. Patrick's Catholic Church at Little Orleans was left $500 for improvements and $200 for masses to be said for the members of the family.

The will of William H. Trail, 115 North Cedar Street, who died February 2, named his daughter, Marie T. Cole, as executrix and beneficiary.

The will of Mary A. Jamesson, Westernport, named Nellie Castle, a niece, and Estel C. Kelley, local attorney, as executors of the estate. They posted $1,000 bond. St. James Episcopal Church in Westernport was left $500 and the rest of the estate to the niece.

Liquor Board Asks $19,000 Budget For Coming Year

The Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverage License Commissioners yesterday submitted its budget for the year beginning May 31 to James W. Bishop, county treasurer.

The board is operated on funds derived from license fees and the balance goes into the county's general fund. The budget for the coming year will be $19,000, which is $400 less than the budget ending May 31, according to Walter C. Capper, board chairman.

The budget lists $7,200 for the salaries of the three board members, Stanley O. Hamilton, Howard Vandegrift and Capper; $6,000 for the two inspectors, Edward Willison and Angus Turnbull; $2,000 for the salary of Mrs. Esther Robinson, clerk; $1,500 for the employes retirement system; $300 for Social Security, $500 for attorneys' fees, $500 for records and transcripts, $500 for office supplies, $150 for telephone service, and $350 in the contingent fund.

The board issued a beer license to Fred H. Shockey for premises at 14 Broadway, Frostburg. The place formerly was operated as the Golden Nugget by Charles A. Morgan, who surrendered his permit some time ago.

Syckes Trio Is Inciuded In Choral Society Concert

Charles I. Sager, director of the Cumberland Choral Society announces that the Wilton Syckes Trio will play at the society's presentation of Mozart's' 'Requiem," May 7.

The concert, observing Mozart's bicentennial, will be presented at 8 o'clock in Allegany High School auditorium.

At the rehearsal Monday evening Mr. Sager informed the society that he is "pleased with its interest and willingness to tackle such a difficult work as Mozart's Requiem."

He also said he hopes the group will be willing to attempt some new type of music each year.

Rehearsals are held from 8 until 9:30 o'clock, each Monday evening at the City Hall.

DeMolay Alumni To Plan Anniversary Ladies Night

Plans for a Ladies Night party and for marking the anniversary celebration April 18 are to be formulated at a meeting of the Sanford H. Buley Chapter, DeMolay Alumni tonight.

The dinner meeting will be held at 6:30 o'clock, at the Ali Ghan Country Club.

Arthur Brant will preside and appoint committees for the anniversary celebration.

JUDY JOHNSON

Judy Johnson Is On Good Will Tour Iceland-Bermuda

Miss Judy Johnson has been selected as one of the 30 Good Will Representatives for the United States, to tour Iceland, Bermuda and the Azores.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin C. Johnson, Cresaptown, and a senior in Madison College, Harrisonburg, Va., Miss Johnson has been selected by the United States Air Force as one of the 30 representatives from the Madison College Glee Club to make the tour.

Acting as Good Will representatives for the United States, the group will be guests of the Air Force. They are to present sacred concerts in the community churches and cathedrals of these areas, and will entertain the Air Force personnel with concerts at the service clubs. Miss Johnson is one of the soloists with this group. Parties, banquets and public appearances have been arranged for them by the Air Force.

The group is to leave the United States Friday from McGuire Air Force Base in Trenton, N. J., after giving a concert at the service club there.

Flying by United States Military Air Transport Service to Iceland, they will present a Palm Sunday concert for the service men. They will remain there until March 30.

The second part of the trip will be to Bermuda, where they are to participate in the Easter Sunrise services on the island. Several days will be spent there in sightseeing and in entertaining.

For the last part of the tour, they will be flown to the Azores, where they will appear at the community centers as well as churches and service centers. Their plans include sightseeing trips to important points in the area. They are to fly back to the States April 9.

Miss Johnson recently was elected by the student body as a "Maid" in the 1956 May Court at Madison College. The annual May Day celebration will be held May 5 on the campus. Miss Johnson, who is to graduate June 3, plans to enter the teaching profession.

Robert Stakem, 314 Columbia Street, is reported improving in Sacred Heart Hospital, where he underwent an emergency appendectomy Monday.

ABL Rec Club Will Hold Spring Dance April 20

The annual spring dance of the Rec Club of Allegany Ballistics Laboratory will be held April 20.

It is to be a semi-formal party and will be held at Clary Club. Music is to be by Henry Grusendorf and his orchestra, of Keyser.

It will be the last social of the club until the picnic in July.

Officers of the club are in charge of arrangements. They are Richard Christopher, John Carroll, Miss Ann Engle and Miss Willa Wood.

CDA Activity Dates Are Announced

Announcement of the annual communion Sunday, state convention, a supper and sale were made at the social meeting of Court Cardinal Gibbons, CDA, held in the form of a covered dish supper Monday evening at St. Patrick's Social Center.

This year the Communion Sunday will be observed at St. Mary's Church, May 13, at the 9 o'clock mass. The state convention will be April 27, 28 and 29 in the Cadoa, Baltimore. A bake sale will be held March 31 at Burkey's Store, North Centre Street, with Miss Mary Doll and Mrs. Cecelia Albright chairmen. Contributions are to be made by calling PA 2-3863 or PA 4-0126. A public spaghetti supper will be held April 15 at St. Mary's, prepared by the Italian women of the court.

Because of the Easter holiday the next business meeting will be held April 9 instead of the second.

March birthdays were honored at the supper and a special prize was won by Mrs. Mildred Garlitz.

Entertainment consisted of all types of dancing and singing, by pupils of the Mary Kathryn Steckman Dance Studio. Miss Anna Ketzner was Entertainment chairman. The Supper committee was composed of Mrs. Anna McCleary, Mrs. Elizabeth McLean, Mrs. Sylvia Mattingly, Miss Virginia Sirna, Mrs. Margaret McDade, Mrs. Regina Martz, Mrs. Florence Leonard, Mrs. Angela Pendergast, Mrs. Catherine Kilroy and Mrs. Madeline Fanneli.

Receives Cap

Miss Suzanne Lindeman, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar E. Heron, 337 Virginia Avenue, was capped at Lutheran Hospital of Maryland March 9. The special candlelight ceremony was conducted in the auditorium of the nurses' home.

Friends and relatives from Cumberland attended.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Jones, 104 Luteman Road, have returned from Roanoke, Va., where they attended the funeral of the former's mother, Mrs. William J. Jones.

J. H. Snyder has returned to his home, 109 Jackson Street, after being a surgical patient in Memorial Hospital.

U.S. Army's 25-Cent Bus Tour Of Berlin Is 4-Power City's Best Tourist Bargain

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

BERLIN, March 20 (AP) —The biggest tourist bargain in Berlin today is the U.S. Army's 25-cent bus tour of the four-power city.

As a part of it, you get a long ride and several stops in the Russian sector. There, despite Moscow's new anti-Stalinist line, statues of Stalin and other monuments to the late Soviet dictator are still in evidence.

The tour is so popular with visiting American servicemen, dependents and civilians that the Army fills three buses for the 3½ -hour tour every Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday.

More than half of the time is spent in East Berlin, the Soviet half of the city.

Your guide, an English - speaking West Berliner, is likely to enliven this part of the trip with gentle gibes at the Communists.

Passing the nearly deserted, main railway station in East Berlin, he will tell you:

Seven thousand Russians who died in the battle for Berlin are buried in a landscaped terrace at the foot of a huge bronze statue of a Russian soldier. Red granite used in sculptured monuments of the garden was taken from Hitler's Chancellery.

From the memorial park, the tour swings past the big J. W. Stalin electrical works and then down Stalin Allee, the main thoroughfare of East Berlin and showpiece of the reconstruction effort by the Communists.

For more than a mile, Stalin Allee is lined on both sides with uniform rows of white-tiled apartment houses eight to twelve stories high.

Just behind the rows of apartment houses, you can see war ruins—the rubble, bombed - out buildings and desolation still characteristic of much of East Berlin.

Back in Allied West Berlin, the tour swings down the Kurfuerstendamm, the broad neo-lighted main street and center of smart shops, hotels and night clubs.

Stops include one at the West Berlin City Hall, where the American- donated freedom bell peals for five minutes at noon every day. Another is the huge Tempelhof, Airport, scene of the Allied Berlin airlift in 1948-49 and presently used by three commercial airlines and the U.S. Air Force.

One of the tour's last stops is at a Soviet war monument near the Brandenburg gate and just inside the British sector.

"Until 1953," the tour guide relates, "there was only one Russian soldier at a time on duty at this memorial. One day, he left his post and asked for political asylum in the West. Now, there are two guards all the time—one to guard the monument and the other to guard the guard."

Cities Service Co. Sets Sales Records

NEW YORK, March 20 (AP)—Cities Service Co. racked up new record highs last year in sales of petroleum products and production of crude oil, W. Alton Jones, chairman, announced today in the company's annual report for 1955.

Net income for the year totaled $49,306,000, equal to $4.888 a share, and compared with $43,724,000 or $4.41 a share in 1954.

The 1954 net included $4,325,000 equity in earnings of utility subsidiaries sold that year, Jones pointed out. Excluding the utility earnings, the $49,306,000 net profit of companies remaining in the system in 1955 compared with $39,000 in 1954, a gain of 25 per cent, he noted.

Well-Dressed Man Wears Sleeves Rolled, No Creases

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP) —Away with those creased sleeves, men. The well-dressed man now wears his coat sleeves rolled with, nary a crease in them.

This fashion item comes today from the National Institute of Dry Cleaning, along with word that most cleaners are equipped either to crease or roll.

"Nobody seems to know why we ever creased men's sleeves in the first place," Bill Browne of the institute said. "I understand that in Europe sleeves never have been creased.

"Over here, since the rolled sleeves has been fashionable for the casual look, we've run into trouble.

"All over the country the policy has been: If the coat was creased before, crease it; if rolled, roll it."

Occasionally, of course, errors are made.

"If we crease a coat for a rolled sleeve man," Browne said, "he is horrified. And if we roll a sleeve for a man used to creases, he sends the suit back. Says we forgot to press it. That's why we'd like for the word to get around about rolled sleeves."

Duchess Ignored Parental Warnings And Wed Spencer

NEW YORK, March 20 (AP)—The Duchess of Windsor, in the second installment of her life story in McCall's Magazine, disclosed today she entered her first marriage to Earl Winfield Spencer Jr., because she was "in love with the world's most fascinating naval aviator," and she "was 19 and eager to learn about life."

She said she married Spencer, then a Navy lieutenant, despite strong parental warnings.

She said she was "becoming impatient with the restraints of the chaperone system." Her mother, she said, objected to the marriage because she thought her daughter was too spirited and too independent to take easily to the regulated life of a Navy wife.

"I didn't want a wedding every week," papa Dorssers explained.

Police Probing Area Burglaries

Maryland State Police at LaVale are continuing an investigation into the three breaking and enterings which occurred sometime Monday night or early yesterday, including a grocery store, the Cresaptown School and a service station.

Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the State Police, said a grocery store owned by Harry M. Shryock, located about three miles north of Oldtown on the Uhl Highway, was broken into and $20 in cash, an auto tire, four or five cartons of cigarets and a credit card system register were taken. Entrance was gained by breaking the window of the front door and removing a wooden bar across the doorway.

The Cresaptown School was broken into and a small amount of change taken. Windows in the basement, front door, office, and shop room were broken and 14 class rooms were also broken into by forcing of doors. Drawers and desks were ransacked. The incident was reported by Shirley E. Higgs, who works in the school office.

The Fred C. Hill gasoline service station and garage at Bowling Green was also broken into but it has not been determined what, if anything, was taken.

Entrance was gained by breaking a window of the garage section and then a window of the door leading to the sales room was broken to gain entrance to that part of the building. A basement window was also broken by the sulprits.

ONE WEEK'S WASHING. It takes a lot of hot water to do a week's washing in an automatic washer for the average family. But now—new Laundry-Rated Gas Water Heaters make sure you get more than enough for ALL your hot water needs including washing, bathing, dishes, and dozens of other uses. Tests show that GAS is far superior than any other method for providing abundant hot water . . . fast, economically, and dependably.

How does laundry-rating work?

You tell your dealer what kind of an automatic washer you have or expect to get. He'll tell you how many gallons of hot water it uses an hour. THAT is its laundry-rating. He'll show you a selection of new Gas water heaters that meet your requirements. You'll have more than enough hot water for automatic washing and ALL your other needs . . . with GAS!

Your Gas Company

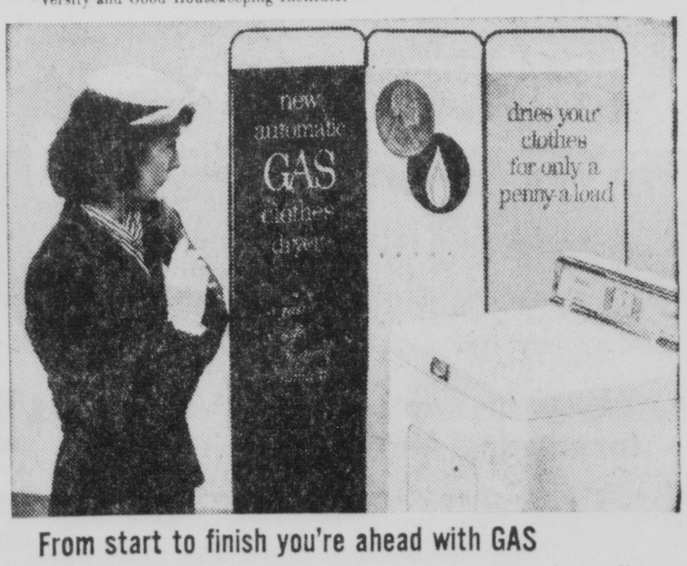

is cooperating with water heater manufacturers and utilities all over America in promoting this better way to buy a Gas water heater. For more information visit your Gas Company office or see your plumber or Gas appliance dealer for your FREE Laundry-Rating pamphlet.

LAUNDRY-RATING

The new easy way to buy the right size GAS water heater

Automatic washers that make washing so easy and make clothes extra clean also make plenty of hot water more important than ever. It takes many gallons of 160 degree* hot water for EACH load. And some automatic washers take more than others. How much hot water does your washer take? How big a Gas water heater should you have? Laundry-Rating is the sure way to get the right answer. The Modern Laundry-Rated Gas Water Heaters see to it that any automatic washer built gets enough hot water for any number of washloads, without stopping.

*As recommended by the Ellen H. Richards Institute of Pennsylvania State University and Good Housekeeping Institute.

From start to finish you're ahead with GAS

Water heating is fast and thrifty with Gas . . . so is clothes drying. You can dry a load of wash for only a penny's worth of GAS. And simple installation is less than any other type of dryer.

Interment will be in the Eglon Cemetery.

Father Joins Son In Local Hospital

A Fairmont man, hurt in a two-car accident on Route 40 near Guntertown Sunday, joined his son in Sacred Heart Hospital Monday.

Charles E. Krampf Sr., who was admitted to Miners Hospital, Frostburg, Sunday night, was brought to the local hospital where his son, Charles E. Krampf Jr., 15, was taken after the accident.

The senior Krampf is suffering pains in his chest. The son has injuries of the left shoulder and right side of his head.

Multiple Wedding

CHATHAM, Ont., March 20 (AP)—Six of Leo Dorssers 15 children want to marry.

So, at papa Dorssers' suggestion, four daughters and two sons will be married to six other Dutch immigrants of this community at a single ceremony in the Roman Catholic Church April 28.

"I didn't want a wedding every week," papa Dorssers explained.

Police Probing Area Burglaries

Maryland State Police at LaVale are continuing an investigation into the three breaking and enterings which occurred sometime Monday night or early yesterday, including a grocery store, the Cresaptown School and a service station.

Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the State Police, said a grocery store owned by Harry M. Shryock, located about three miles north of Oldtown on the Uhl Highway, was broken into and $20 in cash, an auto tire, four or five cartons of cigarets and a credit card system register were taken. Entrance was gained by breaking the window of the front door and removing a wooden bar across the doorway.

The Cresaptown School was broken into and a small amount of change taken. Windows in the basement, front door, office, and shop room were broken and 14 class rooms were also broken into by forcing of doors. Drawers and desks were ransacked. The incident was reported by Shirley E. Higgs, who works in the school office.

The Fred C. Hill gasoline service station and garage at Bowling Green was also broken into but it has not been determined what, if anything, was taken.

Entrance was gained by breaking a window of the garage section and then a window of the door leading to the sales room was broken to gain entrance to that part of the building. A basement window was also broken by the sulprits.

ONE WEEK'S WASHING. It takes a lot of hot water to do a week's washing in an automatic washer for the average family. But now—new Laundry-Rated Gas Water Heaters make sure you get more than enough for ALL your hot water needs including washing, bathing, dishes, and dozens of other uses. Tests show that GAS is far superior than any other method for providing abundant hot water . . . fast, economically, and dependably.

LAUNDRY-RATING

The new easy way to buy the right size GAS water heater

Automatic washers that make washing so easy and make clothes extra clean also make plenty of hot water more important than ever. It takes many gallons of 160 degree* hot water for EACH load. And some automatic washers take more than others. How much hot water does your washer take? How big a Gas water heater should you have? Laundry-Rating is the sure way to get the right answer. The Modern Laundry-Rated Gas Water Heaters see to it that any automatic washer built gets enough hot water for any number of washloads, without stopping.

*As recommended by the Ellen H. Richards Institute of Pennsylvania State University and Good Housekeeping Institute.

How does laundry-rating work?

You tell your dealer what kind of an automatic washer you have or expect to get. He'll tell you how many gallons of hot water it uses an hour. THAT is its laundry-rating. He'll show you a selection of new Gas water heaters that meet your requirements. You'll have more than enough hot water for automatic washing and ALL your other needs . . . with GAS!

Your Gas Company

is cooperating with water heater manufacturers and utilities all over America in promoting this better way to buy a Gas water heater. For more information visit your Gas Company office or see your plumber or Gas appliance dealer for your FREE Laundry-Rating pamphlet.

From start to finish you're ahead with GAS

Water heating is fast and thrifty with Gas . . . so is clothes drying. You can dry a load of wash for only a penny's worth of GAS. And simple installation is less than any other type of dryer.

Larceny Term Is Suspended

A 30-year-old Cresaptown man received a suspended fine and jail sentence in Trial Magistrates Court after pleading guilty to a petty larceny charge.

Magistrate J. Milton Dick suspended a $50 fine and 30-day jail sentence for Jesse Franklin Shipley on the condition the latter pay $50 to Howard Robinette, Polish Mountain, for the theft of tractor parts March 8.

County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya said the tractor parts were taken from the farm vehicle while parked in an open barn on the Robinette property.

The parts, valued at $25, were recovered by Lilya and returned to Robinette. The additional money which is to be paid by Shipley within the next 60 days through the State's Attorney's office, is for time and expense incurred by Robinette in his efforts to recover the stolen items.

Division 117 To Meet

The Mrs. C. L. Bretz Division 117, Grand International Auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers will meet at 1:30 this afternoon at the Virginia Avenue IOOF Hall.

Registrars Sign Up 18 Voters

Democrats, far outnumbered in Allegany County's overall registration figures, picked away at the Republican lead again yesterday when the touring registrars signed up 18 prospective new voters, 10 Democrats and eight Republicans.

At the Oldtown School yesterday afternoon, 11 were registered. Eight called themselves Democrats and three Republicans. At the North Branch Fire Hall last night, the Republicans made some headway as they gained five to the Democrats' two.

Today the touring registrars will be at the McCoole Fire Hall from 1 until 4 p. m. and at the Devon Club library in Luke from 6 until 9 p. m.

Meanwhile, prospective new voters may continue to register at the office of the County Borad of Election Supervisors in the Court House basement between 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. Monday through Friday and from 9 a. m. until noon on Saturdays until April 7, the deadline for registration in order to vote in the May 7 primary.

Anyone who will have reached his 21st birthday before November 6 of this year and will have lived in Maryland 12 months by then may register now and vote in the May 7 primary. Those whose names were stricken off for failure to vote in the last five years must re-register.

Westernport Seeks $57,816 From County

An itemized list of $57,816.32 damages claimed by the Mayor and Commissioners of Westernport allegedly arising from construction and early operation of the Savage River Dam was presented to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday.

The commissioners told Michael they would consider the possibility of including an item for these damages in the county's budget for the 1956-57 fiscal year which starts July 1. The budget will be adopted Tuesday, April 17.

Mayor Michael said the list of damages is in compliance with a request made to him last May 3 when the Upper Potomac River Commission, the Board of County Commissioners and the Mayor and Council of Westernport met at the Cumberland Country Club.

The major item in Michael's list was $50,000 for damage alleged to the quality of Westernport's water which he said necessitated building a $226,500 filtration plant.

Other items :

$808.22 for cost of removing dirt in 1944 from the town's transmission line in order to repair it; $245 cost of preparing old intake and line for service in 1952 when the commission refused to pump according to agreement; $45 for a similar project in 1953; $4,913.32 cost of labor and materials spent by the town in 1950 when the main transmission line was broken by the contractors, Lewis and Bowman; $1,589.13 cost of labor and materials expended by the contractors, Lewis and Bowman, to repair the transmission line which was paid to the contractors, and $215.65 cost of water furnished by the City of Piedmont and which has not been paid.

License Tag Sale Reaches Top Pace

Sale of new Maryland automobile license tags reached its heaviest pace of the year yesterday when 595 sets were sold at the office of Tax Collector J. Wallace Close at the Court House.

Since the sale started February 23 8,920 sets have been sold here, which is 280 behind the level at the same date last year. Clerks in Close's office yesterday began selling tags in the GB series. Charles William Small, 244 Columbia Street, got GB 10-01, the first number in the series.

Apple Blossom Queen Elected

WINCHESTER, Va., March 20 (AP)—A 19-year-old brunette, Laura MacArthur, today was named queen of the 29th annual Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival here April 26-27.

The queen-elect, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas MacArthur II, is a freshman at George Washington University in Washington. Her father is counsellor with the State Department.

She is the great-niece of Gen. Douglas MacArthur and the granddaughter of Sen. Barkley (D-Ky), a former vice president.

Big Girder Shipped Through Cumberland

Three flat cars of the Western Maryland Railway Company were required to transport a huge steel girder which was being sent to Evanston, Ill. and passed through Cumberland yesterday.

A spokesman for the railroad said that the bridge girder was loaded on the center car with overhangs on the end cars. Several such shipments have passed through Cumberland.

On segregation:

"I am for the (desegregation) program already in effect, and I believe it's working pretty well," said Butler.

"If equal facilities are given to our colored children, you'll have very little agitation," said Tydings.

"Those people (The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People) are going to keep agitating, no matter what you give them," said Williams.

On aid to Israel:

"I cannot answer this question categorically . . . The executive must decide it," said Butler.

"The shipment of tanks to the Arabs the other day was totally and inexcusably wrong," said Tydings. "It is only an inducement of war to arm these hostile nations. I don't think we should sell to either, but should meet with allies with Switzerland instead of the leaders of both sides and try to work out a peaceful solution. Lane Will Act As Tydings' Political Agent In Primary HAGERSTOWN, March 20 (AP)—Former Gov. William Preston Lane Jr. today announced he would act as political agent in the Washington primary campaign of former U.S. Sen. Millard E. Tydings.

Lane said Tydings' defeat in 1950 came as a result of "one of the most contemptible, disgusting campaigns ever conducted by responsible people in Maryland."

e said "by all the rules of decency and fair play" Tydings was "entitled to vindication."

He added "The Democratic party can expect or demand no full measure of public confidence until it has demonstrated a willingness to right the wrongs perpetrated in the past."

Tydings lost the 1950 election to Republican Sen. John Marshall Butler. A Senate subcommittee investigating the campaign described as "back street tactics" the use of faked photographs of Tydings and Communist party leader Earl Browder pasted up to make it appear as if they had been snapped during a friendly chat.

Butler is favored to win the Republican nomination and face the winner of the Democratic primary campaign May 7.

Tydings' major opponent in the race for the Democratic nomination as U.S. senator, George P. Mahoney, was in Hagerstown last night.

Mahoney met with about 76 supporters and in off-the-cuff remarks urged them not to "indulge in personalities" during the campaign.

"We are all Democrats and it is our privilege to be for any candidate of our choosing," he said. Mahoney said he hoped "all Democrats" would united behind the primary winner to "guarantee victory in November."

Synthetic Beer

TOYKO, March 20 (AP)—Three Japanese scientists have perfected a synthetic beer. They make it from succinic acid, hops, filtered starch, glucose, spices, yeast, coloring. Sounds awful, but the scientists say it costs only one-fifth as much to make as the real stuff.

Ground-Air Hunt Fails To Turn Up "Crashed" Plane

EASTON, Md., March 20 (AP)—State Police at the Easton Barracks said today that a search for a plane reported crashed in Dorchester County had been called off.

A ground-air search by Navy and civilian planes and State Police and other law enforcement officers began earlier in the day after residents of the area reported an explosion in the air.

The search turned up no evidence of a plane crash. Authorities theorized that the explosion in the air may have been the result of a plane cracking through the sound barrier.

Kefauver-Stevenson Clash Looms In D.C.

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP)—A clash between Sen. Kefauver and Adlai Stevenson for the District of Columbia's six votes in the Democratic national convention was in prospect today.

Kefauver for President Headquarters announced approval of a list of 12 candidates for delegate, each with half a vote, for entry in the presidential primary here May 1. They will run pledged to the Tennessee senator. F. Joseph Donohue, Kefauver's national campaign chairman, is on the list.

J. C. Turner, president of the local Stevenson Club, said his group will decide Thursday night whether to enter a Stevenson slate. He added "in all likelihood there will be a slate."

Political Figure Held In Shooting

BALTIMORE, March 20 (AP)—Julian B. (Chicken) Carrick, political figure in the city's 6th District, was held for the grand jury today after a Police Court hearing over a tavern fight which resulted in the shooting of Frederick Sipe.

The 53-year-old Carrick appeared before Magistrate Samuel Gaboff on charges of assault with a deadly weapon, carrying a deadly weapon and unlawfully discharging a deadly weapon.

The shooting occurred Feb. 17. Sipe, who was shot in the left arm, was also held for the grand jury. The charge was disorderly conduct.

Carrick's bail was put at $1,600, and Sipe's at $100.

Witnesses testified Sipe made abusive remarks about Carrick and a fight ensued. The two men went to the floor and the gun was discharged in the shuffle, it was testified.

Library Construction Begins At University

COLLEGE PARK, Md., March 20 (AP)—Ground will be broken tomorrow for the University of Maryland's new $2,354,000 library.

The structure, to house more than 1,000,000 volumes with a seating capacity of more than 2,000, will be built by the George Hyman Construction Co., Washington, D.C.

It is estimated it will be finished in 425 calendar days.

Prominent Frederick County Doctor Dies

FREDERICK, Md., March 20 (AP)—Dr. Charles H. Conley, prominent Frederick County physician who ran a notable, though unsuccessful, race for the Democratic nomination for governor in 1934, died early today at his home near Frederick. He would have been 80 next month.

In his only venture into statewide politics, Dr. Conley bucked the powerful Gov. Albert C. Ritchie in the 1934 primary. Running as a "country doctor" candidate, he polled 90,000 votes and carried Frederick, St. Mary's and all the counties on the Eastern Shore.

He never again sought office, but maintained an active interest in county political activities.

He also was a leader in the affairs of the Frederick County Fair and active in many other business, professional, social and civic activities in the county.

Washington Co. May Hire Dog Catcher

HAGERSTOWN, March 20 (AP)—The Washington County Board of Commissioners today agreed to call a meeting with officials of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals with a view to hiring a full time county dog catcher.

The commissioners told of complaints from mothers afraid to send their children to school busses alone and said the dog "problem" was "worse than ever."

Farmers also report packs of dogs had attacked their cattle.

Sir Anthony And Cyprus Dilemma

Prime Minister Eden of Britain, who has won a vote of confidence in the House of Commons on his government's policies in Cyprus, deserves more sympathy than he is getting, both at home and abroad. Sir Anthony has a bear by the tail in that eastern Mediterranean island, and when a man is in that uncomfortable position there is no truly satisfactory policy he can adopt. He has only a choice of evils.

The Prime Minister was lambasted by his critics for being too easy going when he tried to negotiate patiently with the leaders of the Cypriot rebels. He is being criticized even more fiercely now that he has taken a firm hand to quiet the rebellion. But Americans, Britons and Greeks for that matter might well stop to ask themselves whether they could have come up with a better solution to the dilemma if they had found themselves in a similar position.

Cyprus, as Sir Anthony explained, is Britain's last Middle Eastern base. It is a hinge on which the NATO and Baghdad defense lineups swing. Surrender of the island would seriously weaken the entire Western system from the Mediterranean to the Persian Gulf and leave this whole region with its vast oil resources at the mercy of the Soviet Union.

A more dictatorial government would never have tolerated for a moment the open rebellion, the riots and the killings of British troops that have marred the peace of Cyprus and endangered its security in recent months. The British, with their deep-rooted democratic traditions and their long experience in empire, tried patient persuasion without avail.

When they finally acted they used a minimum of force. They simply transported to another island an archbishop who had misused his office to encourage the terrorists and who had balked all British efforts to set up a system of self-rule in Cyprus.

Could those who criticize the Prime Minister have done better without surrendering this vital island?

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Freedom For Atheists

In "The Cornell Daily Sun," a newspaper published at Cornell University, I came across a letter to the editor written by cowards who withheld their names. A person of conviction does not write anonymous letters. The letter is a plea to allow a "vigorous atheism to flourish in this country."

To me, it is a curious document and I read it several times because I wondered what its authors were batting about. No one goes to jail for being an atheist. It seems that what is troubling those who signed themselves "Names Withheld," is a very practical matter. I shall put it in their own words:

"The atheist is in a rather queer position. 'Testimony under oath,' 'oaths of office,' 'the Pledge of Allegiance,' etc. witness this fact. More than this, atheists still face being labelled 'Communists' if their belief is articulated. What is of more concern now than the examples just mentioned is the promulgation of theistic religiosity that is emanating from Washington. The invocation of the heavenly powers which precedes Cabinet meetings and the continual references to America as a God-fearing country all with the implication that a good American must be a theist is, we are sure, disquieting to a large number of our citizens. For while we are guaranteed freedom of religious worship, we are not guaranteed freedom from religion."

These boys, or they may be girls, or faculty members, are undoubtedly concerned about the oaths that have to be taken in the course of our existence and which may involve perjury. Of course, they have a way out; they can affirm rather than take an oath and I notice that whereas all oaths used to be taken with a hand on a Bible, many are now taken with a hand sticking up in the air.

But it is still an oath to God and if the person, at the moment of taking that oath, has rejected God, his oath is to nothing and is ipso facto a perjury as some judges may decide. This can cause considerable trouble at some time. So I take it that whoever wrote this letter up in Cornell wants all oaths abolished and the Pledge of Allegiance abolished and they object to Cabinet meetings being opened with prayer, which undoubtedly has done the Cabinet much good because such meetings are not now opened with the latest dirty story or bit of raucous gossip which is so usual when grown, hearty men get together.

Furthermore, these atheists do not wish to be labelled as Communists, but they really should not complain. Lenin established atheism as a state religion. The atheists undoubtedly must find comfort in the successes of the Soviet state which is based on a rejection of a mystical deity and the assurance that man is a product of his environment and that the environment, in relationship to historic time, determines morals and ethics among men. Surely, if God is rejected as the Creator, as the Divine Intelligence, then Karl Marx must have been right and why do these Cornell students refuse to join in adoring him and Lenin as the most successful advocates of atheism? If they are not Communists, they should be or they can be accused of inconsistency.

There is another paragraph in this letter that might be quoted:

"The establishment of religion is as much a threat to individual liberty as the establishment of a particular religion. The promulgation of religion by private religious organizations cannot be objected to, but government aid in this field is intolerable."

These persons are at a distinguished university and presumably have had some courses in American history. If not, why not? At any rate, they ought to know by now that most of the American colonies were populated by religious, God-fearing people, who came here to live with God according to their beliefs. Therefore, worship of God, dependence upon God's guidance, prayer to God, are characteristics of American life since the early decades of the Seventeenth Century. So deeply imbedded is this concept that the individualism which is normal among our people and which is expressed in such state documents as the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution is a direct product of the theistic thinking to which they object. If they have not learned that at Cornell, what have they learned about the United States at that university?

Benson's Aides More Interested In Politics Than In Farm Problems

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Ezra Taft Benson may not know it, but a conflict-of-interest political blow-up is simmering right under his nose. It involves Carl O. Hanson, state director of the Farmers' Home Administration in Montana.

The Farmers' Home Administration is supposed to spend its entire time on the difficult problem of helping the small farmer. It is supposed to go right into the farmers' homes and aid with their economic problems. Especially, it is supposed to help the small farmer in time of drought. However, there is conclusive evidence that instead of helping small farmers, FHA State Director Hanson has been acting as a wool-buyer for the Draper Company of Boston, also helping direct the affairs of Radio-TV Station KOOK in Billings, and charging up political long-distance calls to the Government.

He was also spending part of his time and some Government money in an abortive effort to elect Wesley D'Ewart to the Senate in violation of the Hatch Act. Government officials are banned by the Hatch Act from engaging in politics unless they are of Cabinet or Little Cabinet rank.

Why Farmers Gripe

The activities of Mr. Carl O. Hanson are highly important not merely because of irregularity in Benson's Argiculture Department but because they throw light on one reason why farmers are so sore at the Secretary of Agriculture. They recognize that he has very difficult crop-surplus problems, and they would be more sympathetic with crop surpluses if it were not for the manner in which Benson's officials have spent their time politicking and helping big companies rather than small farmers.

For instance, Secretary Benson himself, on Oct. 9, 1954, personally and publicly demanded the defeat of Sen. James Murray of Montana and the election of GOP Congressman Wesley D'Ewart. Immediately Benson's boys in the Agriculture Department took the cue and went into high gear—not for the farmer and his difficult problems, but for Candidate D'Ewart.

This was during the tragic drought of 1954. Despite that, Farmers' Home Director Hanson made more than 100 long-distance calls for private or political purposes and allowed them to be charged up to the taxpayer. This column has obtained a record of Hanson's supposedly official phone calls at that time, and they show that he even phoned D'Ewart at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel in Honolulu, Dec. 16, 1954. Cost to the taxpayer: $15. This incidentally was after D'Ewart was defeated.

It was also at a time when Hanson should have been working his head off to help farmers borrow money to meet the drought disaster.

Wool-Buying

Instead, he was employing persons whose services he used for unofficial and political purposes, including his personal and private business. John Costello, appointed by Hanson, acted as chauffeur and errant boy, including wool-purchase duties for Hanson. Darrell Coover, appointed by Hanson, served for one month, not on FHA business, but purely as a political organizer.

Mrs. Katherine Carter, Hanson's private secretary, reported that on some days she "wrote as many as fourteen letters not pertaining to FHA official business."

The personal letters she wrote for him on office time included letters "to Mr. Malcolm Green, President, Draper Company, Boston, as well as letter to Charles Crist, his radio business partner; and typing wool contracts on FHA time."

Mrs. Carter had quite a difficult time trying to divide her boss's legitimate Government business calls from the personal and political calls and naturally took the common-sense step of asking her boss which was which.

This made Hanson sore and he told her, in effect, to mind her own business.

Miss Kathleen Roche, the secretary who succeeded Mrs. Carter, also had a tough time sorting out Hanson's phone calls. Sometimes calls came in collect from such people as A. P. Davies, lobbyist for the American Meat Institute and Wool Producer Ed McReynolds.

Career Directors Fired

On one occasion after Hanson had placed about 15 long-distance calls to various persons with whom he discussed his wool-buying business, Mrs. Carter asked him how he could get away with private business while in Government service.

Hanson replied that his superiors in Washington knew about his private business and condoned it, and that his wool-buying netted him three times as much as his Government salary.

Another man Hanson used to call long distance was Martin Littleton, ex-attorney for Frankie Costello, king of the gambling underworld. Littleton was then a radio-TV speaker for Candidate D'Ewart. Other calls went to Al Schlaht, D'Ewart's campaign manager and publisher of the Billings Yellowstone News; also Bill McKay, head of the Montana Republican Committee.

What makes the farmers' blood boil is that the state directors of the Farmers' Home Administration under Charley Brannan, all career Civil Service men, were ousted by Benson. They had kept out of politics, concentrated on the problem of helping farmers.

Benson, however, removed their Civil Service standing which made them open to firing. The Supreme Court, later, ruled that this technique was illegal and Benson had to hire these men back.

In addition, Secretary Benson had to pay $100,000 out of taxpayers' money to make up the back salaries of FHA state directors whom he fired. Meanwhile, he has been paying out Government money to his own politically minded state directors like Carl O. Hanson who seems more interested in continuing his own wool-buying and violating the Hatch Act than in helping small farmers.

It's The End Of Stalin But His Goals Are There

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

In the Soviet Union, the truth about Stalin is now being told with a vengeance, and even rather vengefully.

It is difficult to imagine a more macabre scene than the special session of the Communist Party Congress at which Nikita Kruschev made the astonishing speech that has now leaked out. Here were the heirs of Stalin, and all the higher managers of the iron system that he formed. Here, on the platform itself, were not a few whose hands were deeply stained with the blood Stalin shed.

Innocent Victims

Here, at the speaker's stand, was the stocky, outwardly jolly little man whom Stalin personally chose to preside over the ruthless massacres that reduced the restive Ukraine to the final subjection after the war. And this little man was saying the unsayable, mentioning the unmentionable, speaking about the unspeakable — pouring out all the long tale of Stalin's purges in the army and purges in the party, of Stalin's secret assassinations and encouraged suicides, of Stalin's plots and counterplots, of Stalin's sadism and negalomania.

And he was saying, furthermore, that almost all of Stalin's victims, who were also the victims remember, of the same iron system Nikita Khruschev now directs, had after all been innocent of any crimes. And so the memories were honored of those same "criminal beasts" whom Nikita Khruschev and every other man on the platform and in the hall had so loudly reviled, when they fell under the displeasure of the old dictator and were thus condemned to die.

If the reports of Khruschev's speech are correct, in truth, this scene at the party congress must have reached the heights of sordid drama of those scenes in the Roman Senate, after the death of one of the tyrant emperors, for which the great Tacitus always dipped his historian's pen in acid of double strength.

Embittered By Humiliation

The magnates of the empire, living in fear no longer, would hurry to celebrate the tyrant's passing. Days or even hours before, they had prostrated themselves before the dead man to lick the dust from his shoes, and they had hastened to obey his most sanguinary whims. But now they would draw their purple-bordered togas close about them in a brave show of righteous indignation. And one by one, they would bitterly denounce the crimes they had formerly applauded, and boldly heap blame on the dead for the crimes they had themselves committed.

Thus far back in history one must go to find an adequate parallel for the scene at the party congress. But the question remains, just what does this scene mean to us?

A simple answer is given by George F. Kennan, the student of the Soviet Union whose judgment has most often been sustained by events, it means, he says, "That a morbid monster has now been replaced by jolly gangsters." In Kennan's opinion, Stalin was one of those whom the corruption of aboslute power deprived of common humanity, without, alas, depriving him of uncommon ability. His successors are products of the Stalin system, but they are not inhuman; they are embittered by all the humiliations that Stalin made them suffer; and in a sense they mean what they are saying about him.

For the people of the Soviet Union, this new tincture of humanity among their rulers no doubt promises somewhat better days. The terror is over. It is not likely to be re-inaugurated either, although the instruments of terror still persist, because the great post-war rise of Soviet national income has now given the Soviet peoples a standard of living high enough so terror is needless.

Stalin's Goals Unaltered

At the same time, the true priorities in the Soviet state were strongly re-emphasized at this same party congress by none other than Georgi Malenkov, whose complicity in Stalin's plots is now a source of great personal danger. As premier, Malenkov had advocated more consumer's goods to gain support for his failing power. As a beaten man in the power race, Malenkov confessed his former error. Under orders, he promulgated the still-standing rule of the Soviet Presidium, that the needs of the Russian people must be wholly subordinated to the needs of the State's heavy and military industry.

The Malenkov speech, in turn, is the real key to the riddle, it is the ugly answer to the complacency-mongers who say the Soviet Union has changed, and so the West may now disarm, and go to sleep. It shows that the new Soviet rulers have abandoned Stalin's ways, but they have not altered Stalin's priorities or forgotten his goals.

Of course the Soviet has changed. So did Rome change when Claudius replaced the mad Caligula, and Vespasion won Nero's purple. The good emperors were certainly better than the bad emperors. But alas they were not better for Rome's neighbors. A considerable part of the "meditations" of Marcus Aurelius was written in the field, in a general's tent by night, in the camps of the legions. And the Romanians of our own day owe the language they still speak to the philosopher-emperor's career as a stern conqueror. Khruschev is no philosopher-ruler, but once again the parallel fits.

How It Happened

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Arthur "Bugs" Baer is the originator of some of America's most-often-repeated sayings. In the absence of his regular column—"Baering Down On the News"—because of his illness, The Cumberland News is presenting Baer's own explanations of how he came to coin some of the more famous of his sayings.

"They had to burn down the schoolhouse to get me out of the second grade."

Doug Fairbanks Sr. told me that a laugh in a subtitle was worth $1,000 in the old silent days.

The gag "They had to burn down the schoolhouse to get me out of the second grade" must have earned a lot of money for people I never met.

I had incorporated it in a monologue when I went into vaudeville 30 years ago, agented by my old pals Harry Fitzgerald, Rube Bernstein and Emmett Callahan. The last two gentlemen being husbands of eminent strippeuses-danceuses Hinda Wassau and Ann Corio.

Very often when I walked out on the stage I discovered I was a quartet, as all my agents made sure I was working so they could borrow the money.

I propositioned Harry Fitzgerald that he could take my salary if he would give me the 10 per cent. He got out a pad and pencil, figured out his borrowing, payments, et scattera, and finally looked up and said: "No."

Along with "They had to burn down the schoolhouse to get me out of the second grade" I also interpolated the morose observation that I was 35 years old before I discovered the teacher had held out half the alphabet on me.

Bad Medicine?

By Bob Considine

NEW YORK (INS) — The last Democratic Premier of Poland, Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, now in busy exile in the U. S., points out a gruesome coincidence in connection with the death last week in Moscow of the Communist boss of Poland, Boleslaw Bierut.

Bierut died while under the care of Soviet doctors not long after praising Stalin in an article that was published in Pravda. Bulgaria's top Commie, Dimitrov, conked out after undergoing similar medical treatment in Moscow. His wife was not permitted to see him before his death. Czechoslovakia's Red President Gottwald also croaked while under the loving care of Soviet doctors.

One Dissenter

At the height of public interest in brainwashed former American prisoners of war, several old generals and admirals informed this writer that they would have killed themselves rather than sign false confessions.

Well, one of the most distinguished U. S. military figures tends to dissent. General Maxwell Taylor, Army Chief of Staff, says in effect that no soldier can predict how he would react until actually faced by the sadistic pressures. It is General Taylor's idea that the Army must build men of tougher morale, since these are the new rules of war. The only way the Army can do this is with the aid of parents and teachers, he says. After all, they get the potential military men before the armed services can have a whack at them.

A valuable textbook in this grim field is on the spring list of Farrar, Straus, and Cudahy. It is Edward Hunter's "Brainwashing — The Story of Men Who Defied It." Hunter is a famed foreign correspondent who interviewed dozens of men in Hong Kong after they had been released by the Chinese Reds. A lot of Americans did not break. Hunter will tell just how they weathered utterly inhuman treatment.

I think John Daly, Dorothy Kilgallen, Steve Allen, Arlene Francis, and Bennett Cerf did a wonderful job on "What's My Line?" Sunday night. Their incomparable colleague Fred Allen's death would have stumped a lesser panel or dunked it into torrents of bathos. These adult and articulate people dealt with Fred's death in terms which the master himself would have approved. There was not one suggestion of the maudlin, but one knew full well at the end of the program just how deeply touched were these people who had had the honor of working with a great man.

First Shopping Center

The largest ancient building ever reconstructed is taking graceful shape in Athens. Stoa of Attalos, when completed, will house all the finds of the American School of Classical Studies whose professors are now grubbing in the Agora of Athens. This was the ancient market place where what we know as Democracy was born.

It might have been the first shopping center, too. Socrates preached, was tried, and sentenced to death in this area. Zeno taught Stoicism, the philosophy that took its name from the Stoa, or building. St. Paul held forth in this place.

Prime mover behind this important work, which will be viewed by travellers for several thousand years to come, is Ward M. Canaday, former head of Willys-Overland. Canaday gave the world the Jeep, which in its way will also be remembered. Now head of a big investment firm, Canaday serves also as president of the board of trustees of the American School of Classical Studies. Among other officers are John J. McCloy, former High Commissioner for Germany, Arthur V. Davis, of the Mellon interests, and John Nicholas Brown, wealthy realtor and authority on bygone civilizations. John D. Rockefeller Jr. contributed a million dollars to this work. Some 75 American universities are cooperating.

The Greeks had an interesting defense budget, by the way. Anybody who was specifically taxed to pay for the Athenian Navy paid no other taxes. Captains of ships were responsible for "masts and all movable material." If any such item was swept overboard or otherwise misplaced, the captains had to foot the bills. Can you imagine the skipper of the USS Forrestal replacing the flight deck out of his pay?

Allergic Reaction To Cow's Milk Among Infants

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deilen

Allergy to cow's milk is blamed for more symptoms in babies than there are dairies in the United States. Topping the list are diarrhea, eczema, hives, colic, vomiting, and belching. Old Bess is suspected also when the little tyke refuses to eat, sneezes, itches, rubs the nose, wets the bed, or has a convulsion.

But this is only the beginning. Milk also has been made the culprit in bleeding tendencies, pallor about the mouth, loss of appetite, cough, croup, and headache. Child psychiatrists and allergists have traced behavior problems, irritability, crying, and screaming to sensitivity to milk.

Up to this point, many mothers wonder how their youngsters survived supplementary feedings with cow's milk. Actually, sensitivity is not common but the condition is capable of manifesting itself in a number of ways. Most victims develop eczema, colic, or diarrhea whereas the other symptoms mentioned are unusual.

The Toronto pediatrician, Dr. C. Collins-Williams, found nine proved cases among 3,000 children excluding youngsters who were referred to him because of allergy. Included were patients who had been switched from regular to evaporated milk, which is well tolerated.

Many of these boys and girls would have developed allergies had they continued with cow's milk. Some of the babies in this series were breastfed. At any rate, Dr. Collins-Williams concluded milk allergy is common enough to consider whenever gastrointestinal or other symptoms, develop after drinking it.

The problem is easy to solve because diarrhea, colic, and eczema disappear within a few days after the formula is changed to soybean milk. When cow's milk is added to the diet a month later, and the same symptoms reappear, there can be no doubt as to the cause. This is the best test for allergy to milk.

Several months ago we reported on a different aspect of this problem. A child born into a family where one or both parents is allergic stands a 60 per cent chance of following suit. When these infants are fed cow's milk, 64.6 per cent suffer from eczema, hay fever, or asthma by the time they reach age 6.

On the other hand, only 15 per cent of this highly sensitive group develop major allergic diseases when started on soybean milk. This is one way to protect our increasing population of allergic individuals. The less exposure to allergens, the more comfortable they will be.

TOMORROW: The arrest of leprosy.

CALCIUM AND BURSITIS

J. W. writes: Does bursitis have anything to do with calcium deposits?

REPLY

Yes; the two go together like bread and butter. When the bursal tissues are irritated, calcium forms as part of the healing process.

QUICK PNEUMONIA

C. N. writes: What is the quickest way to develop pneumonia?

REPLY

A chemical pneumonia due to inhaling an irritating gas or a strong acid usually develops within a short time. A self-induced bacterial pneumonia would require a drop or two of virulent bacteria from a laboratory. Beyond this, you would be forced to decrease your resistance through overwork or sleeplessness, catch cold, or get drunk and fall into a stupor in a wet gutter on a cold night.

PENICILLIN SENSITIVITY

T. W. writes: Is there a test to tell whether a person is allergic to penicillin before he takes it?

REPLY

Yes—the patch test, for example.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellan will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

When John Annarino reached Japan on a hitch in the U. S. Navy, he was both fascinated and amused by life and customs there. Many of his observations appear in a hilarious book called "When We Get Back Home," with illustrations by Bill Hume (published by Pacific Stars and Stripes).

In advertising for visiting American servicemen and tourists, one Tokyo cabaret proclaims, "1000 of Beautiful Girls . . .Homely atmosphere." Another boasts "No Body Can Find Out More Nice Place Than Our Night Club."

A Japanese tire repair man's sign reads "Specialist in Puncture." A traffic placard warns, "Speed keep strictly." A homeowner has his lawn protected with the warning, "Off grass please be staying away from!"

The Japanese, says Annarino, now sell hot dogs with sake, saddle shoes with kimonos, and the girls are just as apt to make an exit with "Be seein' you, Mister" as "Sayonara, Boy-San."

Sir Anthony And Cyprus Dilemma

Prime Minister Eden of Britain, who has won a vote of confidence in the House of Commons on his government's policies in Cyprus, deserves more sympathy than he is getting, both at home and abroad. Sir Anthony has a bear by the tail in that eastern Mediterranean island, and when a man is in that uncomfortable position there is no truly satisfactory policy he can adopt. He has only a choice of evils.

The Prime Minister was lambasted by his critics for being too easy going when he tried to negotiate patiently with the leaders of the Cypriot rebels. He is being criticized even more fiercely now that he has taken a firm hand to quiet the rebellion. But Americans, Britons and Greeks for that matter might well stop to ask themselves whether they could have come up with a better solution to the dilemma if they had found themselves in a similar position.

Cyprus, as Sir Anthony explained, is Britain's last Middle Eastern base. It is a hinge on which the NATO and Baghdad defense lineups swing. Surrender of the island would seriously weaken the entire Western system from the Mediterranean to the Persian Gulf and leave this whole region with its vast oil resources at the mercy of the Soviet Union.

A more dictatorial government would never have tolerated for a moment the open rebellion, the riots and the killings of British troops that have marred the peace of Cyprus and endangered its security in recent months. The British, with their deep-rooted democratic traditions and their long experience in empire, tried patient persuasion without avail.

When they finally acted they used a minimum of force. They simply transported to another island an archbishop who had misused his office to encourage the terrorists and who had balked all British efforts to set up a system of self-rule in Cyprus.

Could those who criticize the Prime Minister have done better without surrendering this vital island?

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Freedom For Atheists

In "The Cornell Daily Sun," a newspaper published at Cornell University, I came across a letter to the editor written by cowards who withheld their names. A person of conviction does not write anonymous letters. The letter is a plea to allow a "vigorous atheism to flourish in this country."

To me, it is a curious document and I read it several times because I wondered what its authors were batting about. No one goes to jail for being an atheist. It seems that what is troubling those who signed themselves "Names Withheld," is a very practical matter. I shall put it in their own words:

"The atheist is in a rather queer position. 'Testimony under oath,' 'oaths of office,' 'the Pledge of Allegiance,' etc. witness this fact. More than this, atheists still face being labelled 'Communists' if their belief is articulated. What is of more concern now than the examples just mentioned is the promulgation of theistic religiosity that is emanating from Washington. The invocation of the heavenly powers which precedes Cabinet meetings and the continual references to America as a God-fearing country all with the implication that a good American must be a theist is, we are sure, disquieting to a large number of our citizens. For while we are guaranteed freedom of religious worship, we are not guaranteed freedom from religion."

These boys, or they may be girls, or faculty members, are undoubtedly concerned about the oaths that have to be taken in the course of our existence and which may involve perjury. Of course, they have a way out; they can affirm rather than take an oath and I notice that whereas all oaths used to be taken with a hand on a Bible, many are now taken with a hand sticking up in the air.

But it is still an oath to God and if the person, at the moment of taking that oath, has rejected God, his oath is to nothing and is ipso facto a perjury as some judges may decide. This can cause considerable trouble at some time. So I take it that whoever wrote this letter up in Cornell wants all oaths abolished and the Pledge of Allegiance abolished and they object to Cabinet meetings being opened with prayer, which undoubtedly has done the Cabinet much good because such meetings are not now opened with the latest dirty story or bit of raucous gossip which is so usual when grown, hearty men get together.

Furthermore, these atheists do not wish to be labelled as Communists, but they really should not complain. Lenin established atheism as a state religion. The atheists undoubtedly must find comfort in the successes of the Soviet state which is based on a rejection of a mystical deity and the assurance that man is a product of his environment and that the environment, in relationship to historic time, determines morals and ethics among men. Surely, if God is rejected as the Creator, as the Divine Intelligence, then Karl Marx must have been right and why do these Cornell students refuse to join in adoring him and Lenin as the most successful advocates of atheism? If they are not Communists, they should be or they can be accused of inconsistency.

There is another paragraph in this letter that might be quoted:

"The establishment of religion is as much a threat to individual liberty as the establishment of a particular religion. The promulgation of religion by private religious organizations cannot be objected to, but government aid in this field is intolerable."

These persons are at a distinguished university and presumably have had some courses in American history. If not, why not? At any rate, they ought to know by now that most of the American colonies were populated by religious, God-fearing people, who came here to live with God according to their beliefs. Therefore, worship of God, dependence upon God's guidance, prayer to God, are characteristics of American life since the early decades of the Seventeenth Century. So deeply imbedded is this concept that the individualism which is normal among our people and which is expressed in such state documents as the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution is a direct product of the theistic thinking to which they object. If they have not learned that at Cornell, what have they learned about the United States at that university?

"Ah-h-h . . . There's Nothing Like An Open Fire"

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Ezra Taft Benson may not know it, but a conflict-of-interest political blow-up is simmering right under his nose. It involves Carl O. Hanson, state director of the Farmers' Home Administration in Montana.

The Farmers' Home Administration is supposed to spend its entire time on the difficult problem of helping the small farmer. It is supposed to go right into the farmers' homes and aid with their economic problems. Especially, it is supposed to help the small farmer in time of drought. However, there is conclusive evidence that instead of helping small farmers, FHA State Director Hanson has been acting as a wool-buyer for the Draper Company of Boston, also helping direct the affairs of Radio-TV Station KOOK in Billings, and charging up political long-distance calls to the Government.

He was also spending part of his time and some Government money in an abortive effort to elect Wesley D'Ewart to the Senate in violation of the Hatch Act. Government officials are banned by the Hatch Act from engaging in politics unless they are of Cabinet or Little Cabinet rank.

Why Farmers Gripe

The activities of Mr. Carl O. Hanson are highly important not merely because of irregularity in Benson's Argiculture Department but because they throw light on one reason why farmers are so sore at the Secretary of Agriculture. They recognize that he has very difficult crop-surplus problems, and they would be more sympathetic with crop surpluses if it were not for the manner in which Benson's officials have spent their time politicking and helping big companies rather than small farmers.

A simple answer is given by George F. Kennan, the student of the Soviet Union whose judgment has most often been sustained by events, it means, he says, "That a morbid monster has now been replaced by jolly gangsters." In Kennan's opinion, Stalin was one of those whom the corruption of aboslute power deprived of common humanity, without, alas, depriving him of uncommon ability. His successors are products of the Stalin system, but they are not inhuman; they are embittered by all the humiliations that Stalin made them suffer; and in a sense they mean what they are saying about him.

For the people of the Soviet Union, this new tincture of humanity among their rulers no doubt promises somewhat better days. The terror is over. It is not likely to be re-inaugurated either, although the instruments of terror still persist, because the great post-war rise of Soviet national income has now given the Soviet peoples a standard of living high enough so terror is needless.

Stalin's Goals Unaltered

At the same time, the true priorities in the Soviet state were strongly re-emphasized at this same party congress by none other than Georgi Malenkov, whose complicity in Stalin's plots is now a source of great personal danger. As premier, Malenkov had advocated more consumer's goods to gain support for his failing power. As a beaten man in the power race, Malenkov confessed his former error. Under orders, he promulgated the still-standing rule of the Soviet Presidium, that the needs of the Russian people must be wholly subordinated to the needs of the State's heavy and military industry.

The Malenkov speech, in turn, is the real key to the riddle, it is the ugly answer to the complacency-mongers who say the Soviet Union has changed, and so the West may now disarm, and go to sleep. It shows that the new Soviet rulers have abandoned Stalin's ways, but they have not altered Stalin's priorities or forgotten his goals.

Of course the Soviet has changed. So did Rome change when Claudius replaced the mad Caligula, and Vespasion won Nero's purple. The good emperors were certainly better than the bad emperors. But alas they were not better for Rome's neighbors. A considerable part of the "meditations" of Marcus Aurelius was written in the field, in a general's tent by night, in the camps of the legions. And the Romanians of our own day owe the language they still speak to the philosopher-emperor's career as a stern conqueror. Khruschev is no philosopher-ruler, but once again the parallel fits.

How It Happened

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Arthur "Bugs" Baer is the originator of some of America's most-often-repeated sayings. In the absence of his regular column—"Baering Down On the News"—because of his illness, The Cumberland News is presenting Baer's own explanations of how he came to coin some of the more famous of his sayings.

"They had to burn down the schoolhouse to get me out of the second grade."

Doug Fairbanks Sr. told me that a laugh in a subtitle was worth $1,000 in the old silent days.

The gag "They had to burn down the schoolhouse to get me out of the second grade" must have earned a lot of money for people I never met.

I had incorporated it in a monologue when I went into vaudeville 30 years ago, agented by my old pals Harry Fitzgerald, Rube Bernstein and Emmett Callahan. The last two gentlemen being husbands of eminent strippeuses-danceuses Hinda Wassau and Ann Corio.

Very often when I walked out on the stage I discovered I was a quartet, as all my agents made sure I was working so they could borrow the money.

I propositioned Harry Fitzgerald that he could take my salary if he would give me the 10 per cent. He got out a pad and pencil, figured out his borrowing, payments, et scattera, and finally looked up and said: "No."

Along with "They had to burn down the schoolhouse to get me out of the second grade" I also interpolated the morose observation that I was 35 years old before I discovered the teacher had held out half the alphabet on me.

Bad Medicine?

By Bob Considine

NEW YORK (INS) — The last Demcoratic Premier of Poland, Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, now in busy exile in the U. S., points out a gruesome coincidence in connection with the death last week in Moscow of the Communist boss of Poland, Boleslaw Bierut.

Bierut died while under the care of Soviet doctors not long after praising Stalin in an article that was published in Pravda. Bulgaria's top Commie, Dimitrov, conked out after undergoing similar medical treatment in Moscow. His wife was not permitted to see him before his death. Czechoslovakia's Red President Gottwald also croaked while under the loving care of Soviet doctors.

One Dissenter

At the height of public interest in brainwashed former American prisoners of war, several old generals and admirals informed this writer that they would have killed themselves rather than sign false confessions.

Well, one of the most distinguished U. S. military figures tends to dissent. General Maxwell Taylor, Army Chief of Staff, says in effect that no soldier can predict how he would react until actually faced by the sadistic pressures. It is General Taylor's idea that the Army must build men of tougher morale, since these are the new rules of war. The only way the Army can do this is with the aid of parents and teachers, he says. After all, they get the potential military men before the armed services can have a whack at them.

A valuable textbook in this grim field is on the spring list of Farrar, Straus, and Cudahy. It is Edward Hunter's "Brainwashing — The Story of Men Who Defied It." Hunter is a famed foreign correspondent who interviewed dozens of men in Hong Kong after they had been released by the Chinese Reds. A lot of Americans did not break. Hunter will tell just how they weathered utterly inhuman treatment.

I think John Daly, Dorothy Kilgallen, Steve Allen, Arlene Francis, and Bennett Cerf did a wonderful job on "What's My Line?" Sunday night. Their incomparable colleague Fred Allen's death would have stumped a lesser panel or dunked it into torrents of bathos. These adult and articulate people dealt with Fred's death in terms which the master himself would have approved. There was not one suggestion of the maudlin, but one knew full well at the end of the program just how deeply touched were these people who had had the honor of working with a great man.

First Shopping Center

The largest ancient building ever reconstructed is taking graceful shape in Athens. Stoa of Attalos, when completed, will house all the finds of the American School of Classical Studies whose professors are now grubbing in the Agora of Athens. This was the ancient market place where what we know as Democracy was born.

It might have been the first shopping center, too. Socrates preached, was tried, and sentenced to death in this area. Zeno taught Stoicism, the philosophy that took its name from the Stoa, or building. St. Paul held forth in this place.

Prime mover behind this important work, which will be viewed by travellers for several thousand years to come, is Ward M. Canaday, former head of Willys-Overland. Canaday gave the world the Jeep, which in its way will also be remembered. Now head of a big investment firm, Canaday serves also as president of the board of trustees of the American School of Classical Studies. Among other officers are John J. McCloy, former High Commissioner for Germany, Arthur V. Davis, of the Mellon interests, and John Nicholas Brown, wealthy realtor and authority on bygone civilizations. John D. Rockefeller Jr. contributed a million dollars to this work. Some 75 American universities are cooperating.

The Greeks had an interesting defense budget, by the way. Anybody who was specifically taxed to pay for the Athenian Navy paid no other taxes. Captains of ships were responsible for "masts and all movable material." If any such item was swept overboard or otherwise misplaced, the captains had to foot the bills. Can you imagine the skipper of the USS Forrestal replacing the flight deck out of his pay?

Allergic Reaction To Cow's Milk Among Infants

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deilen

Allergy to cow's milk is blamed for more symptoms in babies than there are dairies in the United States. Topping the list are diarrhea, eczema, hives, colic, vomiting, and belching. Old Bess is suspected also when the little tyke refuses to eat, sneezes, itches, rubs the nose, wets the bed, or has a convulsion.

But this is only the beginning. Milk also has been made the culprit in bleeding tendencies, pallor about the mouth, loss of appetite, cough, croup, and headache. Child psychiatrists and allergists have traced behavior problems, irritability, crying, and screaming to sensitivity to milk.

Up to this point, many mothers wonder how their youngsters survived supplementary feedings with cow's milk. Actually, sensitivity is not common but the condition is capable of manifesting itself in a number of ways. Most victims develop eczema, colic, or diarrhea whereas the other symptoms mentioned are unusual.

The Toronto pediatrician, Dr. C. Collins-Williams, found nine proved cases among 3,000 children excluding youngsters who were referred to him because of allergy. Included were patients who had been switched from regular to evaporated milk, which is well tolerated.

Many of these boys and girls would have developed allergies had they continued with cow's milk. Some of the babies in this series were breastfed. At any rate, Dr. Collins-Williams concluded milk allergy is common enough to consider whenever gastrointestinal or other symptoms, develop after drinking it.

The problem is easy to solve because diarrhea, colic, and eczema disappear within a few days after the formula is changed to soybean milk. When cow's milk is added to the diet a month later, and the same symptoms reappear, there can be no doubt as to the cause. This is the best test for allergy to milk.

Several months ago we reported on a different aspect of this problem. A child born into a family where one or both parents is allergic stands a 60 per cent chance of following suit. When these infants are fed cow's milk, 64.6 per cent suffer from eczema, hay fever, or asthma by the time they reach age 6.

On the other hand, only 15 per cent of this highly sensitive group develop major allergic diseases when started on soybean milk. This is one way to protect our increasing population of allergic individuals. The less exposure to allergens, the more comfortable they will be.

CALCIUM AND BURSITIS

J. W. writes: Does bursitis have anything to do with calcium deposits?

REPLY

Yes; the two go together like bread and butter. When the bursal tissues are irritated, calcium forms as part of the healing process.

QUICK PNEUMONIA

C. N. writes: What is the quickest way to develop pneumonia?

REPLY

A chemical pneumonia due to inhaling an irritating gas or a strong acid usually develops within a short time. A self-induced bacterial pneumonia would require a drop or two of virulent bacteria from a laboratory. Beyond this, you would be forced to decrease your resistance through overwork or sleeplessness, catch cold, or get drunk and fall into a stupor in a wet gutter on a cold night.

PENICILLIN SENSITIVITY

T. W. writes: Is there a test to tell whether a person is allergic to penicillin before he takes it?

REPLY

Yes—the patch test, for example.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellan will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

When John Annarino reached Japan on a hitch in the U. S. Navy, he was both fascinated and amused by life and customs there. Many of his observations appear in a hilarious book called "When We Get Back Home," with illustrations by Bill Hume (published by Pacific Stars and Stripes).

In advertising for visiting American servicemen and tourists, one Tokyo cabaret proclaims, "1000 of Beautiful Girls . . .Homely atmosphere." Another boasts "No Body Can Find Out More Nice Place Than Our Night Club."

A Japanese tire repair man's sign reads "Specialist in Puncture." A traffic placard warns, "Speed keep strictly." A homeowner has his lawn protected with the warning, "Off grass please be staying away from!"

The Japanese, says Annarino, now sell hot dogs with sake, saddle shoes with kimonos, and the girls are just as apt to make an exit with "Be seein' you, Mister" as "Sayonara, Boy-San."

Women Voters Must Tell True Age When Registering

Women who register to vote must now tell their ages.

This is one of the new election law features learned by two members of the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors when they attended a refresher course for county election officials in Annapolis Monday.

William A. Wilson, board president, and Mathew J. Mullaney, board member, pointed out that formerly a woman registering had only to say she was "over 21."

But the law today states the woman voter must present her true age.

Wilson said he and Mullaney checked various methods other county election boards have used in operating their voting machines.

The county will use the system of Anne Arundel County where voters of any last name initial may use any machine.

In Montgomery County, for instance, at polling places there will be machines for people whose names are A-K, and others for those, L-Z. The Anne Arundel system was found to be the most suitable.

Wilson also said Allegany County poll workers are ahead of other counties in schooling in the use of voting machines.

He said the county board is well satisfied this county's poll workers will be able to conduct the May 7 primary, the first with voting machines.

Assistant Attorney General David Kauffman of LaVale told the 35 representatives of various county election boards who braved the bad weather that all Maryland counties, with one possible exception, will have voting machines.

Under a law passed in the 1955 General Assembly, all counties must have the devices by the November general election. But Kauffman said all but Garrett will have them by the May 7 primary.

Garrett officials haven't decided yet what type of machine they will use, he added.

The various technical problems encountered in changing over from paper ballots to voting machines occupied most of the discussion.

Also discussed was a change in the absentee voting law which was made last month by the General Assembly. It permits Maryland civilians as well as servicemen to vote by mail when they are out of the state on election day.

When the meeting broke up, one question still under discussion was whether illiterate persons should be allowed to register, if they should be allowed to vote if they are registered, and if so, whether they should be permitted to take someone into the voting booth with them.

The meeting was called by Secretary of State Blanchard Randall.

Dayton And St. Joseph's Score In NIT Quarter Finals

Flyers Defeat Xavier, Ohio, Cagers, 72-68

Philadelphia Whips Seton Hall, 74-65, In Garden Opener

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK, March 20 (AP) — Al Sicking, tabbed as the nation's best substitute center, pulled Dayton's Flyers back from the brink of defeat tonight, then the man he replaced, Bill Uhl, returned to score the deciding points in a 72-68 victory over a pesky Xavier (Ohio) team.

Dayton's hard won victory followed a 74-65 victory for St. Joseph's of Philadelphia over Seton Hall in quarter-final games of the National Invitation Tournament.

The semi-finals Thursday will send St. Joseph's, the third-seeded team against Louisville, No. 2 and Dayton, No. 1, against unseeded but scrappy little St. Francis of Brooklyn.

11,231 See Thriller

An excited crowd of 11,231 in Madison Square Garden almost saw Dayton, rated as the nation's No. 2 team this season in the Associated Press final poll, go down to defeat before a team it had whipped twice this season.

Xavier, full of speed and fire after one of its top players, Dave Piontek, had been sent home for a violation of training rules, got off ahead and refused to yield to Dayton's superior height.

With their two biggest men, Frank Tartarok and Hank Schmidt, double teaming the 7-foot Uhl the Flyers looked futile in the first half and trailed 32-29 at the intermission. When Xavier went nine points in front 44-35 in the early minutes of the second half, Dayton Coach Tommy Blackburn took the rather desperate measure of benching Uhl for Sicking, who is ½ foot shorter but moves a lot better. The move paid off.

Sicking Ties Score

Sicking came through with a 3-point play that left Dayton only a point behind. Then, moments later, he scored five in a row to tie it up at 48 at the eight minute mark. From there on they traded points in a finish that provided plenty of excitement for a crowd that found the slip shod play of the other rather uninteresting.

Sicking, with 14 points in the second half, was second highest Dayton scorer. More important Xavier's Schmidt fouled out trying to stop him, and Tartarron got only two of his 16 points in the second half. High man was Xavier's Schneider with 18 points. Olympic candidate Jim Paxson made 16 for Dayton.

In the first game, Mike Fallon guarded highly touted Dick Gaines into a state of frenzied frustration and along with Ray Radziszewski and Al Juliana paced St. Joseph's on a second half splurge that beat Seton Hall.

St. Joseph's strong points were a collapsing defense, which forced the Pirates to hurry their shots and fire from the outside, and its ability to control the boards. Seton Hall's main weakness was its inability to convert free throws.

Gaines Throttled

Gaines, regarded as one of the metropolitan district's finest all around players couldn't buy a basket. He made a field goal in the seventh minute of the first half, his second in the 12th minute of the second half and a third after the game was lost. But he sank 10 free throws for a 16-point output.

Radziszewski racked up six field goals in the second half as St. Joseph's, trailing 36-35 at half time, spurted into the lead with 12 straight points in the first six minutes. Juliana scored 17 points for St. Joseph's, the Philadelphia city champions, to share scoring honors for the game with Seton Hall's Richie Long.

Real Rooter

NORTH MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP)—No basketball team ever had a more enthusiastic rooter than Mrs. Bob Morris, wife of the North Muskegon High School team coach.

CRAWFORD WINS TROPHY—James Crawford, backfield star of Fort Hill High School's 1955 football team, was presented the James H. Hipsley Memorial Trophy at the annual dinner of the Fort Hill Boosters Club, honoring the school's teams, last night at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. Crawford was voted the outstanding senior on the grid team. He is the seventh winner of the Hipsley Trophy. Pictured above, left to right, James Crawford, Coach William P. Jim Crawford Wins Hipsley Award At Ft. Hill Banquet

175 Attend Affair; "Rip" Engle Lauds Competitive Athletics

James "Ernie" Crawford, Fort Hill High's all-state halfback was the recipient of the seventh James H. Hipsley Memorial Award, given annually to the outstanding Sentinel gridder, at last night's Fort Hill Booster Club banquet.

The presentation of the award was the highlight of the annual affair at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club which honored all Fort Hill athletic teams and cheerleaders.

Principal Victor D. Heisey announced the winner and presented Crawford with the symbolic trophy. His name will be inscribed on a permanent trophy which is on display in the school.

Engle Is Main Speaker

Main speaker for the affair was Charles "Rip" Engle, head football coach at Penn State University. Engle, a native of Salisbury, Pa., pointed out that he was renewing many old friendships, as he played with and against many Cumberlanders, both in his high school and college days.

In his talk, he stated that there was much more to athletics than just wining and losing. He said that it was the duty of the American people to defend and preserve athletics, as it was the basis for competitive spirit, and that this spirit is the backbone of our country.

He noted, in a survey that was taken recently by several large corporations throughout the country, that the four main reasons for people losing their jobs were carelessness, laziness, dishonesty, and the inability to get along with others. Engle said that participation in competitive athletics is one of the best known ways to overcome these faults.

Competition Raises Morale

In conclusion, Engle stated that the lower our competitive spirit is allowed to go, the lower the morale of our country will sink.

Crawford, in rounding out his third year as a regular for Coach Bill Hahn, was one of the Sentinel co-captains. He was picked on both the all-city and all-state squads and gained honorable mention on the All-American high school team. "Ernie" will continue his football at the University of Miami (Fla.).

Hahn, in a brief talk, outlined the past football season, and stated that his 1955 team was a great surprise to him. He said he expected to win only a few games with the material he had, adding however, that this group of boys was the type which would not take a losing season, and played good ball all year.

Introduces Co-Captains

At the conclusion of his talk, Hahn introduced the football co-captains, Ron Shaffer and Crawford; the remainder of the football squad, and his track team.

Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh gave a brief sketch of the 1955-56 basketball season, and expressed his desire to have another championship baseball team this spring. Last year, his diamond squad lost only two games in taking the City and Bi-State titles, and Cavanaugh pointed out that he had a veteran squad returning.

He also introduced basketball co-captains Galen McGregor and Clarence "Pooch" Lewis, and baseball co-captains Ed McKenney and Ed Parsons, along with both squads.

Mrs. Henrietta Snyder, girls basketball and volleyball coach, introduced the players on her teams and gave a rundown of the past girls season. Mrs. Snyder, whose basketball teams have gone undefeated over the past two seasons, was presented a trophy by captain Carol Kline.

Others Are Introduced

Others introduced to the group were assistant coaches Wayne Boor, Joe Pellerzi, and Bill Kirk; Mayor Roy W. Eves; Superintendent of Schools, Ralph R. Webster; Clifton E. Fuller, first quarterback for the University of Maryland, back in 1892; and Arthur S, Davis, Jr., a faculty member at Fort Hill.

John J. Long, City Finance Commissioner, was toastmaster for the affair.

Carter Defeats Bob Satterfield

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 20 (AP)—Harold Carter, 194-pound Newark, N. J., fighter, punched out a unanimous 10-round decision over Bob Satterfield, 183, Chicago, tonight at Miami Beach Auditorium.

Carter, 7 to 5 favorite before the fight, pressed a body attack throughout the fight, meanwhile soaking up without apparent harm the worst punches Satterfield could throw.

The two fought to a 10-round draw here three weeks ago.

Satterfield connected with his authoritative right in the seventh and tenth rounds but Carter shrugged them off and concentrated on his punishing body attack. There were no knockdowns.

Carter, 21, has lost only one fight in his 18 professional matches.

Spahn Slugs, Too

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—Like all pitchers, Warren Spahn of the Braves prefers to talk about his hitting rather than his hurling. And he has good reason for it. The slim southpaw has hit a home run in every National League ball park. The last in the cycle was hit last year at Busch Stadium in St. Louis.

Boxer Testifies He Was Ordered To Take "Dive"

Committee Hears Tommy Campbell

LOS ANGELES, March 20 (AP) — Former lightweight boxer Tommy Campbell testified before the governor's special investigating committee on boxing today that he was to throw three fights, one to Art Aragon here and the other two to Del Flanagan in Minnesota.

He lost by a knockout to Aragon on May 16, 1950, but beat Flanagan on June 21, 1951, and drew in a rematch on July 19, 1951.

Aragon is the biggest drawing card in Los Angeles boxing and Flanagan has been a favorite in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area.

Campbell, who fought out of Rock Island, Ill., followed Babe McCoy, fight promoter of Los Angeles' Olympic Auditorium, to the witness stand. Campbell testified McCoy gave him instructions in both the Aragon and Flanagan instances.

While McCoy was on the stand he denied telling Campbell to "take a dive" in the Aragon bout, denied he told Campbell how to fight Flanagan, and denied he intended to promote an Aragon-Flanagan bout following the Campbell-Flanagan fight.

About the Aragon fight, Campbell testified:

"The deal was arranged by George Moore, my manager, and Babe McCoy in a meeting shortly before the bout."

Earlier he had said, "We got the Aragon fight after McCoy told me I could have a good pay day if I promised to lose."

Campbell testified that shortly before the fight he told his manager, "We don't have to lose. Let's try to beat them."

Aragon knocked him out in the third round. Purses were held up until a hearing, at which Campbell said there was no collusion. Asked whether he was telling the truth then, at the hearing, or now, Campbell said: "Now."

Piedmont Enters Ninth State Cage Tourney Friday

Piedmont High School will be participating in a West Virginia state championship basketball tournament for the ninth time when it faces Pax High School in a Class "B" semi-final Friday afternoon at West Virginia University.

The inception of state tournaments dates back to 1914 but there was only a two-team playoff that year and Elkins trounced Wheeling, 82-13.

Piedmont made its bow in 1915 when there were 15 teams entered. The Lions were eliminiated in the first round, however, by Salem, 27-14.

In those days there was no classification of schools and it was a come-one, come-all affair at Buckhannon.

Piedmont was among the 24 schools that figured in the 1916 tourney and was knocked out in the second round by Parkersburg, 46-14.

In 1917 and 1918 the Lions lost out each year in the opening round. The following year, however, Piedmont won the opener from Keyser, 25-21, but was ushered out by Wheeling, 29-17.

Seven years elapsed before a quint from the foot of the "seventeen mile grade" returned to the state event and dropped the opener to Charleston, 33-7 in 1927. The Lions advanced to the second round in 1928 before being eliminated by Shinnston, 53-32.

Piedmont's eighth trip was recorded in 1954 and the school's first state finalist bowed to Pax, 63-54. That was the only time Pax got into the state title tourney.

Cardinals Snap Yank Win String

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 20 (AP) — The five-game winning streak of the New York Yankees was stopped today when the St. Louis Cardinals edged them 3-2 on an unearned run.

Johnny Kucks, starter and loser, for the Yanks, made two errors which helped the Redbirds score.

The Yankees were held to five hits by three St. Louis pitchers, one of the blows a 450-foot homer by Mickey Mantle, the slugger's fourth and the club's 11th of the spring. That came in the sixth and was the first of two hits permitted by Larry Jackson in four innings.

Rhodes Hits Two Homers As Giants Trim Orioles, 9-5

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 20 (AP) — Dusty Rhodes smashed two home runs and a double today to help the New York Giants snap a four-game losing streak with a 9-5 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

There were two other homers in the game, by shortstop Eddie Bressoud of the Giants and second baseman Don Leppert of the Orioles.

The Giants collected a total of 12 hits off four Baltimore pitchers, with rookie Rinold Duren, who worked the first four innings, being charged with the defeat.

Aragon is the biggest drawing card in Los Angeles boxing and Flanagan has been a favorite in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area.

Campbell, who fought out of Rock Island, Ill., followed Babe McCoy, fight promoter of Los Angeles' Olympic Auditorium, to the witness stand. Campbell testified McCoy gave him instructions in both the Aragon and Flanagan instances.

While McCoy was on the stand he denied telling Campbell to "take a dive" in the Aragon bout, denied he told Campbell how to fight Flanagan, and denied he intended to promote an Aragon-Flanagan bout following the Campbell-Flanagan fight.

About the Aragon fight, Campbell testified:

"The deal was arranged by George Moore, my manager, and Babe McCoy in a meeting shortly before the bout."

Earlier he had said, "We got the Aragon fight after McCoy told me I could have a good pay day if I promised to lose."

Campbell testified that shortly before the fight he told his manager, "We don't have to lose. Let's try to beat them."

Aragon knocked him out in the third round. Purses were held up until a hearing, at which Campbell said there was no collusion. Asked whether he was telling the truth then, at the hearing, or now, Campbell said: "Now."

Piedmont Enters Ninth State Cage Tourney Friday

Piedmont High School will be participating in a West Virginia state championship basketball tournament for the ninth time when it faces Pax High School in a Class "B" semi-final Friday afternoon at West Virginia University.

The inception of state tournaments dates back to 1914 but there was only a two-team playoff that year and Elkins trounced Wheeling, 82-13.

Piedmont made its bow in 1915 when there were 15 teams entered. The Lions were eliminiated in the first round, however, by Salem, 27-14.

In those days there was no classification of schools and it was a come-one, come-all affair at Buckhannon.

Piedmont was among the 24 schools that figured in the 1916 tourney and was knocked out in the second round by Parkersburg, 46-14.

In 1917 and 1918 the Lions lost out each year in the opening round. The following year, however, Piedmont won the opener from Keyser, 25-21, but was ushered out by Wheeling, 29-17.

Seven years elapsed before a quint from the foot of the "seventeen mile grade" returned to the state event and dropped the opener to Charleston, 33-7 in 1927. The Lions advanced to the second round in 1928 before being eliminated by Shinnston, 53-32.

Piedmont's eighth trip was recorded in 1954 and the school's first state finalist bowed to Pax, 63-54. That was the only time Pax got into the state title tourney.

Cardinals Snap Yank Win String

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 20 (AP) — The five-game winning streak of the New York Yankees was stopped today when the St. Louis Cardinals edged them 3-2 on an unearned run.

Johnny Kucks, starter and loser, for the Yanks, made two errors which helped the Redbirds score.

The Yankees were held to five hits by three St. Louis pitchers, one of the blows a 450-foot homer by Mickey Mantle, the slugger's fourth and the club's 11th of the spring. That came in the sixth and was the first of two hits permitted by Larry Jackson in four innings.

Rhodes Hits Two Homers As Giants Trim Orioles, 9-5

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 20 (AP) — Dusty Rhodes smashed two home runs and a double today to help the New York Giants snap a four-game losing streak with a 9-5 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

There were two other homers in the game, by shortstop Eddie Bressoud of the Giants and second baseman Don Leppert of the Orioles.

Physical Fitness Is Stressed By LaFond At LaSalle Dinner

Davies Talks On Polar Regions; 200 Attend; 76 Letters Presented

Physical fitness programs to keep our youth from going "soft" was the theme of a 15-minute talk given by Eddie LaFond, athletic director of the Catholic University of America, before a gathering of 200 persons at the annual awards dinner of LaSalle High School last night at SS. Peter and Paul Hall.

The speaker, an all-around athlete in his high school and college days, said he was very much concerned over the tragic picture painted in a magazine article relative to "How We Spend Our Time."

LaFond stated that the breakdown was as follows :

Physical education, 2 per cent; miscellaneous, 10 per cent; dressing, 5 per cent; school bus, 5 per cent; Television, 20 per cent; home work, 20 per cent; meals, 10 per cent; classes, 20 per cent, and sleep, 38 per cent.

The C. U. boxing coach stressed the point that 38 per cent of the boys who entered a physical fitness program in college couldn't swim a stroke and a majority of them couldn't chin themselves one time. He added that government officials expressed some concern of this sad state of affairs but as yet they have done nothing to correct it.

It's Not So Funny

"We are living in a push button age of TV development," he declared. "That may sound funny in a sense but it's not so funny after all."

"I wonder what has happened to the morning exercises people used to take?" he asked. He recommended a short workout every day for boys and assured that they will notice a difference in two weeks' time. Eddie told of taking a boy who was 6 feet, 3 inches tall, weighing 127 pounds, and putting him through a course of exercises to develop his body. He started with the youngster last fall and now the lad tips the beam at 154. "I expect to make a 200-pounder out of him," LaFond declared.

LaFond said that car-driving and watching TV were the worst enemies of the physical fitness program.

"I know a lot of you boys are athletes and don't fit into that category but those that do should go to work, get themselves in condition and be prepared for what must come," Eddie concluded.

Letter Winners Named

Following LaFond's talk, coaches of the various teams read the names of letter winners in the various sports. In the place of Norman F. Geatz, Jr., head football mentor, who is in Hot Springs, Va., on business, Don Harden, assistant, called the names of the 21 gridders. Brother Charles named the nine basketball and eight baseball players, and Coach George Geatz, basketball coach, who was granted 'leave" by the hospital to attend the dinner, thanked his boys for the way they hustled and hoped the team "does better next season." Members of the staff of "The Torch," school publication, who earned letters were called by Brother Benedict and the members of the Christian Brothers Rifle League championship team were named by Coach James Miller.

Five cheer leaders and three members of the stage crew were called by Brother Thomas, athletic director, who also presented all the letters.

William E. Davies, assistant chief, Military Geology Branch, U. S. Geological Survey, Washington, D. C., was the second speaker on the program, told of his explorations in the Polar regions.

Davies pointed out that in view of the fact that many young men who enter the armed services will be assigned to Greenland or the Antarctic Region the subject would be of special interest to them.

Talks On Polar Regions

"The government is spending thirty-nine million dollars in the Antarctic," the speaker declared. "The area is not colonized or civilized. It is claimed by a number of nations. They all claim a hunk of it and we got the hunk the others can't get to. The Antarctic is twice as big as the United States. While there is nothing but snow and ice in the Antarctic we are not exploring it to obtain enough ice cubes for cocktails, as some people might think."

Davies said the South Pole is 10,000 feet high and the big problem was landing something with wheels in the snow. One of our big achievements was landing an airplane there on the ice after ten years of failure.

The explorer and author spoke of the series of weather stations that are being established at the North and South Poles. It's 12,000 miles to the Antarctic and it's 40 sailing days. "The armed services are very much interested in the Polar regions and if any of you boys get the opportunity to go there don't miss it," Davies said.

Brother Thomas expressed his gratitude to the mothers who planned and cooked the meal and footed the bill for the affair. He also thanked Brother Paulian, LaSalle principal, for his cooperation throughout the year and stated that as athletic director it is his job to travel from pillar to post to keep everyone satisfied. Bro. Thomas thanked Dr. Ley, Dr. George Fogtman and Dr. Rita Brinker and the press and radio. He stated that out of 100 boys who participated in athletics at LaSalle, 51 were out for football. He also urged more sophomores to become interested in the grid sport.

Dr. Ley Earns Letter

Dr. Leo H. Ley, Jr., who acted as toastmaster, was presented a framed letter along with a photo of the 1955 LaSalle football team, in apreciation of services rendered.

A total of 76 letters were presented.

Father Regis Larkin of Frostburg gave the invocation and Father Gabriel, assistant pastor of SS. Peter and Paul Church, pronounced the benediction.

FOOTBALL — Joseph Bagatti, Edward Bush, William Buzzard, Joseph Cioni, James Cline, Michael Dougherty, Regis Fair, Edward Firlie, Thomas Joyce, William Kirby, Kenneth Klosterman, Thomas Malamphy, Arnold McGreevy, Joseph McSorley, Van Parsons, Charles Passarell, Jerry Proud, Jerome Sheffler, Thomas Smith, James Struntz and William Twigg.

BASKETBALL — William Buzzard, Regis Fair, Charles Imes, Dale Lavin, Van Parsons, William Roberts, Thomas Smith, James Struntz, Joseph Thompson.

BASEBALL — William Buzzard, Michael Dougherty, Regis Fair, Kenneth Klosterman, Van Parsons, William Roberts, Jerome Sheffler, James Struntz.

RIFLE TEAM — Edward Barley, Joseph Coleman, Richard Coleman, Michael Dougherty, Joseph Hay, John Knight, Randolph Lantz, Regis McMahon, George Neely, James Sheehe, Joseph Webb, David Welsh, John Winters, Regis Brinker.

THE TORCH STAFF — Joseph Bolt, Michael Chisholm, Joseph McSorley, Joseph Webb, Thomas Whelan, John Winters, Joseph Cioni, James Kelley, James Cline.

MANAGERS — Dennis Norris, James Martin and Thomas Felten (football). Thomas Joyce and Edward Witt, (basketball).

STAGE CREW — Charles England, John O'Donnell and Paul Stakem.

Gas Housers Return

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — General Manager Frank Lane hopes to bring back some of the Gas House Gang days of the St. Louis Cardinals. He feels new pilot Fred Hutchinson is that type of person. That's why he hired ex-Red Birds Terry Moore and Johnny Hopp as coaches plus catcher Walker Cooper for right-handed pinch hitting duties.

"Moore has been teaching the rookies to slide feet first," says Lane. "And for those who believe in the old head first slide a la Pepper Martin we have Johnny Hopp who used to scramble to the bases with a head slide."

I ALWAYS ASK FOR Old Export* IT'S ALL BEER!

. . . says John R. Jones
Westernport, Md.
"I prefer Old Export for a very simple reason. It tastes better! It isn't just another of the light, dry beers that you find today. Of course, I'd guess you'd say it is light and dry, but it goes beyond this. Best way I can think of to describe Old Export is that it's real beer. Beer just the way I like it. The way most people want a beer to be. Plus the fact you can depend on its quality. You know you're getting your money's worth every time. It's real beer . . . ALL beer!"
The taste for real beer never changes. And there's only one way to brew a real beer. There's nothing secret or mysterious about it. But it does take more than just choice, select ingredients. It takes time. Lots of time. And it takes patience and skill. The latter two you can only learn from experience (we've been brewing beer for more than 66 years). You'll see what we mean when you try Old Export. For your own pleasure, make it soon.
* ALL (ôl), adj.—means everything. ALL-beer — means beer that has everything it takes to make it a real beer. Nothing left out or substituted for. Syn. Old Export

Gas Housers Return

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — General Manager Frank Lane hopes to bring back some of the Gas House Gang days of the St. Louis Cardinals. He feels new pilot Fred Hutchinson is that type of person. That's why he hired ex-Red Birds Terry Moore and Johnny Hopp as coaches plus catcher Walker Cooper for right-handed pinch hitting duties.

"Moore has been teaching the rookies to slide feet first," says Lane. "And for those who believe in the old head first slide a la Pepper Martin we have Johnny Hopp who used to scramble to the bases with a head slide."

Roberts To Head Seafood Company

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 20 (AP)—Robin Roberts, ace righthanded pitcher for the Philadelphia Phillies, has been selected as president of a new seafood distributing company in Savannah.

William Mullis, a former grocer who parlayed a breaded shrimp recipe into a fortune via the Trade Winds Co. before he sold his interests recently, today announced plans for a new $300,000 corporation, the Neptunalia Seafood Co.

Roberts will be president of the new company and Mullis will be chairman of the board.

Reds Clout 13 Hits, Rout Pirates 10 To 3

TAMPA, Fla., March 20 (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs rapped out 13 hits today taking their second straight exhibition game against the Pittsburgh Pirates, 10-3.

The Reds scored seven times in the third inning, including triples by Frank Robinson and Bob Thurman, the latter's coming with two men on.

The Pirates made nine hits off Tom Acker and Rudy Minarcin, one of them a homer by rookie John Powers with none on.

I ALWAYS ASK FOR Old Export* IT'S ALL* BEER!

. . . says John R. Jones
Westernport, Md.

"I prefer Old Export for a very simple reason. It tastes better! It isn't just another of the light, dry beers that you find today. Of course, I'd guess you'd say it is light and dry, but it goes beyond this. Best way I can think of to describe Old Export is that it's real beer. Beer just the way I like it. The way most people want a beer to be. Plus the fact you can depend on its quality. You know you're getting your money's worth every-time. It's real beer . . . ALL beer!"

The taste for real beer never changes. And there's only one way to brew a real beer. There's nothing secret or mysterious about it. But it does take more than just choice, select ingredients. It takes time. Lots of time. And it takes patience and skill. The latter two you can only learn from experience (we've been brewing beer for more than 66 years). You'll see what we mean when you try Old Export. For your own pleasure, make it soon.

*ALL (ôl), adj.—means everything.

Reggie Root Makes Debut With Winner

Buddy's Son Scores First Time At Bowie

BOWIE, MD., MARCH 20 (AP)—Tony Despirito, the nation's leading rider in 1952, pulled away ahead of other jockeys at Bowie today by riding three winners to bring his total to 17 in 10 days.

The smallest crowd of the meeting, 9,158, witnessed the races which were resumed after yesterday's cancellation due to icy roads. The snow had gone, but the track remained muddy.

Another potential riding star and son of a well-known jockey was unveiled in 17-year-old Reggie Root. The 95-pound son of Buddy Root accomplished the rare trick of winning the first time he rode in a race, scoring on Anne Bonny in the second.

Despirito helped William H. Bishop continue as the leading owner-trainer of the meet by bringing home his Chief Joe first in the fourth race at $7.20 for $2 and Andrew J in the featured seventh race, the Hyattsville purse, at $6.60. In between he was in the winner's circle in the sixth with George G. Rosenberger's Corfel at $5.40 for $2.

The two victories by Bishop, who comes from Anna, Ill., raised his total at the meeting to seven.

Cubs Pack Late Punch, Top Tribe

TUCSON, Ariz., March 20 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs beat the Cleveland Indians 14-7 today, scoring 10 runs in the last four innings while Bob Thorpe held the Tribe scoreless.

Jim Busby's three-run homer off Chicago starter Bob Rush in the fifth inning gave the Indians a 7-4 lead. But Thorpe came on in the sixth to set the Indians down while the Cubs were scoring five runs off Art Houtteman and five more off Ray Narleski.

Ernie Banks, Hank Sauver, Walt Moryn and Ed Winceniak homered for the Cubs. Early Wynn pitched the first three innings for Cleveland and struck out six. He yielded four runs, all knocked in by Banks on a homer and a single.

Bowie Stewards Suspend McGee, Horse Trainer

Drug Found In Tests Given Morning After

BOWIE, Md., March 20 (AP)—James McGee, veteran trainer for well-known racing stables, was suspended by the Bowie stewards today after "a drug in the nature of caffeine" was found in tests on one of his winners last Friday.

It is the second time that such a stimulant has been found in tests on winners trained by McGee. In 1945, the Maryland Racing Commission suspended him for one year after a drug was detected in British Buddy, winner of the Maryland Handicap.

The Racing Commission again will consider whether McGee's suspension will extend beyond April 17, the length of the Bowie meeting.

The Bowie stewards had power to suspend him and all horses trained by him during their meeting only.

They said the drug showed up in urinalysis tests on a horse named Morning After. It is owned by Gough W. Thompson of Pikesville, Md.

The stewards ordered the purse in the race redistributed. Evelyn Miss was moved from runner-up to first, Tactical from third to second, Arietta from fourth to third and Half Minute from fifth to fourth.

Morning After ran for the first time March 9 at Bowie and finished fourth in a $3,000 race for non-winners. In the $4,000 race Friday among higher rated allowance horses, the 3-year-old colt went off the favorite and won at $6.40 for $2.

The stimulation of Morning After is only the second reported in nearly two years in Maryland.

Wes Santee Is Shelved, May Miss Chicago Games

Judge Lynch Refuses To Stay Injunction

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK, March 20 (AP)—Wes Santee, America's No. 1 miler, was shelved again today.

Justice Walter A. Lynch of the New York State Supreme Court refused to continue a temporary injunction Santee had obtained against the Amateur Athletic Union which banned the AAU from enforcing its lifetime suspension on him.

Justice Lynch reserved decision on Santee's plea to have the injunction made permanent. He did not say when he would announce it.

That means unless Justice Lynch reaches a favorable decision for Santee by Saturday, the lean Marine Corps lieutenant will not run in the Chicago Daily News Relays this Saturday.

Santee obtained a temporary injunction shortly after the AAU suspended him on Feb. 19 on charges of accepting excessive expenses in meets last year. The appellate division turned down an AAU appeal on the injunction a few days later. Then Santee obtained a stay on the injunction until the trial.

That made it three legal victories in three tries for Santee in his running battle with the AAU.

Today, however, was all the AAU's.

AAU Attorney Louis Nizer told Judge Lynch the stay covered only the start of the trial and not the eventual outcome. The jurist agreed.

Throws Out Complaint

Earlier, Justice Lynch threw out one section of Santee's complaint against the AAU which charged its expense rules were "dead letter." That action saved AAU officials from being forced to take the witness stand and giving detailed accounts of their financial dealings with athletes.

Santee's attorney, Charles P. Grimes, had indicated he wished to cross-examine members of the AAU concerning the question of expenses. Reports circulated, too, that several former track stars had volunteered to take the stand for Santee.

Grimes asked Justice Lynch for an adjournment because he was "entirely unprepared at this time" to proceed on the money situation. He said he would need time to gather records to support his charge that the AAU by custom waived its expense rules.

Nizer opposed Grimes' request for more time, pointing out that the original stay was granted on the condition that the entire case be presented at the time of the trial.

Debates Main Points

Judge Lynch is debating Grimes' two main points in his action, namely:

1. That the executive committee did not have the jurisdiction to rule on Santee.

2. That there was not a quorum when the vote was taken.

Grimes contended that any evidence should have been presented to the Missouri Valley Assn., Santee's local district, which previously had cleared him of charges of the same nature.

A's Rally To Hand Braves 7-5 Setback

BRADENTON, Fla., March 20 (AP)—The Kansas City Athletics rallied for three runs in the bottom of the ninth inning today to hand the Milwaukee Braves their third exhibition loss in a row, 7-5.

Glen Cox, second of three A's pitchers, was credited with the victory. He needed help in the ninth from Frank Burtschy, who held the Braves hitless.

The A's outhit the Braves 12-11. Harry Simpson hit a home run for the A's with two down in the ninth to erase a 5-4 deficit and Jim Pendleton hammered out a two-run homer for the Braves in the fifth.

Milwaukee's exhibition record now is 6-4-1. Kansas City is even at 5-5.

A Good Hart

DETROIT (AP)—Leon Hart, an end converted to fullback, was honored as the outstanding player on the Detroit Lions in 1955.

"I guess they picked me because I contributed the most to our last-place finish," Hart quipped.

Broke School Record

King Hairan Wins Fourth

Classy 2-Year-Old Cops Dinner Stakes

MIAMI, FLA., MARCH 20 (AP)—King Hairan, a striking, blazed-faced colt, outclassed five other 2-year-olds in the $10,000 added Dinner Stakes at Gulfstream Park today, as he kept his record intact in another impressive performance.

It was his fourth start, fourth win, netting $8,800 and raising his total to $42,850.

King Hairan, ridden by Kenneth Scawthron, was unextended in the short 3-furlong event through the chute, winning with speed to spare by 2 lengths in :32 4/5, only a fifth of a second slower than the track record. Hunter Lyon's Busy Harvest was second, nosing out Sunshine Stable's Tiswar, while another length back came Mrs. Charles Silver's Sir Richard. Jane Gess and Gorizza were the other starters. There were three withdrawals.

King Hairan, by far the best 2-year-old uncovered here this winter, was odds-on at $2.40, $2.20 and $2.10. Busy Harvest paid $4.10 and $2.10, and Tiswar was $2.10 third. There was a minus pool amounting to $864.15.

Reggie Root Makes Debut With Winner

Buddy's Son Scores First Time At Bowie

BOWIE, MD., MARCH 20 (AP)—Tony Despirito, the nation's leading rider in 1952, pulled away ahead of other jockeys at Bowie today by riding three winners to bring his total to 17 in 10 days.

The smallest crowd of the meeting, 9,158, witnessed the races which were resumed after yesterday's cancellation due to icy roads. The snow had gone, but the track remained muddy.

Another potential riding star and son of a well-known jockey was unveiled in 17-year-old Reggie Root. The 95-pound son of Buddy Root accomplished the rare trick of winning the first time he rode in a race, scoring on Anne Bonny in the second.

Despirito helped William H. Bishop continue as the leading owner-trainer of the meet by bringing home his Chief Joe first in the fourth race at $7.20 for $2 and Andrew J in the featured seventh race, the Hyattsville purse, at $6.60. In between he was in the winner's circle in the sixth with George G. Rosenberger's Corfel at $5.40 for $2.

The two victories by Bishop, who comes from Anna, Ill., raised his total at the meeting to seven.

Cubs Pack Late Punch, Top Tribe

TUCSON, Ariz., March 20 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs beat the Cleveland Indians 14-7 today, scoring 10 runs in the last four innings while Bob Thorpe held the Tribe scoreless.

Jim Busby's three-run homer off Chicago starter Bob Rush in the fifth inning gave the Indians a 7-4 lead. But Thorpe came on in the sixth to set the Indians down while the Cubs were scoring five runs off Art Houtteman and five more off Ray Narleski.

Ernie Banks, Hank Sauver, Walt Moryn and Ed Winceniak homered for the Cubs. Early Wynn pitched the first three innings for Cleveland and struck out six. He yielded four runs, all knocked in by Banks on a homer and a single.

Navigators Set Pace In K.C. Mixed League

The three-way race for second half honors in the K. of C. Fourth Degree Mixed Bowling League finds the Navigators on top by two games and the Comptrollers and Pilots tied for the runner-up spot.

In matches rolled on SS. Peter and Paul lanes, the Navigators won three from the Admirals, the Pilots took three from the Captains and the Comptrollers scored a 2-1 decision over the Scribes.

Navigators — Ned Simons 191, John Mosner 427.

Captains — Jack Rorick 137-354.

Scribes — Elizabeth Rorick 169-415.

Bowie Stewards Suspend McGee, Horse Trainer

Drug Found In Tests Given Morning After

BOWIE, Md., March 20 (AP)—James McGee, veteran trainer for well-known racing stables, was suspended by the Bowie stewards today after "a drug in the nature of caffeine" was found in tests on one of his winners last Friday.

It is the second time that such a stimulant has been found in tests on winners trained by McGee. In 1945, the Maryland Racing Commission suspended him for one year after a drug was detected in British Buddy, winner of the Maryland Handicap.

The Racing Commission again will consider whether McGee's suspension will extend beyond April 17, the length of the Bowie meeting.

The Bowie stewards had power to suspend him and all horses trained by him during their meeting only.

They said the drug showed up in urinalysis tests on a horse named Morning After. It is owned by Gough W. Thompson of Pikesville, Md.

The stewards ordered the purse in the race redistributed. Evelyn Miss was moved from runner-up to first, Tactical from third to second, Arietta from fourth to third and Half Minute from fifth to fourth.

Morning After ran for the first time March 9 at Bowie and finished fourth in a $3,000 race for non-winners. In the $4,000 race Friday among higher rated allowance horses, the 3-year-old colt went off the favorite and won at $6.40 for $2.

The stimulation of Morning After is only the second reported in nearly two years in Maryland.

Wes Santee Is Shelved, May Miss Chicago Games

Judge Lynch Refuses To Stay Injunction

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK, March 20 (AP)—Wes Santee, America's No. 1 miler, was shelved again today.

Justice Walter A. Lynch of the New York State Supreme Court refused to continue a temporary injunction Santee had obtained against the Amateur Athletic Union which banned the AAU from enforcing its lifetime suspension on him.

Justice Lynch reserved decision on Santee's plea to have the injunction made permanent. He did not say when he would announce it.

That means unless Justice Lynch reaches a favorable decision for Santee by Saturday, the lean Marine Corps lieutenant will not run in the Chicago Daily News Relays this Saturday.

Santee obtained a temporary injunction shortly after the AAU suspended him on Feb. 19 on charges of accepting excessive expenses in meets last year. The appellate division turned down an AAU appeal on the injunction a few days later. Then Santee obtained a stay on the injunction until the trial.

That made it three legal victories in three tries for Santee in his running battle with the AAU.

Today, however, was all the AAU's.

AAU Attorney Louis Nizer told Judge Lynch the stay covered only the start of the trial and not the eventual outcome. The jurist agreed.

Throws Out Complaint

Earlier, Justice Lynch threw out one section of Santee's complaint against the AAU which charged its expense rules were "dead letter." That action saved AAU officials from being forced to take the witness stand and giving detailed accounts of their financial dealings with athletes.

Santee's attorney, Charles P. Grimes, had indicated he wished to cross-examine members of the AAU concerning the question of expenses. Reports circulated, too, that several former track stars had volunteered to take the stand for Santee.

Grimes asked Justice Lynch for an adjournment because he was "entirely unprepared at this time" to proceed on the money situation. He said he would need time to gather records to support his charge that the AAU by custom waived its expense rules.

Nizer opposed Grimes' request for more time, pointing out that the original stay was granted on the condition that the entire case be presented at the time of the trial.

Debates Main Points

Judge Lynch is debating Grimes' two main points in his action, namely:

1. That the executive committee did not have the jurisdiction to rule on Santee.

2. That there was not a quorum when the vote was taken.

Grimes contended that any evidence should have been presented to the Missouri Valley Assn., Santee's local district, which previously had cleared him of charges of the same nature.

A's Rally To Hand Braves 7-5 Setback

BRADENTON, Fla., March 20 (AP)—The Kansas City Athletics rallied for three runs in the bottom of the ninth inning today to hand the Milwaukee Braves their third exhibition loss in a row, 7-5.

Glen Cox, second of three A's pitchers, was credited with the victory. He needed help in the ninth from Frank Burtschy, who held the Braves hitless.

The A's outhit the Braves 12-11. Harry Simpson hit a home run for the A's with two down in the ninth to erase a 5-4 deficit and Jim Pendleton hammered out a two-run homer for the Braves in the fifth.

Milwaukee's exhibition record now is 6-4-1. Kansas City is even at 5-5.

King Hairan Wins Fourth

Classy 2-Year-Old Cops Dinner Stakes

MIAMI, FLA., MARCH 20 (AP)—King Hairan, a striking, blazed-faced colt, outclassed five other 2-year-olds in the $10,000 added Dinner Stakes at Gulfstream Park today, as he kept his record intact in another impressive performance.

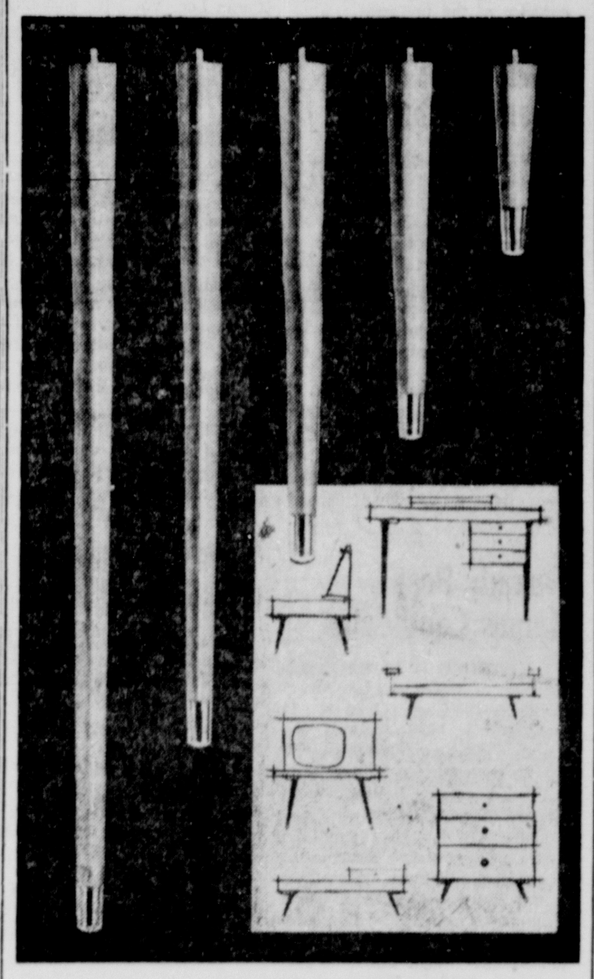

It was his fourth start, fourth win, netting $8,800 and raising his total to $42,850.

King Hairan, ridden by Kenneth Scawthron, was unextended in the short 3-furlong event through the chute, winning with speed to spare by 2 lengths in :32 4/5, only a fifth of a second slower than the track record. Hunter Lyon's Busy Harvest was second, nosing out Sunshine Stable's Tiswar, while another length back came Mrs. Charles Silver's Sir Richard. Jane Gess and Gorizza were the other starters. There were three withdrawals.

King Hairan, by far the best 2-year-old uncovered here this winter, was odds-on at $2.40, $2.20 and $2.10. Busy Harvest paid $4.10 and $2.10, and Tiswar was $2.10 third. There was a minus pool amounting to $864.15.

Parking Lot In Piedmont Is Planned

PIEDMONT — Ground the city recently purchased from the Western Maryland Railway Company, adjoining Lyons Street from Third to Child's Avenue, will be cleaned up preparatory to converting the area into a parking lot, Mayor Rodney Baker stated at the meeting of the Council Monday evening.

Work of removing cross ties is expected to get underway this week, but parking meters will not be installed until after the centennial celebration May 20-27.

The removing of concrete steps on East Fairview Street, across from John F. Rose's garage, was discussed. Councilman Joseph Maybury stated that some of the residents in that area objected to their removal as they would have to walk a good ways to get to their cars in front of their homes.

R. B. Fint was granted a permit to erect a neon sign in front of his place of business at 50 Second Street.

Parking Lot In Piedmont Is Planned

PIEDMONT — Ground the city recently purchased from the Western Maryland Railway Company, adjoining Lyons Street from Third to Child's Avenue, will be cleaned up preparatory to converting the area into a parking lot, Mayor Rodney Baker stated at the meeting of the Council Monday evening.

Work of removing cross ties is expected to get underway this week, but parking meters will not be installed until after the centennial celebration May 20-27.

Ormond Ledlow, town clerk, reported that parking meters receipts for last week amounted to $93.03.

The removing of concrete steps on East Fairview Street, across from John F. Rose's garage, was discussed. Councilman Joseph Maybury stated that some of the residents in that area objected to their removal as they would have to walk a good ways to get to their cars in front of their homes.

R. B. Fint was granted a permit to erect a neon sign in front of his place of business at 50 Second Street.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

How To Cope With Compliments

Why it is that some women work so hard for compliments — then refuse to accept them — is something that I, mere man, will never understand.

You know so well what I mean. The protest a woman makes when she's told she looks wonderful in her newest, carefully-schemed costume. Her insistance of unworthiness when she's proud as punch of something she's done. Sometimes she even tells you what's wrong with whatever was admired, or sounds apologetic.

Women may understand this sort of thing, but it's confusing to men. And it isn't gracious from any point of view. A gracious person never chances putting anyone else ill at ease, and the seeming refusal to accept a compliment can be most awkward for the person who offered it. No more than embarrassment may lie behind it, but it can cause embarrassment, if only at a painful lack of poise. Or it can sound like a definite rebuff that good intentions don't deserve. Certainly there's no pleasure in saying a pleasant thing if it meets with denial, or encouragement to the furthering of acquaintance. Consideration of the feelings of others is reason enough for learning to accept a compliment gracefully.

Say thank you simply, when a compliment comes your way. It's seldom necessary to say anything else, although you might sometimes add words of appreciation as long as they are brief and sincere. The smile which accompanies the thanks, however, can do more than words to express your pleasure. Make it warm and genuine and direct.

There can be as much graciousness and charm about accepting a compliment as there is about paying one, and there should be, every time.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank all our friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy during our bereavement at the death of our beloved father, George W. Cooper. Especially do we thank those who donated cars, those who sent floral offerings and the Minister, Rev. B. F. Hartman for his comforting words.
SON and DAUGHTERS

In Memoriam

Loving memories never die.
As years roll on and days pass by,
In my heart a memory is kept.
Of one I loved and will never forget.
Sadly missed by his GRANDMOTHER KALBAUGH

Contract Bridge
by Josephine Culbertson

ONLY ONE CHANCE

THE slam contract in the following deal was a little optimistic, to put it mildly, but it would have come home if the declarer had played for the "only chance."

North dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

	♠ A Q 9 ♥ K 9 8 5 ♦ A Q 10 ♣ K 4 3
♠ 6 3 2 ♥ Q J 10 6 ♦ 8 7 5 3 ♣ 10 5	N W E S	♠ 7 5 4 ♥ A 7 3 2 ♦ 4 2 ♣ Q J 9 6
	♠ K J 10 8 ♥ 4 ♦ K J 9 6 ♣ A 8 7 2

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 N T	Pass	4 ♣	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	6 ♠	Pass
Pass	Pass

North had an upper-limit one-notrump opening (18 high-card points and balanced distribution), but he elected to bid one club, instead, probably with the idea of discouraging that lead against an eventual game contract at notrump. The actual result of this start, however, was that North "pressed" to rebid two notrump on the second round and that from that time on South also became overoptimistic.

West made the natural lead from his holding, the queen of hearts, and continued with the jack when dummy ducked. South ruffed the second heart, drew exactly two rounds of trumps, and then ran the diamonds—or rather, started to. What he hoped to accomplish is a mystery, but what happened, of course, was that East ruffed the third round of diamonds, and South still had to lose a club trick. So the contract was down two tricks.

The contract was cold after the opening lead—indeed, only an original trump lead could have defeated it. After ruffing the heart at Trick 2, South should have gone to dummy with a diamond, ruffed another heart, gone back with a diamond or a club and ruffed the last heart. Now it would be simplicity itself to overtake the trump king, cash the queen and nine of trumps, discarding low clubs from the closed hand, and finally to cash high diamonds and clubs for the needed 12 tricks. It is true that the unlikely 3-3 break of trumps was required for the success of this line of play, but the dummy-reversal play was the only one that had the faintest chance.

The Board of Zoning Appeals of the City of Cumberland will meet in the City Hall, Cumberland, Thursday evening, March 22, 1956, at 8:00 p. m., to hear the following appeal:

William H. Hiner, Jr., of 20 Potomac Street, rear, who has made application to build a garage 26'x30' with overhead apartment, garage to be used for blacksmith shop and welding shop on part of Lot 4, Mapleside Addition, on Maple Street, foundation and walls of said building to be concrete block with asbestos shingle roof; said premises are situate in Residential "B" Zoning District and owned by C. Glenn Watson, Jr.

At the said time and place, any person may appear and testify as to the use of the said premises or object to the issuance of said occupancy permit.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Patricia J. Long, Minor, by her father and next friend, Conrad Brookley, 604 Kent Avenue, Cumberland, Maryland vs. Eldridge Long, Jr., 1515 Wilson Boulevard, Arlington, Virginia. No. 24441 Equity, in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

The object of this suit is to obtain a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII of the Plaintiff from the Defendant.

The bill states that the parties hereto were married on the 9th day of August 1952 in Alexandria Virginia and that one child, Pamela C. Long was born of the said marriage; that the defendant was addicted to the use of intoxicants and failed to provide for the support of the complainant and child; that the defendant ordered the complainant to leave the premises and return to the home of her parents in Cumberland, which she did on June 1, 1954; and that such conduct amounted to constructive desertion and that such desertion has been continuous and uninterrupted for more than eighteen months, is deliberate and final, and without reasonable hope of reconciliation; that the Plaintiff is a resident of the State of Maryland; and that the Defendant is a non-resident, his last known address being 1515 Wilson Boulevard, Arlington, Virginia.

IT IS THEREUPON, This 12th day of March, 1956, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in equity, ordered that the Plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be published in some newspaper once in each of four (4) successive weeks, before the 13th day of April, 1956, giving notice to the absent Defendant of the object and purpose of this suit and warning him to be and appear in this Court, in person or by solicitor, on or before the 30th day of April, 1956, to show cause, if any he has, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

In The Circuit Court For Allegany County. No. 5 Adoption Docket No. 1. In The Matter of The Adoption of Charles Paul Miller, Jr., by Robert R. L. Everly.

The object and purpose of this suit is to obtain a decree in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, declaring Charles Paul Miller, Jr., to be the adopted child of Robert R. L. Everly.

The Bill states that the petitioner, Robert R. L. Everly, is a resident of Allegany County and, together with Lillian G. Everly, has had the care and custody of and has maintained and supported Charles Paul Miller, Jr., since July 11, 1950; that the said Charles Paul Miller, Jr., was born of the marriage of Lillian G. Everly and Charles Paul Miller, Sr., which was terminated by a decree of divorce of this Court passed August 5, 1949; that said decree of divorce awarded the custody of the said infant, Charles Paul Miller, Jr., to the said Lillian G. Everly; that the petitioner and Lillian G. Everly were married on July 11, 1950; that the said Charles Paul Miller, Sr., has not contributed to the support or maintenance of said infant since the aforesaid divorce; that the said Charles Paul Miller, Sr., is a non-resident of the State of Maryland and his whereabouts are unknown; that the petitioner is desirous of adopting said infant, at the same time reserving to the rights to the said Lillian G. Everly remain the natural mother, the latter consenting to the adoption; that the best interests and welfare of the said infant will be promoted by the passage of a decree declaring said infant the adopted child of the petitioner. The Bill then prays that the Court may pass a decree declaring the said Charles Paul Miller, Jr., to be the adopted child of the petitioner, Robert R. L. Everly, and requesting that the name of said child be decreed to be Charles Paul Everly.

It is thereupon this 27th day of February, 1956, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in Equity, ordered that notice be given to Charles Paul Miller, Sr., a non-resident of the State of Maryland, by causing a copy of this Order to be published once a week for at least four successive weeks on or before the 29th day of March, 1956, in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, warning him to be and appear in this Court on or before the 14th day of April, 1956, and answer the premises and abide by and perform such decree as the Court may deem proper.

Steels And Few Blue Chips Stand Out In Mixed Market

NEW YORK, March 20 (AP)—The steels and a handful of blue chips stood out strongly today in a mixed stock market.

There was evidence of shifting of trading interest from recent favorites into new issues, many of them the higher priced variety in the list of split candidates.

Some rails, oils, and chemicals were higher with the steels, and the building materials issues stood out as sharp gainers.

Coppers, recently strong, were under selling pressure. The motors and aircrafts also were down. The rest of the market was mixed to a little lower.

Industrials were at a new high of $272.80 with a gain of $1.60, railroads were the highest since 1929 up 50 cents at $144.20, while the utilities backed down 10 cents at $74.80.

Contract Bridge
by Josephine Culbertson

ONLY ONE CHANCE

THE slam contract in the following deal was a little optimistic, to put it mildly, but it would have come home if the declarer had played for the "only chance."

North dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

	♠ A Q 9 ♥ K 9 8 5 ♦ A Q 10 ♣ K 4 3
♠ 6 3 2 ♥ Q J 10 6 ♦ 8 7 5 3 ♣ 10 5	N W E S	♠ 7 5 4 ♥ A 7 3 2 ♦ 4 2 ♣ Q J 9 6
	♠ K J 10 8 ♥ 4 ♦ K J 9 6 ♣ A 8 7 2

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 N T	Pass	4 ♣	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	6 ♦	Pass
Pass	Pass

North had an upper-limit one-notrump opening (18 high-card points and balanced distribution), but he elected to bid one club, instead, probably with the idea of discouraging that lead against an eventual game contract at notrump. The actual result of this start, however, was that North "pressed" to rebid two notrump on the second round and that from that time on South also became overoptimistic.

West made the natural lead from his holding, the queen of hearts, and continued with the jack when dummy ducked. South ruffed the second heart, drew exactly two rounds of trumps, and then ran the diamonds—or rather, started to. What he hoped to accomplish is a mystery, but what happened, of course, was that East ruffed the third round of diamonds, and South still had to lose a club trick. So the contract was down two tricks.

The contract was cold after the opening lead—indeed, only an original trump lead could have defeated it. After ruffing the heart at Trick 2, South should have gone to dummy with a diamond, ruffed another heart, gone back with a diamond or a club and ruffed the last heart. Now it would be simplicity itself to overtake the trump king, cash the queen and nine of trumps, discarding low clubs from the closed hand, and finally to cash high diamonds and clubs for the needed 12 tricks. It is true that the unlikely 3-3 break of trumps was required for the success of this line of play, but the dummy-reversal plan was the only one that had the faintest chance.

Law Offices of Edward J. Ryan ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Patricia J. Long, Minor, by her father and next friend, Conrad Brookley, 604 Kent Avenue, Cumberland, Maryland vs. Eldridge Long, Jr., 1515 Wilson Boulevard, Arlington, Virginia. No. 24441 Equity, in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

The object of this suit is to obtain a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII of the Plaintiff from the Defendant.

The bill states that the parties hereto were married on the 9th day of August 1952 in Alexandria Virginia and that one child, Pamela C. Long was born of the said marriage; that the defendant was addicted to the use of intoxicants and failed to provide for the support of the complainant and child; that the defendant ordered the complainant to leave the premises and return to the home of her parents in Cumberland, which she did on June 1, 1954; and that such conduct amounted to constructive desertion and that such desertion has been continuous and uninterrupted for more than eighteen months, is deliberate and final, and without reasonable hope of reconciliation; that the Plaintiff is a resident of the State of Maryland; and that the Defendant is a non-resident, his last known address being 1515 Wilson Boulevard, Arlington, Virginia.

IT IS THEREUPON, This 12th day of March, 1956, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in equity, ordered that the Plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be published in some newspaper once in each of four (4) successive weeks, before the 13th day of April, 1956, giving notice to the absent Defendant of the object and purpose of this suit and warning him to be and appear in this Court, in person or by solicitor, on or before the 30th day of April, 1956, to show cause, if any he has, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Law Offices of Gunter and Geppert 7 Washington Street Cumberland, Maryland ORDER OF PUBLICATION

In The Circuit Court For Allegany County. No. 5 Adoption Docket No. 1. In The Matter of The Adoption of Charles Paul Miller, Jr., by Robert R. L. Everly.

The object and purpose of this suit is to obtain a decree in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, declaring Charles Paul Miller, Jr., to be the adopted child of Robert R. L. Everly.

The Bill states that the petitioner, Robert R. L. Everly, is a resident of Allegany County and, together with Lillian G. Everly, has had the care and custody of and has maintained and supported Charles Paul Miller, Jr., since July 11, 1950; that the said Charles Paul Miller, Jr., was born of the marriage of Lillian G. Everly and Charles Paul Miller, Sr., which was terminated by a decree of divorce of this Court passed August 5, 1949; that said decree of divorce awarded the custody of the said infant, Charles Paul Miller, Jr., to the said Lillian G. Everly; that the petitioner and Lillian G. Everly were married on July 11, 1950; that the said Charles Paul Miller, Sr., has not contributed to the support or maintenance of said infant since the aforesaid divorce; that the said Charles Paul Miller, Sr., is a non-resident of the State of Maryland and his whereabouts are unknown; that the petitioner is desirous of adopting said infant, at the same time reserving all rights to the said Lillian G. Everly remain the natural mother, the latter consenting to the adoption; that the best interests and welfare of the said infant will be promoted by the passage of a decree declaring said infant the adopted child of the petitioner. The Bill then prays that the Court may pass a decree declaring the said Charles Paul Miller, Jr., to be the adopted child of the petitioner, Robert R. L. Everly, and requesting that the name of said child be decreed to be Charles Paul Everly.

It is thereupon this 27th day of February, 1956, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in Equity, ordered that notice be given to Charles Paul Miller, Sr., a non-resident of the State of Maryland, by causing a copy of this Order to be published once a week for at least four successive weeks on or before the 29th day of March, 1956, in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, warning him to be and appear in this Court on or before the 14th day of April, 1956, and answer the premises and abide by and perform such decree as the Court may deem proper.

Steels And Few Blue Chips Stand Out In Mixed Market

NEW YORK, March 20 (AP)—The steels and a handful of blue chips stood out strongly today in a mixed stock market.

There was evidence of shifting of trading interest from recent favorites into new issues, many of them the higher priced variety in the list of split candidates.

Some rails, oils, and chemicals were higher with the steels, and the building materials issues stood out as sharp gainers.

Coppers, recently strong, were under selling pressure. The motors and aircrafts also were down. The rest of the market was mixed to a little lower.

Industrials were at a new high of $272.80 with a gain of $1.60, railroads were the highest since 1929 up 50 cents at $144.20, while the utilities backed down 10 cents at $74.80.

Standard Oil (NJ) was at the top of the most active list up 2⅜ at 59½ on 67,100 shares.

Frederick St. Area Closed For Repairs

Temporary Surfacing Job To Begin Today

Street Commissioner Willam H. Buchholtz yesterday ordered barricades placed on Frederick Street from Linden Street to Pearre Avenue, and told street crews to begin placing a temporary surface on the deeply pitted area this morning.

He said the four-block stretch was blocked off and traffic detoured by way of Bedford Street, in cooperation with the Police Department, until temporary repairs can be made.

The closed area, he said, is in a "deplorable" condition, full of deep holes left from winter weather and the impact of heavy trucks which use Frederick Street, which has been made the northbound segment of U. S. 220 in the city.

It will require several days, he added, to make the temporary repairs, which it is hoped will last until a permanent surface can be provided.

Cost Is Studied

Buchholtz said he hopes to have, by early next week, estimates of the cost to property owners for improving the unpaved portions of the street.

Improvements to Frederick Street, from the B&O railroad to Woodlawn Terrace, he said, were left out of the original Frederick Street Improvement project, but should be widened, curbed and surfaced.

The temporary paving, he said, will consist of asphalt and chips—the same treatment as is used by the State Roads Commission for frost boils.

Barricades were placed on the area yesterday and the Police Department asked motorists to clear parked cars from Bedford Street, for the length of the detour, to allow two-way traffic.

Buchholtz said the city must ask motorists' indulgence for inconveniences during the repair work.

Orders Speedup

The deep holes which have been cut in the street will be filled, he said, followed by temporary surfacing which should last until permanent repairs are possible.

Buchholtz said crews have been patching and patching and had hoped to wait until the weather broke before laying the temporary surface.

He said the situation has become intolerable and that repairs will have to be made immediately in spite of weather and costs.

The department, he said, has been doing its best to keep the holes filled, but it has been a losing battle with heavy trucks and frost.

The work, accepted by the city in November and completed except for a few minor cleanup jobs, included draining, paving, curbing and sidewalks.

Closed For Urgent Repairs

Street Commissioner William F. Buchholtz yesterday ordered barricades, such as seen on Frederick Street at Linden, placed on the thoroughfare until a temporary surface can be placed on the street between Linden Street and Pearre Avenue. Buchholtz said heavy traffic and weather have caused a "deplorable" condition which must be corrected at once.

Squadron In Germany Aids Easter Seal Campaign Here

Members of the 2005th AACS Squadron, stationed in Germany, have made a $50 contribution to the 12th annual Easter Seal campaign now being conducted in behalf of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

The gift was made in the form of a memorial to the late Mrs. Octavia Wyatt, who lived at 124 Bedford Street, until her death a short time ago. Her son, Master Sergeant Sterling Wyatt of the Air Force is a member of the 2005th AACS Squadron.

The contribution was enclosed in a letter which Sgt. Wyatt sent a few days ago to one of his friends here, Robert Llewellyn, 431 Independence Street.

Sgt. Wyatt wrote:

"When the men in the squadron found out about Mother they felt they should do something for me and wound up taking up a collection for flowers for Mildred and me since it was too late to have some sent home. The collection apparently got a little larger than they expected and they gave me the remainder in cash. I hardly feel that I should use it for normal purposes and am taking this method of disposing of it in a manner that would have suited Mother.

"Since I hardly know who is responsible for the Crippled Children's League of Cumberland, I wonder if you would pass on this money order and just tell them it's from the 2005th AACS Squaddon in memory of Mrs. Octavia Wyatt."

Meanwhile, Mrs. Vivian L. Annan, executive secretary of the League, reported yesterday that contributions to the Easter Seal Campaign now top $3,200.

She said papier mache Easter Lilies will be sold by members of the Cumberland Eagles lodge on downtown streets this Saturday and the Moose lodge will take over on March 31. Meanwhile, in Frostburg the Moose lodge also will sell Easter Lilies and in Lonaconing the Veterans of Foreign Wars will take charge.

Headquarters For Mahoney Opened Here

Democrats representing all parts of Allegany County met last night at Mahoney for Senator headquarters in the Algonquin Hotel, and began mapping plans for the primary election to be held May 7.

The group included some 30 men and women interested in the nomination of George P. Mahoney, Baltimore city contractor, who is opposed by Millard E. Tydings for the place on the Democratic ballot.

Thomas B. Finan, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, presided at the meeting and introduced James P. Kenney of Westernport, campaign manager for Mahoney in this county. The group, which included five members of the State Central Committee, took formal action to set up a budget, advertising policies, a program of rallies and tours, and employment of personnel for headquarters which will remain open from now until the election.

Finan was elected campaign treasurer with William V. Keegan chairman of the finance committee.

William A. Buchholtz and Peter V. Carpenti were elected co-chairmen of headquarters and organization. William L. Wilson Jr. was elected campaign secretary. F. Allan Weatherholt was named campaign publicity chairman. Philmore Fleming was elected chairman of transportation and rallies. Matthew J. Mullaney, was named chairman of speakers.

William C. Burns, who managed Mahoney headquarters in the last gubernatoral campaign, was elected liaison representative between local and state headquarters. Burns also will assist in the local headquarters.

The group which met last night, including the members of the State Central Committee who were present and unanimously endorsed Mahoney some weeks ago, will serve as a steering committee for the general campaign, and plans to meet regularly.

The next meeting of the Mahoney Campaign Committee will be held next Tuesday at 8 p. m. in Room 301 of the Algonquin Hotel, at which time community chairmen and district and precinct leaders will be organized.

Club To Have Dinner

Cab Driver Beaten; Wrist Watch Taken

A driver for the Astor Cab Company reportedly was "roughed up" and his wrist watch was taken from him yesterday evening by two men who were picked up by the driver at a local bar and driven toward Flintstone.

A spokesman for the cab company said the driver, William Davis, about 30, of Jane Frazier Village, is expected to go to a local hospital today for X-rays of his nose which was injured in the scuffle, which occurred in the Flintstone section.

One of the passengers reportedly pretended he had a gun and the scuffle began as the cab driver was descending Martins Mountain toward Flintstone. Trooper J. F. Lewis is investigating, and one man was picked up for questioning.

Fifth Binaural Stereophonic Concert Scheduled Tonight

The Music Appreciation Society of Cumberland will present the fifth in a series of concerts in binaural stereophonic sound tonight at 8:30 at SS. Peter and Paul Hall.

First on the program will be the Florence May Festival Orchestra's interpretation of Johannes Brahms' lighthearted and colorful "Academic Festival Overture," written by Brahms in acknowledgment of his selection for an honorary degree in 1881 by the University of Breslau.

The same orchestra, conducted by Vittorio Gui, will present Jules Massenet's delicate "Under the Linden Trees."

After a 10-minute intermission marking the conclusion of the first part of the program, the Sorkin String Symphonette, conducted by Leonard Sorkin, will present Father Antonio Vivaldi's "Concerto Grosso in D Minor," originally scored for four violins, two violas, cello and organ bass, and transcribed in 1714 by Johann Sebastian Bach.

The Symphonette next will present the popular serenade, "Eine Kleine Nachtmusik" of Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, the bicentennial of whose birth is being observed around the world all during 1956.

Next will be the Bach-Stoessel "Prelude in E Major," also by the Sorkin group. Another 10-minute intermission will follow.

The third section of the program, by the Florence May Festival Orchestra, will open with Claude Debussy's popular "The Afternoon of a Faun," in which the young composer in 1894 set to music Mallarme's romantic and imaginative poem of the same name.

Next will be Robert Schumann's "Manfred Overture," which the composer was inspired to write after reading Lord Byron's poem "Manfred" in 1848.

The program will conclude with "Kamarinskaja," a fantaisie pittoresque by Mikhail Glinka.

Tickets are on sale at Vandegrift's Music Shop, the Sykes Music Store, the Cumberland Free Public Library, and at the hall tonight. The sixth and final concert of the series will be given April 4.

Local Companies Low Bidders On SRC Contracts

Hazelwood Estimates Bridge At $237,260

Two Cumberland contracting firms were the low bidders yesterday as the Maryland State Roads Commission opened bids on a bridge and a road contract in this area.

The George F. Hazelwood Company submitted the apparent low bid of $237,260.80 for the construction of a three-span steel beam bridge over Town Creek on Route 40 at the west foot of Polish Mountain.

Other bids, according to B. Bates Chaires, district SRC engineer, were the George Construction Company, Cumberland, $240,409.-19;; S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Company, Cumberland, $262,-298 and the Brooklyn Engineering Company, Baltimore, $271,930.

Is Low On Road

The Cumberland Contracting Company submitted the low bid of $634,459.24 for the construction of 2.65 miles of new road on Route 135, near Bloomington in Garrett County.

Other bidders were the S. T. Brotemarkle Company, Cumberland, $641,302.04, and T. Edgie Russell Company, Frederick, $723,-017.20.

The contract to relocate and modernize Route 135 runs from a point 2.3 miles west of the Allegany-Garrett county line to a point .3 of a mile east of the line.

The Route 135 work is another in a series of undertakings of the SRC that will provide a modern highway between Cumberland, McCoole, Westernport and Oakland.

The road building job covers the bad section of road up Backbone Mountain. The Case Construction Company of Mt. Airy has the contract to build a bridge across the B&O Railroad at Bloomington.

About three miles of Route 135 in the vicinity of Swanton are under construction.

Old Span Hazardous

The Town Creek bridge site is located about 14 miles east of Cumberland. The present bridge is built on a sharp turn that is hazardous in rainy or snowy weather.

The new span will be 200 feet long and 30 feet wide. When completed, it will tie in with the relocation and modernization project planned on the east slope of Polish Mountain.

The Polish Mountain work is scheduled to be advertised and be underway by this fall, State Roads Commission officials have announced.

The bridge, the Polish Mountain job and Martin's Mountain work, on which grading is scheduled April 3, will be the first three of a series of projects to make traveling easier over the four mountains east of here.

Litzenburg Has Eye Operation

Clarence Litzenburg, 250 National Highway, LaVale, president of the Tri-State Advertising Service, Inc., is in satisfactory condition at the Wilmer Clinic of Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, where he underwent an operation on Monday for removal of a cataract from his eye. A second operation will be performed next Monday if his progress continues to be satisfactory.

Men Of Emmanuel Meet

The Men of Emmanuel will meet in the parish house of Emmanuel Episcopal Church at 7:30 p. m. today to make plans for a dinner to be sponsored April 18. Harry Nelson will serve as general chairman.

To Hold Supper

Centerville Methodist Church will hold a chicken supper at 5:30 o'clock tonight for the benefit of the baseball team.

Smith Named Commander Of VFW Post

A membership rally will be held during the next regular meeting which will be held at 7:30 p. m. April 3.

The local veterans' organization has gone over the quota for 1955-1956. The VFW Department Encampment will be held here during June.

Final Lenten Service Set

The sixth and last Wednesday community Lenten service will be held tonight by the South Cumberland Ministerial Association at 7:30 p. m. in Grace Methodist Church, 130 Virginia Avenue.

The preacher will be Rev. David C. Streett, vicar of Holy Cross and St. Philip's Episcopal churches. His sermon is "The Parable of the Last Judgment," described in St. Matthew 25:31-46.

The service will be conducted by Rev. Adam E. Grim, minister of the host church. A quintet of girls will offer a musical selection, "Come Unto Me." Mrs. Bertie Ranck is organist for the service.

Next week the South Cumberland Ministerial Association will present a Good Friday service on "The Seven Last Words" from noon to 3 p. m. in the Living Stone Church of the Brethren. This service will be conducted by Rev. Arthur Scrogum, while seven other clergymen of the association will preach.

Circle To Have Speaker

The Tepper-Somerville Circle of First Presbyterian Church will have Mrs. John A. Cupler II speak on grand jury duty at the luncheon meeting today. It will be held in the Templar Bible class room at 1 o'clock, with Mrs. Jessie White and Mrs. E. P. Haller hostesses.

Decisions Made On Expressway Lighting Plan

Modern Illumination System Is Considered

A tentative agreement on plans for lighting the overhead section of the Cumberland Expressway was reached in City Hall yesterday, according to Mayor Roy W. Eves.

He said the conference was attended by representatives of Green Associates, Inc., Baltimore, who will design the structure for the State Roads Commission; the Potomac Edison Company, which furnishes lighting service to the city, and officials of the City of Cumberland.

Potomac Edison, he said, will assume engineering and installation of lights from the base up, and for stringing cable in conduit, while Green Associates will design conduits and bases for the lights.

Surveys Under Way

No decision was made, according to William J. Edwards, commissioner of water and electric light, as to the type of lights which will be used on the overhead structure, but one of the modern types is being considered.

The consulting engineering firm told the city it is making surveys for the crosstown structure and that all data must be plotted before designers can begin work.

They estimated it will be from a month to six weeks before their plans progress to the point they can be used by Potomac Edison Company engineers in designing the lighting system.

Lights on the multiple-lane structure will be placed on metal standards, while conventional poles will be used to light surface portions of the throughway.

To Purchase Service

Plans call for purchasing lighting service for the expressway on an annual fee which includes installation, maintenance and current.

City costs will include cable installation and the engineering costs by the consulting engineers for its part in the lighting plan.

Mayor Eves was told that Green Associates' contract with the SRC calls for furnishing plans and specifications by mid-November.

Attending were E. W. Wolf, chief engineer; R. A. Groves, project manager, and W. A. Cowan, office manager for Green Associates; H. W. Price, district manager; O. H. Lashley Jr., and L. C. Cessna, for Potomac Edison Company, and Commissioners William V. Keegan and Edwards, Mayor Eves and C. R. Nuzum, city engineer, for the City of Cumberland.

'Sabrina Fair' Will Be Staged This Evening

This evening the Barter Players of Virginia will be in Cumberland to stage "Sabrina Fair," a romantic comedy, which will be presented at Allegany High School auditorium at 8:15 p. m.

The production is being sponsored by the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce.

Tickets are available at the Jack and Jill Shop on Baltimore Street, or may be purchased at the door. This is the final Barter play for the current season.

Rotary Club Names Five New Directors

The election of five new directors was announced yesterday by the Cumberland Rotary Club.

They are Harold D. Barber, Ross O. Decker, Theodore P. Foote, C. M. Sanner and Miles G. Thompson Jr. They will serve two year terms, effective July 1.

Holdover directors are F. Ted Bell, C. Walter Haschert, George A. Caswell, John E. Geare and Thomas E. Gilchrist.

Blake Arson Trial Is Set This Morning

Man Charged With Setting Hotel Afire

The arson trial of Edward S. Blake, 40, of Cumberland will begin this morning at 10 o'clock in Allegany County Circuit Court before Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris.

Assistant State's Attorney James S. Getty said Blake petitioned for immediate trial on criminal information on the charge he set fire to the lobby of the Brooks Hotel February 26.

Blake has been held in Allegany County Jail since his preliminary hearing in Trial Magistrates Court February 27 when bond was set at $1,000 by Magistrate J. Milton Dick.

The Cumberlander was arrested by Sgt. James Brown and Officer George Furstenburg of the City Police Department about 3:30 a. m., shortly after the fire was discovered in the hotel in which at least 30 guests were asleep.

Getty said Blake admitted he had been drinking at the time but denied setting the blaze which damaged the lobby floor and wall before being extinguished by city firemen.

The blaze apparently was started when turpentine was poured on the walls and floor of the lobby of the hotel near a cigaret machine and then ignited. Blake had paid for a room in the hotel in advance, Getty said, although he resides on North Mechanic Street.

Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the Maryland State Police, and County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya assisted city police in the investigation.

GOP Schedules Informal Box Supper April 6

The Eisenhower - for - President dinner sponsored by Allegany County Republican State Central Committee and Republican Women's Clubs will be a box supper this year instead of the customary formal dinner. The affair will be held at 6 p. m. at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club on Friday, April 6.

James S. Getty, chairman of the GOP State Central Committee, said the group decided last night to switch to the box supper in order to expedite the program at which Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell will be the principal speaker.

Although the menu has not yet been decided, Getty said, the box suppers will be prepared by the host country club and the dinner will begin promptly at 6 o'clock.

Getty said invitations have been extended Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde, Sens. J. Glenn Beall and John Marshall Butler and Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin.

Tickets will be available at the Frostburg Men's and Women's Republican Clubs, the Cumberland Women's Republican Club, the Lonaconing Republican Club, the Young Men's Republican Club of Allegany County and any member of the State Central Committee.

Getty said he will appoint a committee to prepare an entertainment program for the dinner which the GOP group hopes will be attended by 300 or 400 persons.

Another meeting will be held by the GOP committee Friday at the Frostburg Men's Republican Club at 8 p. m. at which time further plans for the affair will be decided. Getty said representatives of all the GOP clubs in Allegany County are invited to attend this Friday meeting.

Tydings Blasts Butler Tactics In 1950 Campaign

Candidates Appear On Same Platform

By LOUIS PANOS

BALTIMORE, March 20 (AP) — Millard E. Tydings declared today Sen. Butler (R-Md) "didn't have the manhood to denounce" a composite photo used against Tydings in the 1950 election campaign.

Butler, who unseated Tydings that year, sat a few feet away from him at a League of Women Voters luncheon when he made the statement, but made no direct reply.

He later said this "and any other question I have failed to answer here today will be answered—and answered amply—at a time of my own choosing."

Tydings, running for Democratic nomination to the Senate seat he held for 24 years before losing to Butler, and Butler, running for renomination by the Republicans, were among five senatorial primary candidates who appeared at the luncheon to state their platforms and answer questions.

Others were Democrats Thomas L. Christian and George Washington Williams, and Republican Henry J. Laque Jr.

Mahoney Absent

The 200 or so members and guests were told Democrat George P. Mahoney was absent because of automobile failure near Hagerstown, Democrat Andrew J. Easter failed to answer his invitation, and Republican Earl E. (Skip) Knepper did not want them to "take my campaign seriously" anyway.

In the five minutes allotted each candidate at the outset of the program, Tydings referred to the 1950 campaign and a Senate subcommittee report criticizing the Butler camp for "back-street type" tactics.

Then he mentioned the use by Butler aides of a trick photo purporting to show Tydings in pleasant conversation with Earl Browder, Communist party chief. An investigation showed the picture was made from separate photos of the two men.

"When they asked him (Butler) about it," Tydings told the luncheon meeting, "he didn't have the manhood to denounce it."

Although Tydings was warmly applauded when he concluded this and other remarks in his original talk, probably the biggest round of handclapping was given to Christian.

This came after, in response to a question from the audience, he urged support of the Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation in public schools.

"In our personal lives we can choose our friends and our associates," said Christian. "But when the government tries to set up first-and-second class citizens with the taxpayers' money, it is clearly wrong. Anyone has the right to send his children to any school he chooses, but if he sends them to a public school supported by all taxpayers I don't think he should say who else should or should not attend."

Quotable Quotes

Butler—"The people like Ike. I believe he will be overwhelmingly re-elected by them. They steadfastly believe he has led our nation to peace and prosperity," and should be given a Republican majority in Congress to help him push his program. "I urge you to compare any record of accomplishment in my first six years of office with the records of any other senators—Truman, the beloved Senator Taft, or my predecessor." It is a record of accomplishments for the best interests of "tobacco growers, farmers, the shipping and ship-repair industries, and small business."

Tydings—"Unlike Senator Butler, I am not running for the Presidency of the United States, and I am not running on anybody's coattails. . . Our first problem is war and peace." As a former member of the Atomic Energy Committee and chairman of the Armed Services Committee, he said, he believes he is "somewhat qualified" to speak about modern nuclear weapons, guided missiles and the "wicked conspiracy (of Communism) threatening this world. . .If I am elected I will be back on my old committees—that I know. . . I believe we must work to preserve the peace and do it with justice and honor."

Christian — The leaders of the Democratic party have lost the last three elections, despite a registration edge of 700,000 to 300,000 over Republicans, because of the "intensiveness" of supporters whose candidates lost the primary

Four WM Freight Cars Derailed In Mt. Savage

Authorities of the Western Maryland Railway Company are investigating the cause of a wreck Monday evening at Mt. Savage in which one freight car overturned and three other freight cars full of merchandise on a westbound train were derailed.

A fast eastbound freight was held up about two hours because of the accident. A spokesman for the company said it was not determined just what was the cause of the accident.

The mishap occurred about 7 p. m. Monday and the tracks were cleared about 9 a. m. yesterday.

Lawrence Addresses Local Exchange Club

William P. Lawrence, director of industrial relations for the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, told members of the Cumberland Exchange Club the local plant will be in partial production by July of this year.

Addressing the group at Ali Ghan Country Club last night, Lawrence said the company hopes to open its employment office at the local plant sometime next month when approximately 200 or 300 persons will be hired. The plant will employ about 800 persons in full production next year.

Lawrence also showed film slides of the Cumberland plate glass plant to the group.

Explorer Visits City

William E. Davies, 39, world-famous Arctic and Antarctic explorer, is greeted here by an old friend and colleague, Brother G. Nicholas of LaSalle High School, as Davies arrived here yesterday to speak at the LaSalle Award Dinner last night. Davies now is assistant chief of the Military Geology Branch of the U. S. Geological Survey, and is engaged in studies of the Potomac River Basin for surface deposits. The author of geological surveys of Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia, he has worked on several geological projects with Brother Nicholas, a nationally known authority on caves.

Frederick St. Area Closed For Repairs

Temporary Surfacing Job To Begin Today

Street Commissioner Willam H. Buchholtz yesterday ordered barricades placed on Frederick Street from Linden Street to Pearre Avenue, and told street crews to begin placing a temporary surface on the deeply pitted area this morning.

He said the four-block stretch was blocked off and traffic detoured by way of Bedford Street, in cooperation with the Police Department, until temporary repairs can be made.

The closed area, he said, is in a "deplorable" condition, full of deep holes left from winter weather and the impact of heavy trucks which use Frederick Street, which has been made the northbound segment of U. S. 220 in the city.

It will require several days, he added, to make the temporary repairs, which it is hoped will last until a permanent surface can be provided.

Cost Is Studied

Buchholtz said he hopes to have, by early next week, estimates of the cost to property owners for improving the unpaved portions of the street.

Improvements to Frederick Street, from the B&O railroad to Woodlawn Terrace, he said, were left out of the original Frederick Street Improvement project, but should be widened, curbed and surfaced.

The temporary paving, he said, will consist of asphalt and chips—the same treatment as is used by the State Roads Commission for frost boils.

Barricades were placed on the area yesterday and the Police Department asked motorists to clear parked cars from Bedford Street, for the length of the detour, to allow two-way traffic.

Buchholtz said the city must ask motorists' indulgence for inconveniences during the repair work.

Orders Speedup

The deep holes which have been cut in the street will be filled, he said, followed by temporary surfacing which should last until permanent repairs are possible.

Hundreds of complaints have been aimed at the Street Department for the condition of the street.

Buchholtz said crews have been patching and patching and had hoped to wait until the weather broke before laying the temporary surface.

He said the situation has become intolerable and that repairs will have to be made immediately in spite of weather and costs.

The department, he said, has been doing its best to keep the holes filled, but it has been a losing battle with heavy trucks and frost.

Some 7,000 feet of Frederick Street, from Woodlawn Terrace to the city limits, was improved as a federal-aid project.

The work, accepted by the city in November and completed except for a few minor cleanup jobs, included draining, paving, curbing and sidewalks.

Closed For Urgent Repairs

Street Commissioner William F. Buchholtz yesterday ordered barricades, such as seen on Frederick Street at Linden, placed on the thoroughfare until a temporary surface can be placed on the street between Linden Street and Pearre Avenue. Buchholtz said heavy traffic and weather have caused a "deplorable" condition which must be corrected at once.

Squadron In Germany Aids Easter Seal Campaign Here

Members of the 2005th AACS Squadron, stationed in Germany, have made a $50 contribution to the 12th annual Easter Seal campaign now being conducted in behalf of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

The sixth and last Wednesday community Lenten service will be held tonight by the South Cumberland Ministerial Association at 7:30 p. m. in Grace Methodist Church, 130 Virginia Avenue.

The preacher will be Rev. David C. Streett, vicar of Holy Cross and St. Philip's Episcopal churches. His sermon is "The Parable of the Last Judgment," described in St. Matthew 25:31-46.

The service will be conducted by Rev. Adam E. Grim, minister of the host church. A quintet of girls will offer a musical selection, "Come Unto Me." Mrs. Bertie Ranck is organist for the service.

Next week the South Cumberland Ministerial Association will present a Good Friday service on "The Seven Last Words" from noon to 3 p. m. in the Living Stone Church of the Brethren. This service will be conducted by Rev. Arthur Scrogum, while seven other clergymen of the association will preach.

Circle To Have Speaker

The Tepper-Somerville Circle of First Presbyterian Church will have Mrs. John A. Cupler II speak on grand jury duty at the luncheon meeting today. It will be held in the Templar Bible class room at 1 o'clock, with Mrs. Jessie White and Mrs. E. P. Haller hostesses.

Cab Driver Beaten; Wrist Watch Taken

A driver for the Astor Cab Company reportedly was "roughed up" and his wrist watch was taken from him yesterday evening by two men who were picked up by the driver at a local bar and driven toward Flintstone.

A spokesman for the cab company said the driver, William Davis, about 30, of Jane Frazier Village, is expected to go to a local hospital today for X-rays of his nose which was injured in the scuffle, which occurred in the Flintstone section.

One of the passengers reportedly pretended he had a gun and the scuffle began as the cab driver was descending Martins Mountain toward Flintstone. Trooper J. F. Lewis is investigating, and one man was picked up for questioning.

Fifth Binaural Stereophonic Concert Scheduled Tonight

The Music Appreciation Society of Cumberland will present the fifth in a series of concerts in binaural stereophonic sound tonight at 8:30 at SS. Peter and Paul Hall.

First on the program will be the Florence May Festival Orchestra's interpretation of Johannes Brahms' lighthearted and colorful "Academic Festival Overture," written by Brahms in acknowledgment of his selection for an honorary degree in 1881 by the University of Breslau.

The same orchestra, conducted by Vittorio Gui, will present Jules Massenet's delicate "Under the Linden Trees."

After a 10-minute intermission marking the conclusion of the first part of the program, the Sorkin String Symphonette, conducted by Leonard Sorkin, will present Father Antonio Vivaldi's "Concerto Grosso in D Minor," originally scored for four violins, two violas, cello and organ bass, and transcribed in 1714 by Johann Sebastian Bach.

The Symphonette next will present the popular serenade, "Eine Kleine Nachtmusik" of Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, the bicentennial of whose birth is being observed around the world all during 1956.

Next will be the Bach-Stoessel "Prelude in E Major," also by the Sorkin group. Another 10-minute intermission will follow.

The third section of the program, by the Florence May Festival Orchestra, will open with Claude Debussy's popular "The Afternoon of a Faun," in which the young composer in 1894 set to music Mallarme's romantic and imaginative poem of the same name.

Next will be Robert Schumann's "Manfred Overture," which the composer was inspired to write after reading Lord Byron's poem "Manfred" in 1848.

The program will conclude with "Kamarinskaja," a fantaisie pittoresque by Mikhail Glinka.

Tickets are on sale at Vandegrift's Music Shop, the Syckes Music Store, the Cumberland Free Public Library, and at the hall tonight. The sixth and final concert of the series will be given April 4.

Litzenburg Has Eye Operation

Clarence Litzenburg, 250 National Highway, LaVale, president of the Tri-State Advertising Service, Inc., is in satisfactory condition at the Wilmer Clinic of Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, where he underwent an operation on Monday for removal of a cataract from his eye. A second operation will be performed next Monday if his progress continues to be satisfactory.

Men Of Emmanuel Meet

The Men of Emmanuel will meet in the parish house of Emmanuel Episcopal Church at 7:30 p. m. today to make plans for a dinner to be sponsored April 18. Harry Nelson will serve as general chairman.

To Hold Supper

Centerville Methodist Church will hold a chicken supper at 5:30 o'clock tonight for the benefit of the baseball team.

Decisions Made On Expressway Lighting Plan

Modern Illumination System Is Considered

A tentative agreement on plans for lighting the overhead section of the Cumberland Expressway was reached in City Hall yesterday, according to Mayor Roy W. Eves.

He said the conference was attended by representatives of Green Associates, Inc., Baltimore, who will design the structure for the State Roads Commission; the Potomac Edison Company, which furnishes lighting service to the city, and officials of the City of Cumberland.

Potomac Edison, he said, will assume engineering and installation of lights from the base up, and for stringing cable in conduit, while Green Associates will design conduits and bases for the lights.

Surveys Under Way

No decision was made, according to William J. Edwards, commissioner of water and electric light, as to the type of lights which will be used on the overhead structure, but one of the modern types is being considered.

The consulting engineering firm told the city it is making surveys for the crosstown structure and that all data must be plotted before designers can begin work.

They estimated it will be from a month to six weeks before their plans progress to the point they can be used by Potomac Edison Company engineers in designing the lighting system.

Lights on the multiple-lane structure will be placed on metal standards, while conventional poles will be used to light surface portions of the throughway.

To Purchase Service

Plans call for purchasing lighting service for the expressway on an annual fee which includes installation, maintenance and current.

City costs will include cable installation and the engineering costs by the consulting engineers for its part in the lighting plan.

Mayor Eves was told that Green Associates' contract with the SRC calls for furnishing plans and specifications by mid-November.

Attending were E. W. Wolf, chief engineer; R. A. Groves, project manager, and W. A. Cowan, office manager for Green Associates; H. W. Price, district manager; O. H. Lashley Jr., and L. C. Cessna, for Potomac Edison Company, and Commissioners William V. Keegan and Edwards, Mayor Eves and C. R. Nuzum, city engineer, for the City of Cumberland.

'Sabrina Fair' Will Be Staged This Evening

This evening the Barter Players of Virginia will be in Cumberland to stage "Sabrina Fair," a romantic comedy, which will be presented at Allegany High School auditorium at 8:15 p. m.

The production is being sponsored by the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce.

Tickets are available at the Jack and Jill Shop on Baltimore Street, or may be purchased at the door. This is the final Barter play for the current season.

Rotary Club Names Five New Directors

The election of five new directors was announced yesterday by the Cumberland Rotary Club.

They are Harold D. Barber, Ross O. Decker, Theodore P. Foote, C. M. Sanner and Miles G. Thompson Jr. They will serve two year terms, effective July 1.

Holdover directors are F. Ted Bell, C. Walter Haschert, George A. Caswell, John E. Geare and Thomas E. Gilchrist.

Explorer Visits City

William E. Davies, 39, world-famous Arctic and Antarctic explorer, is greeted here by an old friend and colleague, Brother G. Nicholas of LaSalle High School, as Davies arrived here yesterday to speak at the LaSalle Award Dinner last night. Davies now is assistant chief of the Military Geology Branch of the U. S. Geological Survey, and is engaged in studies of the Potomac River Basin for surface deposits. The author of geological surveys of Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia, he has worked on several geological projects with Brother Nicholas, a nationally known authority on caves.

Blake Arson Trial Is Set This Morning

Man Charged With Setting Hotel Afire

The arson trial of Edward S. Blake, 40, of Cumberland will begin this morning at 10 o'clock in Allegany County Circuit Court before Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris.

Assistant State's Attorney James S. Getty said Blake petitioned for immediate trial on criminal information on the charge he set fire to the lobby of the Brooks Hotel February 26.

Blake has been held in Allegany County Jail since his preliminary hearing in Trial Magistrates Court February 27 when bond was set at $1,000 by Magistrate J. Milton Dick.

The Cumberlander was arrested by Sgt. James Brown and Officer George Furstenburg of the City Police Department about 3:30 a. m., shortly after the fire was discovered in the hotel in which at least 30 guests were asleep.

Getty said Blake admitted he had been drinking at the time but denied setting the blaze which damaged the lobby floor and wall before being extinguished by city firemen.

The blaze apparently was started when turpentine was poured on the walls and floor of the lobby of the hotel near a cigaret machine and then ignited. Blake had paid for a room in the hotel in advance, Getty said, although he resides on North Mechanic Street.

Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the Maryland State Police, and County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya assisted city police in the investigation.

GOP Schedules Informal Box Supper April 6

The Eisenhower - for - President dinner sponsored by Allegany County Republican State Central Committee and Republican Women's Clubs will be a box supper this year instead of the customary formal dinner. The affair will be held at 6 p. m. at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club on Friday, April 6.

James S. Getty, chairman of the GOP State Central Committee, said the group decided last night to switch to the box supper in order to expedite the program at which Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell will be the principal speaker.

Although the menu has not yet been decided, Getty said, the box suppers will be prepared by the host country club and the dinner will begin promptly at 6 o'clock.

Getty said invitations have been extended Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde, Sens. J. Glenn Beall and John Marshall Butler and Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin.

Tickets will be available at the Frostburg Men's and Women's Republican Clubs, the Cumberland Women's Republican Club, the Lonaconing Republican Club, the Young Men's Republican Club of Allegany County and any member of the State Central Committee.

Getty said he will appoint a committee to prepare an entertainment program for the dinner which the GOP group hopes will be attended by 300 or 400 persons.

Another meeting will be held by the GOP committee Friday at the Frostburg Men's Republican Club at 8 p. m. at which time further plans for the affair will be decided, Getty said representatives of all the GOP clubs in Allegany County are invited to attend this Friday meeting.

Candidates Appear On Same Platform

By LOUIS PANOS

BALTIMORE, March 20 (AP) — Millard E. Tydings declared today Sen. Butler (R-Md) "didn't have the manhood to denounce" a composite photo used against Tydings in the 1950 election campaign.

Butler, who unseated Tydings that year, sat a few feet away from him at a League of Women Voters luncheon when he made the statement, but made no direct reply.

He later said this "and any other question I have failed to answer here today will be answered—and answered amply—at a time of my own choosing."

Tydings, running for Democratic nomination to the Senate seat he held for 24 years before losing to Butler, and Butler, running for renomination by the Republicans, were among five senatorial primary candidates who appeared at the luncheon to state their platforms and answer questions.

Others were Democrats Thomas L. Christian and George Washington Williams, and Republican Henry J. Laque Jr.

Mahoney Absent

The 200 or so members and guests were told Democrat George P. Mahoney was absent because of automobile failure near Hagerstown, Democrat Andrew J. Easter failed to answer his invitation, and Republican Earl E. (Skip) Knepper did not want them to "take my campaign seriously" anyway.

In the five minutes allotted each candidate at the outset of the program, Tydings referred to the 1950 campaign and a Senate subcommittee report criticizing the Butler camp for "back-street type" tactics.

Then he mentioned the use by Butler aides of a trick photo purporting to show Tydings in pleasant conversation with Earl Browder, Communist party chief. An investigation showed the picture was made from separate photos of the two men.

"When they asked him (Butler) about it," Tydings told the luncheon meeting, "he didn't have the manhood to denounce it."

Although Tydings was warmly applauded when he concluded this and other remarks in his original talk, probably the biggest round of handclapping was given to Christian.

This came after, in response to a question from the audience, he urged support of the Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation in public schools.

"In our personal lives we can choose our friends and our associates," said Christian. "But when the government tries to set up first-and-second class citizens with the taxpayers' money, it is clearly wrong. Anyone has the right to send his children to any school he chooses, but if he sends them to a public school supported by all taxpayers I don't think he should say who else should or should not attend."

Quotable Quotes

Other remarks by the candidates:

Butler—"The people like Ike. I believe he will be overwhelmingly re-elected by them. They steadfastly believe he has led our nation to peace and prosperity," and should be given a Republican majority in Congress to help him push his program. "I urge you to compare any record of accomplishment in my first six years of office with the records of any other senators—Truman, the beloved Senator Taft, or my predecessor." It is a record of accomplishments for the best interests of "tobacco growers, farmers, the shipping and ship-repair industries, and small business."

Tydings—"Unlike Senator Butler, I am not running for the Presidency of the United States, and I am not running on anybody's coattails. . . Our first problem is war and peace." As a former member of the Atomic Energy Committee and chairman of the Armed Services Committee, he said, he believes he is "somewhat qualified" to speak about modern nuclear weapons, guided missiles and the "wicked conspiracy (of Communism) threatening this world. . .If I am elected I will be back on my old committees—that I know. . . I believe we must work to preserve the peace and do it with justice and honor."

Christian — The leaders of the Democratic party have lost the last three elections, despite a registration edge of 700,000 to 300,000 over Republicans, because of the "intensiveness" of supporters whose candidates lost the primary

Authorities of the Western Maryland Railway Company are investigating the cause of a wreck Monday evening at Mt. Savage in which one freight car overturned and three other freight cars full of merchandise on a westbound train were derailed.

A fast eastbound freight was held up about two hours because of the accident. A spokesman for the company said it was not determined just what was the cause of the accident.

The mishap occurred about 7 p. m. Monday and the tracks were cleared about 9 a. m. yesterday.

Lawrence Addresses Local Exchange Club

William P. Lawrence, director of industrial relations for the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, told members of the Cumberland Exchange Club the local plant will be in partial production by July of this year.

Addressing the group at Ali Ghan Country Club last night, Lawrence said the company hopes to open its employment office at the local plant sometime next month when approximately 200 or 300 persons will be hired. The plant will employ about 800 persons in full production next year.

Lawrence also showed film slides of the Cumberland plate glass plant to the group.
